

The Global Citizenship Programme

ACTIVE CITIZENSHIP

Panel Discussion & Drinks Reception

At UCL we study global problems: problems of global health and intercultural interaction, of how to promote human well-being, and of how to create sustainable cities. A Global Citizen is someone who takes responsibility for these global problems, who engages actively in the search for solutions, and who tries to change things. In the absence of a global state with a global government and global voting rights, one way to try to change things is through activism.

What does it mean to be an active Global Citizen?
What is activism? What are the challenges that global activism faces?

Venue: University London Union (ULU)

Date: 5th June, 6.30 – 9.00

Tickets: Free with limited availability at <http://tinyurl.com/q7gcp8k>

This event is hosted by the People and the Sea strand

FRANK HEWESTON
Greenpeace activist for 25 years and member of the 'Arctic 30'.

JEROME LEWIS
Co-director of the Extreme Citizen Science (Excites) research group and multi-award winner for his work empowering indigenous forest communities.

CLARE SOLOMON
ULU President 2010–11.
Co-editor Springtime: the New Student Rebellions (Verso).

