This course is now obsolete

For: Individuals appointed as Departmental Safety Officer (DSO) and Deputy DSO by the Head of Department, to assist in the creation, development, monitoring and review of the Department’s arrangements for safe working. This course is also suitable for Local Safety Coordinators and DSOs who last attended the course more than 3 years ago.

Aim: To provide participants with the knowledge and in particular the skills to enable them to carry out the duties of a Departmental Safety Officer (DSO).

Scope: The training will be confined to the key components of the safety management system which is in operation at UCL. The emphasis will be on the DSOs role in monitoring and reviewing their Department’s arrangements for safe working.

Method: The tutorials will provide a brief explanation of each element of the safety management system. The associated workshops will provide a practical experience to enable the DSO to develop the skills needed to monitor and review their departments system. The workshops will be based on a set of UCL style documents for a fictitious department.

CHARGE: A 'no show' fee of £50 will be charged to your department if you fail to attend when booked on the course event.

DATES: There are no scheduled future events. For information please contact safety@ucl.ac.uk
