Chapter 13 is UCL's regulatory framework for the terms of reference for Departmental Teaching Committees (DTC), Faculty Teaching Committees (FTC) and Faculty Research Degree Committees (FRDC).

1 Departmental Teaching Committees

Terms of reference

The following should be regarded as core terms of reference for Departmental Teaching Committees (DTCs). This list of items should not be regarded as exhaustive.

Subject to any general or particular direction which may be prescribed from time to time by the Academic Committee and/or the relevant Faculty Teaching Committee(s) (FTCs), the DTC will normally be expected:

1. Within the framework of Academic Committee and FTC statements of policy and good practice in respect of quality management and enhancement (QME), to define, develop and keep under regular review departmental QME processes and mechanisms.

2. To consider and approve proposals to institute, amend, revise or withdraw modules or programmes, for forwarding to the appropriate faculty committees or officers.

3. To consider and approve proposals to institute, amend, revise or terminate academic partnerships, for forwarding to the appropriate faculty committees or officers.

4. As part of the implementation of UCL’s Annual Student Experience Review (ASER) and Internal Quality Review (IQR) processes (i) to receive and consider the Department’s ASER reports in order to produce a departmental summary, (ii) to receive and consider the Department’s IQR report and (iii) to submit these to the relevant Faculty Teaching Committee.

5. To devise individual module/programme student questionnaires according to guidance prescribed by the FTC and/or UCL.

6. To receive and monitor the findings of analyses of student questionnaires and to define and keep under review mechanisms for feedback to students on the outcome of such questionnaires.

7. To receive the minutes of Staff Student Consultative Committees (SSCCs), to note the main matters arising, and where necessary, to take further action.

8. To review annually the department's arrangements for Induction Week.

9. To receive the department’s Self-evaluative Statement for Internal Quality Review (IQR) [1] and approve this for forwarding to the IQR team.

10. To receive reports: (i) on how peer dialogue has run in the department over the past year, any generic issues that have been identified and any associated enhancement work that could usefully be adopted across the department and (ii) from any students who have participated in the student reviewers of teaching practice scheme on good practice they have observed and would like to recommend is adopted within the department.
11. To report to the Head of Department (either via the Departmental Staff Meeting or through such other mechanism as the Head of Department sees fit) by submission of the Minutes of each meeting of the Committee to the Head.

12. To report to the FTC(s) concerned by submission of Minutes of each meeting of the Committee to the officers of the relevant FTC(s).

Constitution

The following should be regarded as comprising minimum requirements for the constitution of a DTC:

Staff Membership

- Head of Department (or her/his designated representative)
- Departmental Learning and Teaching Co-ordinator
- the Programme Co-ordinator for each programme of study offered by the department.

Student Membership

The DTC should invite the student Lead Departmental Representative to membership of the Committee. Other student representatives may also be invited where appropriate [2]. Committee chairs and/or secretaries should meet the student representatives in advance of the first committee meeting, in order to brief them on the committees' works and proceedings and to put the students at ease and introduce them to key committee members.

Meetings

The DTC should normally meet at least once in the Autumn Term each year and at least once in the Spring Term each year. Departments are encouraged to convene the DTC more frequently if they see fit to do so.

The DTC should normally be serviced by a member of the department's administrative or secretarial staff.

Faculty monitoring of DTC operations

As indicated in the core terms of reference, FTCs should routinely receive the Minutes of DTC meetings.
1 It is understood that the timing of some IQR visits may mean that the DTC's approval will need to be obtained, either through Chair’s action or through correspondence rather than in discussion at a DTC meeting.

2 If the DTC agenda includes business which the Chair feels should not be discussed in the presence of student members, there should be a separate, Reserved Area of Business section of the agenda.
2 Faculty Teaching Committees

Terms of reference

The following should be regarded as core terms of reference for FTCs. It is acknowledged that some faculties operate separate committees for undergraduate and taught postgraduate/research student matters. Therefore, the following list should be applied, as appropriate, to the relevant committee. This list of items should not be regarded as exhaustive.

Subject to any general or particular direction which may be prescribed from time to time by the Education Committee, the Faculty Teaching Committee will normally be expected:

1. To ensure that faculty-level strategy on education matters reflects the principles of the Education Strategy and UCL 2034.
2. Within the framework of Academic Committee statements of policy and good practice in respect of quality management and enhancement (QME), to define, develop and keep under regular review faculty QME processes and mechanisms.
3. To keep under review the teaching provision across the faculty and to provide a forum for discussion of issues raised by Departmental Teaching Committees (DTCs).
4. To consider the academic and resource implications of new degree programme and academic partnership proposals from departments within the faculty and, if and when satisfied, submit these for consideration by the Education Committee (or relevant sub-group thereof).
5. To consider the academic and resource implications of proposals for new or amended modules from departments within the faculty and, if and when satisfied, submit these to the Student and Registry Services for approval.
6. To oversee the implementation of UCL’s Annual Student Experience Review (ASER) and Internal Quality Review (IQR) processes within the faculty by (i) the receipt and consideration of departments’ Annual Student Experience review (ASER) reports, (ii) the receipt, consideration and, as appropriate, approval of departments’ IQR reports, (iii) the preparation of an annual summary report on issues or emerging themes arising from the FTC’s consideration of the ASERs and IQRs for submission to the Quality Review Sub-Committee.
7. To receive, in accordance with UCL policy [1], reports from departments summarising the operation of peer dialogue and ensure that any matters arising from such reports are followed-up appropriately with the departments concerned.
8. To receive analyses from DTCs of the results of student evaluation questionnaires.
9. To monitor the minutes and proceedings of DTCs to ensure that such committees have student representatives, as required by UCL policy.
10. To receive reports on or to consider, as appropriate, relevant issues arising from meetings of Academic Committee or other relevant institutional-level committees [2].

11. To report to Education Committee by the submission of Minutes of each meeting of the FTC to the officers of Education Committee.

Constitution

The following should be regarded as comprising minimum requirements for the constitution of a FTC:

Staff Membership

- Dean and/or Vice/Sub-Dean
- Faculty Tutor
- Faculty Graduate Tutor (if appropriate)
- One member of staff from each department within the faculty (e.g., Chair of DTC and/or Departmental Tutor)
- Chairs of steering committees of inter-faculty or inter-departmental programmes for which the parent department is from within the faculty.
- Representation from UCL Arena.

It is recommended that representatives of relevant Professional Support Services are invited at least once a year to FTC meetings if possible, at the discretion of the Faculty Tutor.

Student Membership

The student Faculty Representative should be invited to membership of the FTC. Other student representatives may also be invited where appropriate [3]. Committee chairs and/or secretaries should meet the student representatives in advance of the first committee meeting, in order to brief them on the committees' works and proceedings and to put the students at ease and introduce them to key committee members.

\(^1\) See UCL’s policy on peer dialogue (Academic Manual Chapter 9, Quality Review Framework)

\(^2\) It is recommended that receipt of a report on the proceedings of the most recent meeting(s) of Academic Committee and or other relevant institutional-level committees should be a standing item on the agendas for meetings of FTCs.

\(^3\) If the FTC agenda includes business which the Chair feels should not be discussed in the presence of student members, there should be a separate, Reserved Area of Business section of the agenda.
3 Faculty Research Degree Committees

Terms of reference

The following should be regarded as core terms of reference for faculty committees responsible for postgraduate research student provision, including MPhil/PhD, professional and specialist doctorates and the research elements of MRes programmes. This should be read alongside the framework of the core terms of reference for Faculty Teaching Committees. This list of items should not be regarded as exhaustive.

Subject to any general or particular direction which may be prescribed from time to time by UCL’s Research Degrees Committee, the Faculty Committee will be expected:

1. Within the framework of the UCL Doctoral Educational Strategy, to define, develop and review a faculty-level postgraduate research student strategy.
2. Within the framework of the UCL Academic Manual, to define, develop and keep under regular review faculty quality and enhancement processes and mechanisms.
3. To monitor faculty key performance indicators for a high quality research student environment including applications and enrolments, number of supervisors per student, upgrade and/or progression rates, thesis submission rates and the Postgraduate Research Experience Survey results.
4. To keep under review the postgraduate research student experience across the faculty, including discussion of, but not limited to:
   (i) recruitment and admissions processes
   (ii) student diversity
   (iii) Doctoral skills training
   (iv) assessment and feedback
   (v) academic support
   (vi) student wellbeing
   (vii) study space
   (viii) library and learning resources
   (ix) postgraduate PGTA opportunities, responsibilities and entitlements
   (x) careers advice and guidance
5. To receive and consider analyses of the results of internal and external student surveys such as departmental student evaluation questionnaires, UCL-wide surveys. To oversee departmental responses to student feedback and respond to faculty level issues as appropriate.
6. To receive reports from departments on postgraduate research students’ engagement with the Student Representative scheme and involvement in departmental committees.

7. To receive reports on recruitment, approval, appointment, support and training of research student supervisors by departments within the faculty.

8. To monitor and report on the appointment of examiners (including where examiners were declined) and to discuss common matter arising from the examiners reports.

9. To consider the academic and resource implications of new research degree programmes and academic partnership proposals from departments within the faculty and, if and when satisfied, submit these for consideration by UCL’s Research Degrees Committee (or relevant sub-group thereof). To also receive regular reports on amendments, withdrawals and reviews of programmes approved by the faculty.

10. To provide a forum for discussion of issues raised by department level committees responsible for postgraduate research student provision or their equivalent, such as joint graduate teaching and research provision committees. Refer institutional level issues to Research Degrees Committee via the Faculty Graduate Tutor as appropriate.

11. To receive the minutes, where applicable, of departmental level committees responsible for postgraduate research student provision.

12. To receive regular reports, as appropriate, on relevant issues arising from meetings of Academic Committee, UCL’s Research Degrees Committee or other relevant institutional-level committees.

13. To report to UCL’s Research Degrees Committee by the submission of Minutes of each meeting to the officers of Research Degrees Committee.

Constitution

The following should be regarded as comprising minimum requirements for the constitution of a committee:

Staff Membership

- Faculty Graduate Tutor (Chair)
- Vice-Dean Research
- One member of staff from each department within the faculty (e.g. Departmental Graduate Tutor)
- Representatives from inter-faculty or inter-departmental programmes as appropriate.

Membership might also include representatives from library and other learning resources services, UCL Arena and other UCL departments as appropriate.
Student Membership

It is suggested that the Committee should include three postgraduate Research Student Academic Representatives in its membership and that attendance may rotate depending on availability for meetings. The Committee should ensure that the Research Student Representatives are aware of the training and support offered by the Students’ Union for the Student Academic Representative scheme. The Committee may also wish to invite the student Faculty Representative to its meetings. Committee chairs and/or secretaries should also meet the Research Student Representatives in advance of the first committee meeting, in order to brief them on the committees’ works and proceedings and to put the students at ease and introduce them to key committee members.
