

UCL SYNTAX WORKSHOP (SYNTAX IN THE HOPE OF SPRING)
18 February 2012
Chandler House, Room G10

- 10:00 - 11:00: Gereon Mueller (Leipzig)
‘Why are some items more mobile than others?’
- 11:00 - 11:20: Coffee
- 11:20 - 12:05: Hagit Borer (QMUL)
tba
- 12:05 - 12:50: Matthew Reeve (UCL) and Glyn Hicks (Southampton)
‘Adjunct extraposition and the wide/narrow focus distinction’
- 12:50 - 14:00: Lunch
- 14:00 - 14:45: Andrew Nevins (UCL)
tba
- 14:45 - 15:30: Klaus Abels (UCL)
‘They have had to hope for spring across the Germania’
- 15:30- 15:50: Tea
- 15:50-16:35: Ad Neeleman and Hans van de Koot (UCL)
‘The linguistic expression of causation’
- 16:35 - 17:35: Peter Sells (York)
‘The flexibility of negation scope in Korean’