UCL (University College London)

Welcome to UCL, one of the world's leading universities, located in the heart of London.

UCL profile

- Founded in 1826
- Over 26,600 students of whom 11,900 are graduates; 54% female and 46% male students
- 52 academic departments / units in 10 faculties: Arts and Humanities, Brain Sciences, Built Environment, Engineering Sciences, Laws, Life Sciences, Mathematical and Physical Sciences, Medical Sciences, Population Health Sciences, Social and Historical Sciences.

World-class

UCL is one of the world's very best universities, and is consistently placed highly in world rankings, including being ranked 4th in the 2012/13 QS World University Rankings.

Innovation

We are London's Global University – your studies will provide a global perspective which will help you understand the major issues facing the world and will equip you to contribute to solutions.

Diversity

Our students are selected on the basis of their talent and potential. Around 41% of our students come from outside the UK, so UCL has a cosmopolitan, friendly and inclusive atmosphere.

Location

We're based in the heart of London, which will give you outstanding academic, professional and social benefits. London's internationally renowned institutions, such as the British Museum and British Library, are within walking distance of UCL.

Diploma in English for Academic Purposes

Course aims

This is a preparatory course for international students who want to follow graduate or undergraduate programmes at UCL or at other UK universities. Some students may also wish to improve their English for professional purposes.

Typically students on the Diploma will have a starting level of between 5.0 – 6.5 IELTS (or equivalent).

By the end of the course, students will have developed the academic and linguistic skills required to succeed on a UK degree programme and be familiar with the academic culture and conventions of the UK Higher Education system.

Course structure

The 32-week Diploma course consists of classes, lectures, seminars and tutorials.

Term 1 Focuses on Academic English, integrating the four skill areas of writing, reading, listening and speaking, including building grammar, vocabulary, seminar and note-taking skills. Weekly lectures by leading UCL academics include a variety of disciplines from Architecture to Zoology. Students' progress is closely monitored through homework tasks and in-class tests.

Term 2 Focuses on the development of independent research skills, academic writing skills for research essays and presentation skills. These are subject-related and allow students to focus on their academic discipline (e.g. Engineering, Law, etc). Core skills introduced in Term 1 continue to be built upon.

Research work is closely guided and supported by weekly individual tutorials. Weekly lectures will provide an excellent opportunity to expand subject terminology and knowledge.

Term 3 Classes and seminars continue to build on core skill areas. Students focus on an independent academic research essay.

Course assessment

Students receive the Diploma qualification based on the formal course assessments and examinations completed in Term 3.

Coursework

Worth 40% of the final score:

- research essay
- oral presentation
- seminar participation

Final examinations

Worth 60% of the final score:

Pre-Sessional English Courses

Course aims

These intensive courses are designed for international students who plan to enrol on a graduate degree programme (MA, MSc, LLM, MPhil/PhD) at UCL or at another UK university. A small number of Pre-sessional students will be holding an undergraduate degree offer.

Students will usually need to raise their level of English significantly in a short period of time due to the requirements of a conditional offer of a place on a Master's or PhD programme.

Pre-sessional Course applicants should consider:

- The minimum entry requirement for the particular Pre-sessional Course
- The time needed to reach the language level required for their future degree programme
- Their current level of English (including subtests).

Entrance requirements

Each application is considered on an individual basis taking into account the applicant's existing level of English (including subtests), academic history and final score needed. Some applicants may take CLIE's own English language test as an alternative to obtaining an IELTS or TOEFL score.

Course structure

Students follow a mixture of classes, lectures and tutorials each week, while focusing on their own academic subject areas during library research, extended essay assignments and oral presentation preparation. The timetable also includes a lecture programme given by leading UCL academics.

A 90-minute optional IELTS preparation class is included on the 19 (Extended), 11 and 8-week courses for students who need IELTS in order to fulfil their English language requirement at other universities. IELTS preparation is not available on the 5-week course.

Course assessment

All examinations take place in the final week of the Pre-sessional Courses.
