Ancient World BA

UCAS: Q805 • 3 years

A levels: AAB. No specific subjects. Standard GCSE offer (see page 31), except English Language at grade B, and an ancient or modern foreign language at grade C (to be attained prior to admission).

IB Diploma: 36 points. A score of 17 points in three higher level subjects, with no score lower than 5.

Other qualifications: see www.ucl.ac.uk/otherquals

Students on this flexible three-year programme may choose from a vast range of modules covering ancient history, literature, languages and archaeology. It offers great flexibility in the possible combination of modules and provides an entry to the Classics for those who have not studied Greek or Latin at school.

In year one you will take compulsory foundation modules in archaeology, history and either Greek or Latin. In year two you will continue with language studies and in year three you will undertake an extended essay. In each year, alongside these compulsory modules, you will have an unparalleled choice of optional modules in Greek and Latin literature, philosophy, ancient history and archaeology.

Ancient World with a Year Abroad BA

UCAS: Q806 • 4 years

A levels: AAB. No specific subjects. Standard GCSE offer (see page 31), except English Language at grade B, and an ancient or modern foreign language at grade C (to be attained prior to admission).

IB Diploma: 36 points. A score of 17 points in three higher level subjects, with no score lower than 5.

Other qualifications: see www.ucl.ac.uk/otherquals

This four-year programme follows the same curriculum as the Ancient World BA, but offers the additional opportunity to spend the third year abroad at an approved university in Cyprus, France, Germany, Greece, Hungary, Italy, Spain or Switzerland.

In year one you will take compulsory foundation modules in archaeology, history and either Greek or Latin. In year two you will continue with language studies and in year four you will undertake an extended essay on an approved subject. In each year at UCL, alongside these compulsory modules, you will have an unparalleled choice of optional modules in Greek and Latin literature, philosophy, ancient history and archaeology. Year three is spent abroad at an approved university.

Cameron Jones
Classics with Study Abroad BA
Fourth Year

“I chose Classics to explore the origins of the modern world: our literature, philosophy, history and culture. I wanted to understand what motivated our ancestors to come together and produce the great civilisations and ideas that we still rely on so heavily today. I chose UCL because of its prestigious international record for academic excellence, its low student to staff ratio, and its enviable location in the heart of London, with the British Museum and the British Library on your doorstep. Last year I got the chance to spend a year studying in Bologna University in Italy. As well as an incredible chance to experience Italian culture (and food), taking modules and exams in Italian was a hugely rewarding challenge and something I would never have experienced elsewhere.”

Classics BA
UCAS: Q800 • 3 years

A levels: AAB. Greek or Latin at grade A required. Standard GCSE offer (see page 31), except English Language at grade B.

IB Diploma: 36 points. A score of 17 points in three higher level subjects including Greek or Latin at grade 6, with no score lower than 5.

Other qualifications: see www.ucl.ac.uk/otherquals

This three-year programme offers the opportunity to develop expertise in two ancient languages simultaneously, focusing on the study of Ancient Greek and Latin language and literature. Essay work helps students to develop a sophisticated approach to the ancient world.

The main emphasis is on the study of Greek and Latin texts in the original language; each year you must take Greek- and Latin-based modules. Core modules in language and theory each year are supplemented by a wide range of optional modules including ancient history, archaeology and philosophy. Some modules, for example computing, history or modern languages, may also be taken outside the department.

Classics with Study Abroad BA
UCAS: Q801 • 4 years

A levels: AAB. Greek or Latin at grade A required. Standard GCSE offer (see page 31), except English Language at grade B.

IB Diploma: 36 points. A score of 17 points in three higher level subjects including Greek or Latin at grade 6, with no score lower than 5.

Other qualifications: see www.ucl.ac.uk/otherquals

This four-year programme offers the opportunity to develop expertise in two ancient languages simultaneously, focusing on the study of Ancient Greek and Latin language and literature. The curriculum is the same as that of the Classics BA, with an additional opportunity to spend year three at an approved university abroad.

In years one, two and four, you will supplement core Greek- and Latin-based modules with optional modules from a wide range. Year three is spent abroad at an approved university in Cyprus, France, Germany, Greece, Hungary, Italy, Spain or Switzerland. This offers you the chance to expand your knowledge and experience within your chosen academic field, as well as learning new skills and enjoying the culture of another country.
Greek and English BA

UCAS: Q7Q3 • 3 years

A levels: AAB. Ancient Greek and English at grade A required. Standard GCSE offer (see page 31), except English Language at grade B.

IB Diploma: 36 points. A score of 17 points in three higher level subjects including Greek and English at grade 6, with no score lower than 5.

Other qualifications: see www.ucl.ac.uk/otherquals

This three-year degree programme offers you the opportunity to study Greek and English in parallel, and to gain knowledge of two diverse bodies of language, literature and culture, and the relations between them. The programme allows you to develop your skills in criticism and expression, cultural self-awareness and comparison.

You will study Greek and English on an equal basis. In each year of the programme you will take a module in Ancient Greek at a level appropriate to your previous experience. Core modules in language, theory and method in all years are supplemented by a wide range of optional modules in Classical and English literature and Latin, either in the original or in translation. In year three you will also undertake an interdisciplinary extended essay.

Greek with Latin BA

UCAS: Q7Q6 • 3 years

A levels: AAB. Greek at grade A required. Standard GCSE offer (see page 31), except English Language at grade B.

IB Diploma: 36 points. A score of 17 points in three higher level subjects including Greek at grade 6, with no score lower than 5.

Other qualifications: see www.ucl.ac.uk/otherquals

This programme offers the opportunity to develop expertise in two ancient languages simultaneously, while developing a sophisticated critical approach to the ancient world through essay work. Students will focus on Greek in years two and three, following more modules in this language.

Year one consists of compulsory modules in Greek and Latin language, literature and theory. In years two and three your studies will focus predominantly on Greek, with further core modules in language and literary theory supplemented by optional modules from a wide range covering Greek and Latin literature, philosophy, ancient history and archaeology.

Based in the heart of literary London, UCL English Language and Literature emphasises both traditional literary skills and modern thought in its teaching. The diversity of genres, forms, historical periods and critical approaches creates scope for fascinating insights into social relations and the human mind.

English BA

UCAS: Q300 • 3 years

A levels: AAA. English Literature (or combined Literature and Language) required. Standard GCSE offer (see page 31), except English Language at grade B.

IB Diploma: 38 points. A total of 18 points in three higher level subjects including English A1 at grade 6, with no score below 5.

Other qualifications: see www.ucl.ac.uk/otherquals

This programme aims to provide a historically based overview of the literature of all periods, together with opportunities to specialise in particular periods of literature, in modern English language, and in non-period modules. Students are encouraged to develop their own interests and may choose from a wide variety of specialisms.

Year one provides a foundation for subsequent years, covering major narrative texts from the Renaissance to the present, background texts from Homer to Freud and Barthes, Anglo-Saxon and medieval writings, and the study of critical method. In years two and three you will take compulsory modules on Chaucer and Shakespeare, and choose further modules from a range of options including American literature and other modern literature and language. In year three you will also undertake an independent research essay.

English BA

Third Year

“My choice to study English stemmed initially from a love of literature. I enjoyed immersing myself in different imaginary worlds at A level and I wanted to develop my analytical skills to undergraduate standard. Whilst the Narrative Texts module included in the BA programme introduces us to important canonical pieces, the Intellectual and Cultural Sources module gives students a fantastic grounding in a range of literature.

The main benefit of the programme is definitely the one-to-one tutorial system. Students are allocated a different tutor each year, and although the fortnightly essays may seem a little heavy, the tailored feedback we receive is invaluable. The opportunity to discuss poems, prose, and plays with experts in their field is exciting for both students and their tutors, and my writing style has excelled under close marking and insightful suggestions.”

English BA

Third Year
The four-year Modern Languages BA offers enormous choice and flexibility, with over 250 modern language combinations possible. You may choose from more traditional combinations, such as Italian and German, or explore more unusual choices such as Dutch and Hungarian, and spend a year abroad in two different countries.

As well as modules in your chosen languages, you will have access to a range of optional modules in culture, film, history, linguistics, literature, philosophy and postcolonialism, covering periods from the medieval to the contemporary, both within your language departments and SELCS, where the focus is more comparative and interdisciplinary. Year three is spent abroad, split between two countries where your chosen languages are spoken, studying at university or on a work placement.

Modern Languages BA
UCAS: R000 • 4 years

A levels: AAA-ABB depending on the language combination (see www.ucl.ac.uk/r000-entry). The following is required if part of the combination: French grade A; Spanish grade A. For all other combinations an A level or equivalent in one of your chosen languages is required. Standard GCSE offer (see page 31), except English Language at grade B.

IB Diploma: 34-38 points depending on the language combination (see www.ucl.ac.uk/r000-entry). A score of 16-18 points in three higher level subjects, to include the following if part of degree combination: French at grade 6; Spanish at grade 6. For all other combinations a higher level in one of your chosen languages is required. No score below 5.

Other qualifications: see www.ucl.ac.uk/otherquals

Outside qualifications:

The four-year Modern Languages BA offers enormous choice and flexibility, with over 250 modern language combinations possible. Language and Culture BA

UCAS: R991 • 4 years

A levels: AAB. Foreign language required to include the following if studied as the main language: Ancient Greek, French, Latin or Spanish grade A. Standard GCSE offer (see page 31), except English Language at grade B.

IB Diploma: 36 points. A score of 17 points in three higher level subjects, with no score lower than 5. Higher level subjects to include the following if studied as main languages: French, Greek, Latin or Spanish at grade 6.

Other qualifications: see www.ucl.ac.uk/otherquals

This distinctive programme provides enormous flexibility for you to customise your degree according to your linguistic and cultural interests. You will combine the study of two foreign languages, with the possibility of changing language after the first year.

Year one mainly comprises core language and culture modules, providing a foundation for further study. You will initially choose a main and a second language but it may be possible in later years to change these. In years one, two and four you may also choose optional modules from a wide range offered by both your chosen language departments and the School of European Languages, Culture & Society (SELCS) (e.g. film, history, linguistics). Year three is spent in a country where your main language is spoken.
Dutch BA

UCAS: R911 • 4 years

A levels: ABB. Foreign language preferred. Standard GCSE offer (see page 31), except English Language at grade B.

IB Diploma: 34 points. A score of 16 points in three higher level subjects preferably including a foreign language, with no score lower than 5.

Other qualifications: see www.ucl.ac.uk/otherquals

This four-year programme focuses on the language, culture and history of the Netherlands and Flanders, two regions neighbouring the UK that are among its largest trading partners. Students start learning Dutch from scratch and graduate as fluent and interculturally competent speakers of this global language.

In years one and two you will follow modules in identity and multiculturalism, and choose from a wide range of options covering the culture, sociolinguistics, history, and classic and contemporary literature of the region and of Europe more generally. Year three is spent in the Netherlands or Belgium at a university, or working in a field related to your studies or intended career. In year four you continue with advanced optional modules at UCL. Language study is compulsory in all years at UCL.

French BA

UCAS: R100 • 4 years

A levels: AAA. French required. Standard GCSE offer (see page 31), except English Language at grade B.

IB Diploma: 38 points. A total of 18 points in three higher level subjects including French grade 6, with no score lower than 5.

Other qualifications: see www.ucl.ac.uk/otherquals

This four-year programme aims to develop students’ interest in, and knowledge and understanding of, the French and francophone worlds past and present, including language, film studies, literature from the medieval and early modern to the contemporary, libertinism, theory, modernism and postcolonialism.

Year one mainly comprises core language, literature, thought and film modules, providing a foundation for subsequent study. In years two and four you continue with language study, and may choose more freely from optional modules offered by French and the School of European Languages, Culture & Society (SELCs) (e.g. francophone cultural history, literature, history, linguistics, politics). Year three is spent in a French-speaking country as a language assistant in a French school, studying at a French-speaking university, or undertaking a work placement abroad.

French and an Asian or African Language BA

UCAS: RT19 • 4 years

A levels: AAA. French required. Standard GCSE offer (see page 31), except English Language at grade B.

IB Diploma: 38 points. A total of 18 points in three higher level subjects including French grade 6, with no score lower than 5.

Other qualifications: see www.ucl.ac.uk/otherquals

The French components of this four-year programme are taught and taken at UCL, and the Asian or African language components at the School of Oriental and African Studies (SOAS), our near neighbour. There is strong emphasis on spoken and written language work and the opportunity to undertake interdisciplinary study.

In years one, two and four you will study core modules in French language, literature, culture and society, and choose an Asian or African language offered by SOAS (choose one of Arabic, Hausa, Hindi, Indonesian, Persian, Swahili, Thai, or Turkish). You may also follow optional modules from a wide range offered by UCL SELCS (e.g. classic and contemporary literature, film studies, history). Year three is spent abroad, split between France or a French-speaking country, and a country where your other language is spoken.
German BA

UCAS: R200 • 4 years

A levels: AAB. German required. Standard GCSE offer (see page 31), except English Language at grade B.

IB Diploma: 36 points. A score of 17 points in three higher level subjects, including German, with no score lower than 5.

Other qualifications: see www.ucl.ac.uk/otherquals

The four-year German BA encompasses intense study of German language and culture from the earliest times to the present. The programme combines a strong emphasis on linguistic competence with an exceptional breadth of research-led teaching, offering a detailed understanding of the development of German culture and society.

Years one and two provide you with a broad overview and a methodological framework for your studies. Compulsory modules cover language and literature, and optional modules cover cultural studies, East and West German and Austrian politics, film, gender studies, and linguistics. You may also choose from modules offered by SELCS. Year three is spent abroad in a German-speaking country. In year four you continue with advanced optional modules at UCL. Language study is compulsory in all years at UCL.

German and History BA

UCAS: RV21 • 4 years

A levels: AAB. History required, foreign language preferred. Standard GCSE offer (see page 31), except English Language at grade B.

IB Diploma: 36 points. A score of 17 points in three higher level subjects including History and preferably a foreign language, with no score lower than 5.

Other qualifications: see www.ucl.ac.uk/otherquals

This four-year programme combines study of the language and culture of the German-speaking countries with a wide range of history modules offered by UCL’s School of Slavonic & East European Studies (SSEES). Compulsory modules in years one and two provide you with a broad overview and framework for your studies. You may also take optional modules from a wide range offered by SSEES and SELCS (e.g. film studies, linguistics) and after year one you may request to take modules from UCL History. Year three is spent abroad in a German-speaking country and in year four you continue with advanced optional modules at UCL. Language study is compulsory in all years at UCL.

Italian BA

UCAS: R300 • 4 years

A levels: AAB. Foreign language preferred. Standard GCSE offer (see page 31), except English Language at grade B.

IB Diploma: 36 points. A score of 17 points in three higher level subjects, preferably including a foreign language, with no score lower than 5.

Other qualifications: see www.ucl.ac.uk/otherquals

The four-year Italian BA provides a stimulating programme of Italian language and linguistics, literature, art, history and film. The third year is spent in Italy, offering unrivalled possibilities both for developing your linguistic proficiency and for immersing yourself in Italian culture. Previous knowledge of Italian is not required.

Compulsory modules in years one and two provide you with a broad overview and framework for your studies. You may also take optional modules from a wide range offered by Italian and by the School of European Languages, Culture & Society (SE LCS) (e.g. cultural history, the contemporary Italian novel, Dante, linguistics, Renaissance history). Year three is spent in Italy, either at a university or on a teaching or work placement, before returning to UCL to continue with advanced optional modules and language study in year four.
Scandinavian Studies BA
UCAS: R600 • 4 years

A levels: ABB. Foreign language preferred. Standard GCSE offer (see page 31), except English Language at grade B.
IB Diploma: 34 points. A score of 16 points in three higher level subjects, preferably including a foreign language, with no score lower than 5.
Other qualifications: see www.ucl.ac.uk/otherquals

This degree provides the opportunity to specialise in the Danish, Norwegian or Swedish language, and to develop an in-depth appreciation of Scandinavian culture. You will have access to state-of-the-art language teaching facilities and the largest and oldest Scandinavian library in the UK, and will spend a year in a Scandinavian country.

Year one provides you with a broad overview and a methodological framework for your studies, with core language, literature and history modules. In years two and four you will continue with language study, and choose optional modules from both Scandinavian Studies and SELCS (e.g. film studies, Finnish language and society, literature, modern history). Year three is spent at a university in a country where your chosen language is spoken, before returning to UCL in year four to continue with advanced study.

Scandinavian Studies and History BA
UCAS: RV6C • 4 years

A levels: ABB. History and foreign language preferred. Standard GCSE offer (see page 31), except English Language at grade B.
IB Diploma: 34 points. A score of 16 points in three higher level subjects, History and a language preferred, with no score lower than 5.
Other qualifications: see www.ucl.ac.uk/otherquals

This four-year BA, taught in conjunction with UCL’s School of Slavonic & East European Studies (SSEES), combines study of the languages and culture of Scandinavia with a wide range of optional modules in the history of the Nordic and Baltic regions. Year three is spent in a Scandinavian country.

In year one you will take compulsory modules in your chosen language (Danish, Norwegian or Swedish) and History of Eastern Europe, as well as optional modules from a wide range offered by SELCS and SSEES. In years two and four you continue with language studies and a choice of optional modules from SELCS and SSEES. Year three is spent at a university in a country where your chosen language is spoken.

Aoife Sandy Boyle
Modern Languages (French and Finnish) BA

Third Year

“I’ve always been passionate about languages, and I chose UCL for many reasons, but it has to be noted that it is one of the few universities where I could study Finnish! Also, the excellent teaching staff to student ratio of 1:10 which is, in my opinion, a particularly important factor for practising languages. Additionally, UCL is very aware of widening access to higher education for those who otherwise may not consider going to somewhere like London because of the higher costs associated. They offered fantastic financial support and practical advice so that I felt that I could come here without worrying.

I very much enjoy the Finnish language part of my degree as it is still new and exciting to me. I have enjoyed particularly covering philosophy and politics in my French modules, and history in my SELCS module.”
Icelandic BA
UCAS: R690 • 4 years

A levels: ABB. Foreign language preferred. Standard GCSE offer (see page 31), except English Language at grade B.

IB Diploma: 34 points. A score of 16 points in three higher level subjects, preferably including a foreign language, with no score lower than 5.

Other qualifications: see www.ucl.ac.uk/otherquals

UCL’s four-year Icelandic BA is the only degree programme of its kind outside Iceland. The programme aims to develop your interest in, and knowledge and understanding of Iceland and the Nordic world, in areas including other Scandinavian languages, literature, culture and history. Your third year is spent abroad at the University of Iceland.

In years one and two you will study modern Icelandic language (from beginner’s level), Old Norse, literary studies and linguistics, as well as a mainland Scandinavian language, with the possibility to transfer to a combined-studies degree with Danish, Norwegian or Swedish at the end of year one. You may also choose from a wide range of optional modules (e.g. Ibsen, Nordic noir, Nordic politics and society, sagas). Year three is spent at the University of Iceland, and you return to UCL for advanced language study and further options in year four.

Viking and Old Norse Studies BA
UCAS: R691 • 4 years

A levels: ABB. English Literature, History and/or a language preferred. Standard GCSE offer (see page 31), except English Language at grade B.

IB Diploma: 34 points. A score of 16 points in three higher level subjects, with no score lower than 5. English Literature, History and/or language preferred.

Other qualifications: see www.ucl.ac.uk/otherquals

This four-year programme aims to develop your knowledge and understanding of the Viking Age through study of the medieval and modern Scandinavian languages, Old Norse literature, and medieval history. The third year is spent abroad at a university in Denmark, Iceland, Norway or Sweden.

In years one, two and four you will take compulsory modules in your chosen mainland Scandinavian language, Old Norse, and the history and culture of the region. In these years you may also choose optional modules in Scandinavian Studies and from a wide range from those offered by SELCS, covering subjects such as cinema, Finnish society and culture, linguistics, literary studies, and Nordic politics. Your third year is spent at a university in Scandinavia.

Choosing my degree was probably the easiest decision I’ve ever made. Having studied Spanish since I was 12 I knew it was the thing for me, and the opportunity to start Italian from scratch was perfect for me, as I had never been given the opportunity to learn it at school. What drew me to UCL most was the reputation of the Italian department, and after the applicant open day I knew that UCL offered the diverse programme structure that I was looking for.

What I love most about my degree programme is the huge range of opportunity students are given. Within the programme we are offered modules on history, literature, film and so many other things! This structure makes me feel like I’m expanding my knowledge on a range of different subjects, not just the core language.

Every language department in the School of European Languages, Culture & Society has its own student society which organises events and outings.

Spanish and Latin American Studies BA

UCAS: R4T7 • 4 years

A levels: AAB. Spanish grade A required. Standard GCSE offer (see page 31), except English Language at grade B.

IB Diploma: 36 points. A score of 17 points in three higher level subjects including Spanish at grade 6, with no score lower than 5.

Other qualifications: see www.ucl.ac.uk/otherquals

This four-year programme combines the study of Spanish language and its varieties with modules in the film, languages, literature, history and cultures of Spain and Latin America, from the early modern period to the present day. Year three is spent abroad in a Spanish-speaking country.

Year one mainly comprises core language, literature and culture modules, which provide a foundation for subsequent study. In years two and four you continue with language studies and choose optional modules from a wide range offered by Spanish, Portuguese and Latin American Studies and SELCS (e.g. Borges, Cervantes, film studies, Gabriel García Márquez, Latin American history, Lorca, women’s writing). Year three is spent abroad in a Spanish-speaking country (e.g. Argentina, Chile, Mexico or Spain).

Comparative Literature BA

UCAS: Q200 • 3 years

A levels: AAA. A humanities subject required. Standard GCSE offer (see page 31), except English Language at grade B.

IB Diploma: 38 points. A total of 18 points in three higher level subjects with no score lower than 5.

Other qualifications: see www.ucl.ac.uk/otherquals

UCL provides the ideal environment for this dynamic programme which examines world literature from diverse geographical and cultural perspectives and equips students for a career in today’s global society.

Alongside cultural modules you will study up to two foreign languages, selected from the exceptional range of modern and ancient languages available.

Core modules in years one and two introduce you to all aspects of the study of literature and culture and in the final year you will develop these topics further in your dissertation. In all years you will take optional comparative and literary modules, and study authors and texts from different periods, originally written in a variety of languages. You will also take one language module together with a language-specific literature option where literary texts must be read in the original.
You may specialise in any of these major subjects:

- Anthropology
- Economics
- Geography
- History
- International Relations
- Law
- Philosophy
- Politics
- Quantitative Methods
- Urban Planning

The major European languages you can study include:

- Dutch
- French
- German
- Italian
- Russian
- Scandinavian (Danish, Icelandic, Norwegian and Swedish)
- Spanish

You may also take a second language from those listed above or from a wide range of other languages taught at UCL.
European Social and Political Studies: Dual Degree BA

UCAS: R992 • 4 years

A levels: A*AA. A humanities or social science subject (or Mathematics) preferred. Mathematics at A* required for full Economics specialism if chosen. French or Spanish required if one of these is to be studied as a major language. Other language requirements may apply depending on major language and campus applied for (see www.ucl.ac.uk/r992-entry). Standard GCSE offer (see page 31), except English Language at grade B.

IB Diploma: 39 points. A score of 19 points in three higher level subjects, with no score lower than 5. Higher level subjects to include French B or Spanish B at grade 6 if one of these is to be studied as a major language. Other language requirements may apply depending on major language and campus applied for (see www.ucl.ac.uk/r992-entry). A humanities or social science (or Mathematics) subject preferred. Mathematics at higher level at grade 7 is required for the full Economics specialism if chosen.

Other qualifications: see www.ucl.ac.uk/otherquals

Students on this dual degree will benefit from the reputation and teaching specialisms of both UCL and Sciences Po in France. The programme offers specialisation in a humanities or social science subject, combined with a broad base in history, law, politics and philosophy, and fluency in a European language.

Years one and two are spent at one of five campuses at Sciences Po (Dijon, Menton, Nancy, Paris or Poitiers). Here you will take core modules in economics, history, law, political science and sociology as well as language-based modules, and will specialise in a social science or humanities subject. In years three and four you will complete your studies at UCL, taking advanced language modules and further modules in your chosen area of specialisation, as well as completing an extended research essay.
Enquiring, investigative and experimental: the study of fine art is a challenging and hugely rewarding discipline. Study at the Slade School of Fine Art will allow you to realise your individual creative potential, while honing your visual intelligence and developing your critical awareness and technical skills.

UCAS
- Code: W100
- Duration: 4 years

A levels: ABB. No specific subjects, but a portfolio of work is required. Standard GCSE offer (see page 31). The academic requirements may be relaxed in exceptional circumstances.

IB Diploma: 34 points. A score of 16 points in three higher level subjects, with no score lower than 5, plus a portfolio. The academic requirements may be relaxed in exceptional circumstances.

Other qualifications: see www.ucl.ac.uk/otherquals

This four-year programme is structured around three studio areas: painting, fine art media and sculpture, with an integrated history and theory of art component. All of our staff are practising artists and scholars with significant exhibition and public profiles. Our students also benefit from the vast cultural resources that London offers.

The programme is studio-based and you are encouraged to develop your own work with specialist tutorial and technical assistance. In years one to three you will also follow integral History and Theory of Art modules, take an additional module of your choice from another UCL department (either related to studio work or to develop a further interest) and have the opportunity to study abroad. Cross-area seminars and tutorials provide a forum for the exchange of ideas. In year four you will concentrate solely on studio work in your chosen specialism.

Benjamin Brown

"I think the diversity of interests that people have at the Slade and the passion for these subjects is so encouraging and often inspiring. I feel that, as the Slade is quite an intimate school, they can better cater to your needs. I have found that they are very willing to help you explore new roads of research by changing or enhancing the facilities they already have through workshops and talks given by staff and visitors. The Slade runs a really good lecture series for final-year students, which is specially tailored to art-related jobs and surviving after you leave art school. I know that in the current economic and social climate some are put off when applying for art-related programmes, as jobs might not instantly come to mind. However, the Slade and UCL do their best to make sure that you are prepared for the post-graduation world and that you have opportunities to work on."

The subjects covered in Hebrew and Jewish studies have remarkable current and international relevance. UCL Hebrew & Jewish Studies is unique in the UK, and offers expertise covering history, language and literature, religious, ethnic and political issues, and philology.
Hebrew and Jewish Studies BA

UCAS: Q481 • 3 years

A levels: ABB. No specific subjects. Standard GCSE offer (see page 31), except English Language at grade B.

IB Diploma: 34 points. A score of 16 points in three higher level subjects, with no score lower than 5.

Other qualifications: see www.ucl.ac.uk/otherquals

The three-year full-time (six-year part-time) Hebrew and Jewish Studies BA aims to develop students' knowledge and understanding of all aspects of Jewish culture, including its languages, literature and history.

In your first year, compulsory modules in Modern Hebrew and Biblical Hebrew or Yiddish, and a range of optional history, literature, and culture modules, provide an overview of the subject and allow you to identify your own areas of specialist interest for later study. Year two continues with a compulsory module in Modern Hebrew, and you may also choose from a wide range of optional modules. In year three you will take three optional modules and write a dissertation on a subject of your choice.

Gabriella Smith
Hebrew and Jewish Studies BA
Third Year

"I spent two years in Israel in my gap years and was very interested in learning more about the language, culture and history. I chose UCL because they have the best department of Hebrew and Jewish Studies in the UK. I really enjoy the language classes; there is a lot of interaction between the teachers and students and I always feel like I have learnt so much in those two hours.

I am very much looking forward to the year abroad, I think it will give me such a good understanding of my chosen area for a future career. I hope to either teach or write about Jewish history and language, and possibly about the Middle East conflict."
Hebrew and Jewish Studies with Year Abroad BA

UCAS: Q480 • 4 years

A levels: ABB. No specific subjects
Standard GCSE offer (see page 31), except English Language at grade B.

The four-year full-time (eight-year part-time) Hebrew and Jewish Studies with Year Abroad BA aims to develop students’ knowledge and understanding of all aspects of Jewish culture, including its languages, literature and history. Year three is spent at the Hebrew University of Jerusalem.

In your first year, compulsory modules in Modern Hebrew and Biblical Hebrew or Yiddish and a range of optional modules provide an overview of the subject and allow you to identify your own areas of specialist interest. Year two continues with a compulsory module in Modern Hebrew, and you may also choose from a wide range of optional modules. Year three is spent studying abroad; back at UCL for your final year you will take three optional modules and write a dissertation on a subject of your choice.

History (Central and East European) and Jewish Studies BA

UCAS: WV23 • 4 years

A levels: ABB. History required. Standard GCSE offer (see page 31), except English Language at grade B.
IB Diploma: 34 points. A score of 16 points in three higher level subjects including History, with no score lower than 5.
Other qualifications: see www.ucl.ac.uk/otherquals

This four-year programme combines the study of Jewish cultural history with the study of the land, languages and cultures within which many Jewish communities had their homes. The third year is spent abroad, in Jerusalem and/or in a relevant central or east European country.

Year one consists of compulsory and optional modules, introducing you to the study of history at university level. In years two and four you take more specific modules, looking at periods of history both thematically and in depth. You can also take history modules on other regions, taught elsewhere in UCL and the University of London, and study a relevant language. Your third year is spent abroad, either in Jerusalem or in a relevant central or east European country, or split between the two.
www.ucl.ac.uk/prospectus/philosophy

Philosophy begins by asking ‘why?’, often questioning something we normally perhaps wouldn’t. Why should we obey the law? Do numbers exist? The processes of imaginative yet rigorous thinking, and sensitivity to conceptual distinctions, provide intellectual growth that is both satisfying in itself and applicable in your future life and career.

I chose Philosophy because it's one of the few degrees that makes you think laterally and carefully about so many things – from the nature of existence to the way our society and governments are formed. Philosophy is not just a discipline; it is an activity, and to that end, UCL was the place that would see me develop my abilities not just as a philosopher, but as a thinker.

I have enjoyed studying a variety of modules such as the Philosophy of Race and Applied Moral and Political Philosophy. I have also enjoyed being able to ‘mix up’ my degree by doing modules in other departments such as Political Science and Philosophy of Physics at King’s College London.

Living and studying in London I’ve been able to work in some interesting places such as the BBC and a social enterprise called the Young Foundation, whilst taking full benefit of the great nightlife, cuisines and things to do.

Philosophy and Greek BA
UCAS: VQ57 • 3 years

A levels: AAA. No specific subjects. Standard GCSE offer (see page 31), except English Language at grade B. Ancient Greek is also preferred.
IB Diploma: 38 points. A total of 18 points in three higher level subjects, with no score below 5.
Other qualifications: see www.ucl.ac.uk/otherquals

This degree aims to provide an understanding of a range of central philosophical debates, together with a detailed education in Ancient Greek language and culture. All major areas of philosophy are available for study, drawing upon the writings of philosophers both ancient and modern to place your studies in context.

You will study philosophy and Greek on an equal basis. In years one and two, you will study a mixture of compulsory and optional modules in Ancient Greek language and culture. You will follow several introductory philosophy modules in year one, which provide a foundation for the range of optional philosophy modules you will choose from in year two. In year three you will choose from a wide range of optional philosophy modules, covering political philosophy, moral philosophy, metaphysics and epistemology, and continue with advanced modules in Greek.

Philosophy and History of Art BA
UCAS: VV53 • 3 years

A levels: AAA. No specific subjects. Standard GCSE offer (see page 31), except English Language at grade B.
IB Diploma: 38 points. A total of 18 points in three higher level subjects, with no score below 5.
Other qualifications: see www.ucl.ac.uk/otherquals

This degree aims to provide you with an understanding of a range of central philosophical debates together with a detailed education in history of art. All major areas of philosophy are available for study. You will also address issues about the very nature of art and human perception of visual culture.

You will study philosophy and history of art on an equal basis. In year one you may choose from several introductory philosophy modules, which provide a foundation for later studies, and follow compulsory modules in history of art. Years two and three comprise a mixture of compulsory and optional modules in History of Art, and optional modules from a wide range in Philosophy.

In year three you will undertake an independent study essay or a final year thesis in a specialist history of art subject.
