

UCL Environment Institute 'Moving People, Changing Lives' Photography Competition

Terms and conditions

1. Introduction

- The UCLEI Migration Photo Competition has a number of Terms and Conditions for entry. These are important to ensure that the photo you submit is both eligible to win and meets important legal and fair criteria. Note that any deviation from these Terms and Conditions may regrettably render your submission to the competition void.

2. Submission and Acceptance

- All entrants must declare that the photographs are their own work and free of any copyright other than their own personal copyright. In submitting to the competition, you agree to grant UCL a royalty-free, non-exclusive licence to publish and otherwise use the submitted material in any way that we want. You still own the copyright to everything you contribute.
- You can submit only one photograph.
- Submission photos should be a minimum of 1600 pixels wide or high on the longest side of the photograph.
- Your submission should include a caption and no more than 100 words of explanation may be included.
- Your current staff or student number must also be provided when asked for as proof of eligibility.
- UCLEI has provided 2 methods for submitting your photograph to the Migration Photo Competition. These are via Flickr.com, the popular social photo sharing website, and by email (see notes above on How to Enter). UCLEI cannot guarantee that all pictures submitted through these methods will be accepted into the competition.
- Pictures will not be accepted into the competition if they are deemed inappropriate. This includes images that may be offensive, previously published, copyrighted (by somebody other than the entrant) or otherwise contrary to the spirit of the competition. Photos may also not be accepted into the competition if the focus of the photo is an identifiable individual who has not given their consent to appear or if photos feature advertising or trademarks which would otherwise require UCLEI to obtain permission to use or would contravene rules which may govern University publications.
- If your photos are deemed inappropriate, they will not be considered by the Photo Competition judges and / or will be removed from the accepted pool of photos (Flickr.com group and submissions received via email). Whilst we do try to notify owners of the reasons why their photo has not been accepted, we cannot guarantee a personal response or dialogue for all photos.
- Should a photo be identified as inappropriate whilst it has been accepted into the competition, UCLEI reserves the right to remove it from the competition, disqualifying the owner (an example of this scenario is if an image is accepted, but later identified as a copyrighted image from a film or magazine where the entrant was not the photographer or the copyright holder).

3. Eligibility to Enter

- The photo competition is open to UCL staff and students only. On selection of their work, staff and students must provide a valid, current ID number.
- The competition is not open to Photo Competition judges, or UCLEI staff.
- The competition is not open to freelance, agency or professional photographers who have historically supplied - or are in the process of supplying - UCL with photography as a professional service.

4. Competition Prizes, Judging & Prize Draw

- The final Grand Prize winners of the competition will be announced on 19th March 2013. A pool of finalist photographs will be selected from all submissions by the Judging Panel. From this pool, the Judging Panel will select a winner who will be awarded the grand prize for the category.
- The first prize is £400, second prize is £200 and the third £100. UCLEI reserves the right to change the prizes at any time.
- The prize-winners along with a pool of finalists will have their work exhibited as part of the Norface Conference in April 2013 here at UCL.

5. Copyright, Licence and Your Work

- In submitting to the competition, you agree to grant UCL a royalty-free, non-exclusive licence to publish and otherwise use the submitted material in any way that we want. You still own the copyright to everything you contribute.
- If your image is accepted, we will publish your name alongside it wherever used as part of the UCLEI Migration Photo Competition. Note that this accreditation will not always be possible with use of your photo in printed publications, general UCL website use or incorporation on any other media outside the context of the UCLEI Migration Photo Competition.

6. People in your photographs

- If you take pictures of other people, you are responsible for gaining their consent for UCL to use their image free of copyright, fee or any other usage restriction. If you happen to take pictures of people aged under 18 as part of your entry, you must get consent from the subjects' parents before submitting your photo.

7. Feedback & Other Correspondence

- If you would like to send us feedback or any queries about the competition, please email marianne.knight@ucl.ac.uk
- For a list of competition winners, please visit our website: \(www.ucl.ac.uk/environment-institute/\) any time after March 2013.
