

SLADE SCHOOL PHOTOGRAPHS

Slade School photographs have been taken annually since 1931. The Slade currently holds a fascinating but incomplete collection of these photographs and thanks to work carried out by the Slade Archive Project, those we currently hold are available to purchase here.

The Slade Archive Project is inviting alumni, scholars and members of the public to help us identify the sitters in these photographs and as part of this project we are asking anyone who has a copy of one of the missing photographs to get in touch so that we can fill in the gaps and make them available to others. For more information on crowdsourcing the Slade photographs please see: sladearchive.github.io/

The printed photographs available to purchase are produced by UCL Creative Media Services who take the original Slade School photograph held in the Slade Archive and make a digital copy so that it can be professionally reprinted. The original photos that are digitised are many years old so there will inevitably be some signs of age.

To order a Slade School Photograph please follow these steps:

Section A Print a copy of the form and fill in your name and contact details.

Section B Let us know which printed photographs you would like to order. All photos are available in two sizes: the original size and A3. The original size is the size the photograph was printed at the time of issue and this varies from year to year and ranges from around 20-25cm in height by 60-90cm in width. The second size we offer is as a standardised width of A3/420cm and the height will vary. Please state on the form the size and number of copies you require.

Section C Decide whether you would like to collect the print or have it posted to you and note down your preference in Section C. Please calculate the total price of your order by adding together the cost of each print plus the cost of postage, if applicable.

Section D Complete Section D and include either a cheque as payment or provide your card details so that we may take payment by card.

Send the completed order form to:

Slade Archive Project
Slade School of Fine Art
University College London

Alternatively, you can scan the completed order form and email it to: slade.enquiries@ucl.ac.uk

Once we receive your order, the printed photograph will take around 7 working days to produce and a further 4-5 days to reach you by post.

There are many ways to support the Slade:

Slade Archive Project

The Slade Archive Project is a research project between UCL Slade School of Fine Art and UCL Centre for Digital Humanities centred on exploring and developing the Slade Archive.

There is currently limited access to our archive material; many resources are in need of digitisation to enable us to provide access to rare and fragile material to researchers and the public. We rely on external funding to progress with the Slade Archive project and welcome any donations.

If you would like to donate to the Slade Archive Project or if you have one of the missing images, please get in touch to help complete our collection: slade.enquiries@ucl.ac.uk

Friends of the Slade

The Friends of the Slade programme aims to raise money to support the activities of the School and enhance the student learning experience, and enables people to be involved in the Slade community by attending events and keeping up to date with what is going on. Income from membership fees and particularly from donations currently funds several Scholarships, Bursaries and Competitions, an annual programme of Visiting Artists and the Project Awards Fund. Income from Friends also contributes towards the provision of models, part-time teaching, various publications and exhibitions.

Friends receive an annual newsletter, and are invited to attend non-public lectures such as the William Townsend Memorial Lecture given by a guest speaker every year. Other events in the Friends calendar include the Slade Print Fair and Christmas drinks at the Slade.

Membership

Annual membership is £25. If you would like to become a Friend of the Slade, please contact Grace Hailstone: g.hailstone@ucl.ac.uk or 020 7679 2313
