Introduction

Scope

1. Chapter 4 is UCL's regulatory framework for the assessment and examination of Undergraduate, Graduate and Taught Postgraduate students at UCL. Students should also refer to their Student Handbooks or equivalent and departmental/divisional literature for more detailed information about the specific regulations that apply to their studies.
2. Students following joint or dual programmes delivered in conjunction with other universities and organisations should refer to their Student Handbook or equivalent for details of the regulations that apply to their studies.

Threshold Standards

3. The Assessment Framework for Taught Programmes outlines UCL's threshold expectations for the assessment of students. All programmes must apply these threshold standards as a minimum.
4. The regulations indicate where a programme may set higher standards than the minimum, subject to approval by UCL Education Committee, or its nominee. Programmes wishing to set higher standards must make a formal application via the Programme and Module Approval and Amendment Process (see Chapter 7).
5. All approved variations must be documented in the Programme Summary and clearly explained in the Student Handbook or equivalent.

Must, Should and May

6. To ensure that the expectations of Faculties, Departments, students and staff are clear, the following verbs are adopted consistently throughout the framework:
 - a) Must: Indicates a regulation that will be adhered to in all circumstances. Deviations from such regulations would only be granted by the Director of UCL Academic Services on behalf of the Vice-Provost (Education & Student Affairs) in exceptional circumstances. For example "All programmes must include rigorous second-marking and internal moderation processes which promote consistency and fairness".
 - b) Should: Indicates a regulation that will be adhered to unless sound pedagogical, professional or practical reasons prevent this. For example "A variety of assessment methods should be used across a programme of study to test different knowledge and skills".
 - c) May: Indicates where an action or regulation is permitted but not mandatory, and where there might therefore be variations across programmes and modules. For example "Information may be provided in a number of formats including Student Handbooks, Moodle sites and the UCL intranet". Where 'may' regulations are used, the specific arrangements in place on the programme must be explained clearly in the Student Handbook or equivalent.

1 Overarching Principles of Assessment

1.1 About

1. The overarching principles of assessment provide a framework and reference point for the continuous development and enhancement of taught assessment practices throughout the UCL community of students and staff. The principles aim to:
 - a) Define the core values underpinning the assessment of students at UCL
 - b) Promote consistency across UCL, and parity in student experiences of assessment
 - c) Encourage a mutual understanding of assessment processes and regulations by both students and staff
 - d) Act as an important reference point for setting and maintaining UCL's threshold academic standards
 - e) Act as the starting point for the development and enhancement of assessment processes and regulations, and when applying discretion or academic judgement.

1.2 The Principles

Purposes of Assessment

1. Assessment is integral to learning and teaching; it must develop students' knowledge and understanding as well as measuring attainment.
2. Assessment should align with the objectives of the Connected Curriculum and ensure that all UCL students are able to learn through participating in research and enquiry at all levels of their programme. This includes:
 - Educating through dialogue and active, critical enquiry
 - Creating an inclusive research and learning community
 - Making connections across modules, programmes and beyond the classroom
 - Creating assessments that mirror 'public engagement' in research
 - Equipping students to address interdisciplinary challenges
 - Exploring critically the values and practices of global citizenship
 - Engaging students as partners in their education, and as co-producers of knowledge
 - Improving the experiences of both students and staff.
3. Students must have frequent opportunities to develop their understanding of assessment, for example through formative assessments, guided marking, peer review and opportunities to practise key assessment methods.

Equality

4. Assessment processes and regulations must accord with the principles of natural justice and pay due notice to the danger of inadvertent or indirect discrimination or bias, ensuring that, as far as possible, procedures do not bear more heavily on specific groups, particularly with regard to age, disability, gender, race, religion or belief, caring responsibilities, pregnancy or maternity, sexual orientation or assignment, marriage or civil partnership.

Staff Development

5. Staff must be supported in the design, delivery, marking and moderation of assessment, and in talking to students about assessment, through the provision of information, staff development, and the sharing of good practice.

Assessment Design

6. Assessment must be an integral part of programme and module design.

7. Assessment tasks must enable students to demonstrate the extent to which they have attained and exceeded the intended learning outcomes.
8. When designing or reviewing a programme, development teams should consider whether assessment:
 - Is outward-facing, mirrors public engagement in research and encourages communication with external audiences, for example through journal articles, blogs, presentations, exhibitions or films
 - Facilitates academic and intellectual progression
 - Ensures that academic and professional standards are achieved
 - Enhances and rewards qualities which are important to employers
 - Is inclusive, diverse and designed to assess a range of skills and knowledge (e.g. oral presentations, posters, group work)
 - Challenges, stretches and motivates students
 - Encourages the development of autonomous learners
 - Reflects developments in the field
 - Is spread evenly across a programme, avoiding overload for both students and staff.
9. Student Handbooks (or equivalent) must explain to students the aims and overarching principles of assessment, and the rationale behind the number, type and timing of assessments on their programme.
10. Internal and external scrutiny must be given to the design and structure of assessment across a programme.
11. Assessment must be regularly reviewed as part of the Annual Student Experience Review (ASER) and Internal Quality Review (IQR) processes.

Assessment Requirements

12. The UCL Pass Mark represents the minimum, threshold standards which students should meet in order to pass a module, progress through their programme and be awarded a degree.
13. Faculties, Departments and UCL services must ensure that information for students on all aspects of their assessment is explicit, transparent, targeted towards students, up-to-date and readily available.
14. The Programme Summary must clearly define the requirements for a student to progress through the programme and be eligible for a qualification and a classification.
15. Programme regulations must meet UCL's threshold academic standards, as defined in the UCL Academic Manual. Subject to approval by UCL Education Committee, or its nominee, a programme may set standards above these thresholds.

Examinations

16. Students must follow the examination conduct regulations and protocols set out in the Examination Guide for Candidates which is published annually on the Examinations and Awards website.

Progression and Award

17. Qualifications must only be awarded for the successful achievement of defined learning outcomes.
18. The criteria for Progression and the Award of a degree must be transparent, clearly defined and fair to all students, and aligned with the requirements of the UCL Qualifications and Credit Framework.
19. Programmes must include regular review points to support and evaluate a student's progress throughout their programme.
20. A student may be permitted to progress from one year to the next and/ or be awarded a degree where they are carrying a small amount of failure, as long as their overall performance is of a good standard and the requirements of any relevant Professional, Statutory or Regulatory Bodies are met.

Reasonable Adjustments

21. UCL must make reasonable adjustments to learning, teaching and assessment to support students with a disability or other ongoing medical or mental health condition.
22. Students should notify UCL of any such condition at the time of enrolment or as soon as possible thereafter so that UCL can put in place the support that the student needs.

Extenuating Circumstances

23. Students must notify UCL of any circumstances which are sudden, unexpected, significantly disruptive, and beyond the student's control and which may affect their performance at assessment, such as a serious illness or the death of a close relative.
24. UCL should ensure that alternative arrangements are put in place for such students, such as an extension or deferral of assessment to a later date.

Marking and Moderation

25. Assessment policies and regulations must respect the academic judgement of the internal examiners in relation to a student's performance against the published marking criteria.
26. All assessment processes, including marking, second-marking and moderation, should be conducted anonymously unless the nature of the assessment makes this impossible.
27. Marking must be criterion-referenced and students must be made aware of those criteria in advance.
28. Marking scales must be transparent and clearly communicated to students in advance of the assessment.
29. All programmes must include rigorous second-marking and internal moderation processes which promote consistency and fairness.
30. The assessment process for a programme of study must be scrutinised by an External Examiner.

Assessment Feedback

31. Formative and summative assessment feedback is an integral part of the assessment process. Feedback should:
 - Help students to evaluate their work
 - Enable students to set and achieve short- and long-term goals
 - Give students opportunities to apply previous feedback
 - Include peer-to-peer and teacher-student dialogue
 - Be motivational for all students
 - Develop students' assessment literacy
 - Be timely, so that feedback can inform future learning
32. Students should receive feedback regularly throughout their programme, on both formative and summative assessments.

Classification

33. Classification schemes must be transparent, clearly defined and fair to all students.

Consequences of Failure

34. A student who does not meet the Progression and Award Requirements at the first attempt should be reassessed in the failed module(s).
35. A student who does not meet the Progression and Award Requirements at the second attempt must not be reassessed.
36. Any penalties applied, such as those for late submissions or over-length coursework, must be proportionate and applied fairly.

Boards of Examiners

37. Every UCL taught programme must have a Board of Examiners with a Chair, Deputy Chair and at least one Internal Examiner and one External Examiner for each of the main subject areas covered.
38. The Board of Examiners is responsible for determining a student's progression through the programme and for making recommendations for the award of degrees to the Education Committee of UCL.
39. Every Faculty must have a Faculty Board of Examiners which is responsible for the oversight of assessment in the Faculty and to which Boards of Examiners report.

Student Academic Misconduct

40. UCL must investigate and, where necessary, penalise, any conduct which is likely to give an unfair advantage to the candidate and/ or affect the security of assessment, or the standards of degrees awarded by UCL.

Award of Degrees

41. Education Committee, on behalf of Academic Committee, is authorised to award UCL taught degrees.

2 Assessment Information

2.1 Overarching Principles

- Principle 9: Student Handbooks (or equivalent) must explain to students the aims and overarching principles of assessment, and the rationale behind the number, type and timing of assessments on their programme.
- Principle 13: Faculties, Departments and UCL services must ensure that information for students on all aspects of their assessment is explicit, transparent, targeted towards students, up-to-date and readily available.
- Principle 14: The Programme Summary must clearly define the requirements for a student to progress through the programme and be eligible for a qualification and a classification.

2.2 Assessment Information for Students

1. Departments must ensure that students receive accurate and up-to-date information for each assessment task.
2. Information may be provided in a number of formats including Student Handbooks, Moodle sites and the UCL intranet.
3. The information provided to students for all assessment tasks should include:

2.3 Programme Summary

1. All programmes must maintain an accurate Programme Summary which includes full details of the programme structure and assessment requirements, and which must explain any approved programme-specific regulations over and above the UCL threshold standards set out in this Assessment Framework for Taught Programmes.
2. For further information on the Programme Summary, please see the UCL Academic Manual, Chapter 7: Programme and Module Approval and Amendment Framework.

3 Module Assessment

The Module Assessment regulations define how students will be assessed in each module and component. The outcome of each module assessment is used to determine a student's eligibility for Progression and Award (Section 9) and to determine their Classification (Section 10 and Section 15).

3.1 Overarching Principles

- Principle 1: Assessment is integral to learning and teaching; it should develop students' knowledge and understanding as well as measuring attainment.
- Principle 3: Students must have frequent opportunities to develop their understanding of assessment, for example through formative assessments, guided marking, peer review and opportunities to practise key assessment methods.
- Principle 7: Assessment tasks must enable students to demonstrate the extent to which they have attained and exceeded the intended learning outcomes.
- Principle 12: The UCL Pass Mark represents the minimum, threshold standards which students should meet in order to pass a module, progress through their programme and be awarded a degree.
- Principle 28: Marking scales must be transparent and clearly communicated to students in advance of the assessment.
- Principle 36: Any penalties applied, such as those for late submissions or over-length coursework, must be proportionate and applied fairly.

3.2 Forms of Assessment

1. A programme must include both formative and summative assessments:

Formative Assessment

2. Formative assessment provides students with frequent opportunities to develop their knowledge and understanding of assessment so that they understand how to do well on their programme. Students should receive feedback on formative assessments to help them understand how to improve their performance. A formative assessment may include an indicative mark, but these marks do not contribute to the award of credit and are not included in the calculation of the Classification.

Summative Assessment

3. Summative assessment is the formal assessment of student performance against the learning outcomes. Students should receive a mark and should receive feedback for every summative assessment. These marks are used to determine a student's progress through their programme and their eligibility for an Award. Summative assessment marks are recorded in the student's transcript and aggregated using a set formula to determine the student's Classification at the end of the programme.

3.3 Assessment Methods and Tasks

1. The Assessment Method defines the way in which a student will be assessed for a particular component or module. A variety of assessment methods should be used across a programme to test different knowledge and skills - examples include written examinations, essays, presentations, reports, practicals, group work and many more. The Assessment Method must be defined at the point of module approval and/ or amendment. Changes to the Assessment Method must be formally approved by UCL Education Committee or its nominee (see Chapter 7: Programme and Module Approval and Amendment Framework).

2. The Assessment Task is the specific exam paper, essay question, topic or activity which students are asked to undertake. All new Assessment Tasks should be approved by the External Examiner (although if a task has been used on a previous occasion, repeat approval does not need to be sought).
3. Guidance on Assessment Methods and Tasks is available from UCL Arena. Guidance on a range of digital assessment platforms is available from the Digital Education team.

3.4 Digital Assessment

1. The Assessment Framework for Taught Programmes applies to the conduct of all forms of assessment. However there are additional considerations and risks involved in managing digital assessments. These regulations should be read in conjunction with the remainder of this Chapter.

Good Practice for Exam Design

2. In line with the British Standard ISO/IEC 23988:2007, if a computer-based examination lasts longer than 90 minutes there should be provision, if not detrimental to the purpose or validity of the assessment, for candidates to take a break.

Testing Summative Online Assessment Tasks

3. The technology being used for all summative online assessment tasks must be tested before students undertake the assessment.
4. If the assessment involves invigilators then these invigilators must be familiar with the software and they must know what the candidates are expected to do during the assessment, so that they can spot any attempts to cheat.

Skills and Access

5. It must be ensured that all students have access to the required technology needed to carry out the assessment.
6. Reasonable Adjustments may be possible for students with dyslexia or other disabilities. This must be arranged in advance of the assessment in consultation with the Disability, Mental Health and Wellbeing team in Student Support and Wellbeing (SSW) (see Section 4.3: Examination Adjustments).
7. If any specific technical skills are required to undertake an assessment, students must have been given a training opportunity to acquire these skills in advance of the assessment.

Further Guidance

8. More detailed information on the operation of digital examinations is available in Annex 4.2: E-Assessment Requirements Guidelines.
9. Further advice and guidance is available from the Digital Education team.

3.5 Language of Assessment

1. All assessments should be conducted in the English language unless the purpose of the assessment is to test the ability of students in another language.

3.6 Attendance Requirements & Eligibility for Assessment

Covid-19 2020/21:

UCL has agreed that the 70% attendance requirement will be suspended for the 2020-21 academic session due to the Covid-19 pandemic. Therefore, students will not be barred from module assessments on the basis of attendance.

1. A student who is absent due to illness or other Extenuating Circumstances must notify their Department as soon as possible following the procedures in Section 6: Extenuating Circumstances.

3.7 Pass Mark

1. The Pass Mark at Levels 4, 5 and 6 (Undergraduate and Graduate Certificate/ Diploma level) must be 40.00% or Grade D.
2. The Pass Mark at Level 7 (Taught Postgraduate level) must be 50.00% or Grade C.

3.8 Marking Scale

3.8.1 Requirements

1. UCL operates a Numeric Marking Scale and, on some programmes, a Letter Grade Marking Scale.
2. The Numeric Marking Scale must be used on the following qualifications:
 - a) Certificate of Higher Education
 - b) Foundation Degree
 - c) Bachelors Degree
 - d) Integrated Masters Degree
3. The Numeric Marking Scale should be used on all Graduate and Taught Postgraduate programmes. Subject to approval by UCL Education Committee or its nominee, a Graduate or Taught Postgraduate programme may operate the Letter Grade Marking Scale.
4. A programme must use a single marking scale across all summative components and modules so that module marks (Section 3.10), Progression and Award (Section 9) and Classification (Section 10 and Section 15) can be calculated accurately.
5. If an indicative mark is offered for a formative component, this may be on the Numeric or Letter Grade Scale as it does not contribute to the module mark.

Condonable Ranges

6. Please refer to Section 9.3: Condonement for details of the Condonable Range on each programme.

3.8.2 Pass/ Fail Modules and Components

1. Subject to approval by UCL Education Committee or its nominee, a module or component may be marked on a Pass/Fail basis i.e. without a mark or grade.
2. Pass/Fail Components must only be used:
 - a) Where the Pass/Fail status of a component is a requirement of professional accreditation and
 - b) Where the component is zero-weighted in the module mark calculation.
3. Pass/Fail Modules must only be used:
 - a) On Pass/Fail Degrees i.e. where the qualification does not include a Classification (Section 10.2), or

- b) Where the module does not contribute to the Classification.
- On Pass/Fail modules and components, the Pass Mark should comply with the regulations in Section 3.7: Pass Mark. Subject to approval by UCL Education Committee or its nominee, a Programme may determine the Pass Mark by criterion-referenced standard setting (e.g. on the MBBS programme).
 - Pass/Fail modules and components must be documented in the Programme Summary.

3.8.3 Numeric Marking Scale

	Modules at Levels 4, 5 and 6	Modules at Level 7
70.00 – 100%	Pass	Pass
60.00 – 69.99%
50.00 – 59.99%
40.00 – 49.99%	Fail	Fail
1.00 – 39.99%
0.00 – 0.99%	No Attempt or Minimal Attempt	No Attempt or Minimal Attempt

3.8.4 Letter Grade Marking Scale

	Modules at Levels 4, 5 and 6	Modules at Level 7
A	Pass	Pass
F	No Attempt or Minimal Attempt	No Attempt or Minimal Attempt

3.8.5 Conversion of Marks

- Where a student undertakes a module in another Faculty, Department or partner institution which operates a different marking scale, the student's component and module marks must be converted to the marking scale in use on their parent programme so that Progression, Award and Classification can be calculated.
- As different disciplines have different marking practices, there is no central UCL conversion scale. The parent and teaching faculties/ institutions must agree, in advance of the module teaching, the conversion scale which will be used for the student(s) concerned.

Students on Programmes operating a Numeric Marking Scale

- Where a student takes a module in a Faculty, Department or partner institution operating a Letter Grade Marking Scale, the student must receive a letter grade and an equivalent numeric mark for each component and module. The numeric mark must be formally recorded in the Student Records System.

Students on Programmes operating a Letter Grade Marking Scale

4. Where a student takes a module in a Faculty, Department or partner institution operating a Numeric Marking Scale, the student must receive a numeric mark and an equivalent letter grade for each component and module. The letter grade must be formally recorded in the Student Records System.

3.9 Component Assessment

1. Each programme is composed of credit-weighted modules. Each module may include one or more assessed components. Components may be equally weighted, or some components may carry a higher weighting than others (e.g. Essay 60%, Presentation 40%).
2. Components may be:
 - a) Formative: There is no minimum Pass Mark for formative assessment components and any indicative mark that might be given must not be included in the module pass requirements, or
 - b) Pass/Fail: Subject to approval by UCL Education Committee or its nominee a module may include a Pass/Fail Component (see 3.8.2 above). A student must pass the component in order to pass the module, but the component will not be given a mark, and will not be included in the calculation of the module mark, or
 - c) Summative: The marks from all summative assessment components must be included in the calculation of the module mark.
3. Summative Components may be:
 - a) Condonable: On a Condonable Component, any mark below the Pass Mark, including marks of 0.00%/ Grade F, may be Condoned, if the student meets the Module Pass Requirements in Section 3.10 below.
 - b) Non-Condonable: Where a Programme designates a module as Non-condonable (see Section 9.3: Condonement), the Programme may also determine that one or more components within that module are Non-condonable (must be passed). A student who does not Pass a Non-condonable Component must be reassessed in the affected module (see Section 11: Consequences of Failure).

3.10 Requirements to Pass a Module

1. In order to pass a module at Levels 4, 5 or 6 a student must achieve:
 - a) A weighted mean of at least 40.00%, plus at least 40.00% in any Non-condonable Components, or
 - b) A preponderance of at least Grade D, plus at least Grade D in any Non-condonable Components.
2. In order to pass a module at Level 7 a student must achieve:
 - a) A weighted mean of at least 50.00%, plus at least 50.00% in any Non-condonable Components, or
 - b) A preponderance of at least Grade C, plus at least Grade C in any Non-condonable Components.

Calculation of Module Marks

3. The marks from all Summative assessment components must be included in the calculation of the module mark.

Numeric Marking Scale

4. Where a programme operates a Numeric Marking Scale, the module mark must be calculated as follows:
 - a) Where component marks are converted to percentages, percentages must be rounded to 2 decimal places.

- b) All summative component marks must be weighted and then averaged.
- c) The weighted mean must be rounded to 2 decimal places.

Letter Grade Marking Scale

5. Where a programme operates a Letter Grade Marking Scale, the preponderance must be calculated as follows:
 - a) The Letter Grade for each summative component is converted to a numerical equivalent using the following scale:

Letter Grade	Numerical Equivalent	Rounding Points
A	5	4.50 – 5.00
B	4	3.50 – 4.49
C	3	3.00 – 3.49
D	2	2.00 – 2.99
E	1	1.00 – 1.99
F	0	0.0 – 0.99

- b) The numerical equivalent is multiplied by the component weighting.
- c) The weighted component marks are averaged.
- d) The weighted mean is rounded to 2 decimal places.
- e) The resulting numerical value is converted back to a Letter Grade for the module.

3.11 No Attempt or Minimal Attempt at Assessment

1. A student must be awarded a mark of 0.00% or Grade F for a component and must be deemed to have made an attempt where they:
 - a) Are absent from an examination, presentation or other assessment event, or
 - b) Do not attempt a paper or task, or
 - c) Attempt so little of a paper or task that it cannot be assessed, or
 - d) Do not submit coursework.
2. A student who is absent or makes an un-assessable attempt due to illness or other Extenuating Circumstances must notify their Department as soon as possible following the procedures in Section 6: Extenuating Circumstances.

3.12 Coursework Deadlines & Late Submissions

1. Planning, time-management and the meeting of deadlines are part of the personal and professional skills expected of all graduates. For this reason students are required to submit all coursework by the published deadline date and time.

Extenuating Circumstances

2. Where a student is ill or has other Extenuating Circumstances preventing them from meeting the published deadline, they must refer to Section 6: Extenuating Circumstances. If the EC is accepted, the student may be granted an extension. If the deadline has already passed, the late submission penalties may be suspended i.e. the below penalties will not apply.

Late Submission Penalties

3. Where there are no Extenuating Circumstances, the following penalties must apply to all components which are submitted after the published date and time:

Modules at Levels 4, 5 and 6:

Component Mark/ Grade of 40.00-100.00% / A-D

- Up to 2 working days late: Deduction of 10 percentage points or 1 Letter Grade, but no lower than 40.00% / Grade D
- 2-5 working days late: Mark capped at 40.00% / Grade D
- More than 5 working days late: Mark of 1.00% / Grade E

Component Mark/ Grade of 1.00-39.99% / E

- Up to 2 working days late: No Penalty
- 2-5 working days late: No Penalty
- More than 5 working days late: Mark of 1.00% / Grade E

Modules at Level 7:

Component Mark/ Grade of 50.00-100.00% / A-C

- Up to 2 working days late: Deduction of 10 percentage points or 1 Letter Grade, but no lower than 50.00% / Grade C
- 2-5 working days late: Mark capped at 50.00% / Grade C
- More than 5 working days late: Mark of 1.00% / Grade E

Component Mark/ Grade of 1.00-49.99% / D-E

- Up to 2 working days late: No Penalty
- 2-5 working days late: No Penalty
- More than 5 working days late: Mark of 1.00% / Grade E

4. Undergraduate students who submit assessable work before the second week of the third term will receive a mark of 1.00%.
5. Work which is not submitted at all will receive a mark of 0.00%/ Grade F for that Component under the regulations in 3.11: No Attempt or Minimal Attempt at Assessment.
6. Programme/ module teams must clearly communicate to students whether and when coursework solutions will be published. Submissions must not be accepted or marked after the specified publication date.
7. In the case of coursework that is submitted over- or under-length and is also late, the greater of any penalties must apply.
8. As some submissions are made in hard copy or involve artefacts which cannot be submitted at weekends, and because there is no technical support for online submissions at weekends, penalties must be based on the number of working days. As a result, a deadline set for a Thursday will only begin to incur the higher penalties on a Monday, and those set on a Friday will only begin to incur the higher penalties on a Tuesday, or longer in the case of bank holidays or UCL closure days. Deadlines should be set with these restrictions in mind.
9. For electronic submissions, programmes should avoid setting deadlines after working hours. It is good practice to set the deadline date and time in hours, minutes and seconds, and to state the time zone.
10. Where dual submission is used (i.e. students submit a hard copy and an electronic copy) the Assessment Information for students must clearly state the deadlines for both modes of submission.

3.13 Word Counts

1. A minimum and/ or maximum word count may be specified as part of the assessment criteria for a component or module. The word count must specify whether footnotes, bibliographies, appendices, tables, figures etc. are to be included in the word count.
2. Where a word count is included, the module information for students must provide clear details of any penalties that will apply for over- or under-writing.
3. Penalties must not exceed a deduction in marks of 10 percentage points, or one Letter Grade, for that component and must not take the student's mark below the Pass Mark (see Section 3.7).
4. Standardised penalties may be agreed at Faculty, Departmental/ Divisional, Programme or Module level.
5. In the case of coursework that is submitted over- or under-length and is also late, the greater of any penalties must apply.

3.14 Academic Integrity

1. Students must maintain the highest standards of academic integrity whilst studying at UCL. All work submitted for assessment must be the student's own, unless authorisation has been given for collaboration, and all work must be appropriately cited and referenced.
2. Section 4: Examinations outlines UCL's requirements for conduct in examination halls. Guidance on referencing and avoiding plagiarism is available from UCL Library Services. Departments are also responsible for informing students of any discipline-specific referencing conventions via Student Handbooks, Moodle or equivalent.
3. UCL will investigate and, where necessary, penalise any conduct which is likely to give an unfair advantage to the candidate, affect the security of assessment, and/ or affect the standards of the degrees awarded by UCL including, but not limited to, instances of plagiarism, self-plagiarism, impersonation, collusion, falsification, exam room misconduct, or contract cheating. Any such conduct will be investigated in accordance with the regulations in Chapter 6, Section 9: Student Academic Misconduct.

4 Examinations

The Examinations regulations outline UCL's threshold expectations for students sitting unseen written examinations.

4.1 Overarching Principles

Principle 16: Students must follow the examination conduct regulations and protocols set out in the Examination Guide for Candidates which is published annually on the Examinations and Awards website.

4.2 Examination Timetable

Module Verification

1. Students must verify whether their modules on Portico are correct by the deadlines published by UCL Student Records each year to ensure they are entered for the correct examinations:
 - a) September start students: Students must verify their modules by Week 11 of term 1
 - b) January start students: Students must verify their modules by Week 2 of term 2
2. Where a student is not registered on the correct modules by the stated deadlines, their module choices will not be reflected in the examination timetable. Consequently, the student may have a timetable clash and/or there may not be room in the examination venue on the scheduled examination date. In such circumstances, students may be required to undertake the examination in their Department.

Timetable

3. UCL Examinations is responsible for publishing the Examination Timetable for students.
4. Some Departments or non-UCL colleges may also schedule additional examinations at other times of the year. Departments and colleges are responsible for notifying students about the arrangements for any such examinations.
5. Wherever possible, Departments should set examination durations to last one, two, three or four hours and avoid utilising half-hour intervals to reduce disruption in the exam halls.
6. Students must sit the examination at the date, time and location scheduled in the Examination Timetable, whether organised by central UCL Examinations or the Department, and must ensure that they are available to sit all scheduled examinations. Students who cannot attend due to illness or other difficulties may be permitted to defer their examination to a later date under the procedures in Section 6: Extenuating Circumstances. Applications must be submitted within one week of the circumstance taking place.
7. Students must notify their Department of any timetabling inaccuracies at the earliest possible time.

Venues

8. Students must attend examinations at the venue designated in the UCL Examination Timetable. UCL examinations are held in a number of different locations, many of which are away from the main Bloomsbury Campus. Detailed information about the venues in use each year, including location codes and maps, will be made available to view online when the timetable is published.
9. Practical and oral examinations will normally be held in departmental accommodation. Students should contact the teaching Department for information about the date, time and location of such examinations.
10. Only students with approved Examination Adjustments are permitted to sit examinations in one of the UCL special facility venues (see Section 4.3 below).

11. Intercollegiate examinations are usually held at the college where the module is taught. Intercollegiate candidates with Examination Adjustments will usually sit examinations at their home college.
12. UCL students taking examinations at other colleges or institutions must abide by the regulations of the college they are attending. Similarly, students from other colleges taking examinations at UCL are subject to UCL's regulations for examinations as detailed herein.

Alternative Venues

13. A student will only be permitted to undertake an examination at a venue other than that designated in the UCL Examination Timetable if:
 - a) The student is enrolled on a distance learning programme, or
 - b) The student is unable to extend their visa to take a reassessment without attendance.

And

- c) The assessment is in a format which can be offered at an alternative venue (for example, it may not be possible to make alternative arrangements for practical or oral examinations)
14. Applications for alternative venues must be made to the UCL Examinations Office by the published deadlines. UCL Examinations will then liaise with the Department about the suitability of taking the assessment in question at an alternative venue.
15. If a student is unable to travel to the UK due to Extenuating Circumstances, the student will not be permitted to sit the exam in an alternative venue but must submit a claim for Extenuating Circumstances to obtain a Deferral, Alternative Method of Assessment or other appropriate mitigation.
16. Where UCL Examinations approves an application for an alternative venue, a fee will be charged by UCL and by the host institution.
17. It may not be possible to provide Examination Adjustments at alternative venues.

4.3 Examination Adjustments

1. Examination Adjustments are adjustments to central or departmental/ divisional written examinations which can be made for students with a disability, medical or mental health condition.
2. Examination Adjustments can include, but are not limited to:
 - Extra time
 - Rest breaks
 - Specialist equipment
3. Students must contact the Disability, Mental Health and Wellbeing team in Student Support and Wellbeing (SSW) who can help them to complete an application and advise them on gathering the required documentary evidence.
4. UCL Examinations is responsible for confirming and implementing the necessary adjustments.

Application Deadlines

5. Examination Adjustment applications must be received by the Disability, Mental Health and Wellbeing team by 4.00pm UK time, three weeks before the examination period in question.
6. After this deadline students must apply to defer their assessment to the next opportunity (normally the Late Summer Assessment period) if they require mitigation, under the regulations in Section 6: Extenuating Circumstances.

Other Reasonable Adjustments

7. Examination Adjustments only apply to unseen written examinations. UCL supports students undertaking other assessment methods, including coursework, via the provisions in Section 5: Reasonable Adjustments.

4.4 Illness during the Exam

1. If a student is taken ill during an exam they must alert the invigilators for help as soon as possible. Where appropriate, the invigilators will file a report of the student's condition and the impact on the examination (e.g. lost time, terminated attempt) which can be used as evidence towards an Extenuating Circumstances claim. All EC claims must be submitted within one week of the affected examination, following the procedures in Section 6: Extenuating Circumstances.

4.5 Unauthorised Absence from an Examination

1. If a student is absent from an examination or other form of assessment without permission or, although present at an examination, either does not attempt the paper or attempts so little that it cannot be assessed, and provides no evidence of Extenuating Circumstances, then the student will be awarded a mark of 0.00%/ Grade F for the missed/non-attempted examination.
2. For further details see Section 11: Consequences of Failure.

4.6 Identification

1. To gain admission to the hall, students must present one of the following:
 - a) UCL ID card
 - b) Home college ID card (intercollegiate students)
 - c) Passport
 - d) Driving licence with photograph
2. If a student fails to produce an approved means of identification on the day, they must sign a declaration of identity form and a label will be included in the examination envelope to notify the examiner.

4.7 Items Permitted in Examination Halls

1. Students must not have unauthorised items on or under their desk or about their person. All unauthorised items will be confiscated for the duration of the examination.
2. If a student finds that they have inadvertently brought unauthorised items into an examination the student must inform a member of invigilation staff immediately.
3. The following items are permitted in a written, practical, oral or other examinations:
 - a) ID card or other approved means of identification
 - b) Candidate number card
 - c) Question papers and examination stationery
 - d) Other materials approved by the examiner
 - e) Calculators (approved models only – see below)
 - f) Mathematical instruments
 - g) Clear pencil cases containing pens, pencils (for MCQ examinations and diagrams only), highlighter pens, correction fluid/tape, erasers, sharpeners and small bottles of ink
 - h) Bottles of still (non-carbonated), non-alcoholic, cold drinks only.
4. The following items are prohibited in a written, practical, oral or other examination:
 - a) Revision or course notes
 - b) Books, statutes or dictionaries (except where approved by the examiner – see below)

- c) Paper for rough work
 - d) Laptops, audio players, or devices with internet or data storage capabilities
 - e) Opaque pencil cases or staplers
 - f) Food, hot drinks, alcoholic drinks or carbonated drinks (except on medical grounds (prior approval required))
 - g) E-cigarettes
 - h) Ear plugs (except UCL-issued ear plugs provided on medical grounds (prior approval required))
 - i) Headgear (except that which is worn on religious or medical grounds (prior approval required for the latter))
5. Students should leave all non-essential items at home as UCL cannot accept responsibility for the loss of property or guarantee its safety.
 6. Students must follow the directions of the invigilation staff in regards to bags, coats, revision notes or other prohibited items.
 7. All valuables, including wallets and travel cards, must be placed under the examination desk in the plastic wallet provided.
 8. Students are not permitted to keep their examination timetable on their desk during examinations. Timetables must be placed under the desk in the plastic wallet provided.

Mobile Phones and Communication Devices

9. All mobile phones, smart watches and other communication devices must be switched off before students enter the examination hall.
10. Students must not have mobile phones, smart watches or communication devices on their desk or about their person and must instead place them under the examination desk in the plastic wallet provided.
11. Students must not send or receive calls or messages during an examination, or allow ringtones or pre-set alarms to cause a disturbance.

Electronic Calculators

12. Boards of Examiners will determine whether students are permitted to use an electronic calculator in a particular examination.
13. At all other examinations, the unauthorised use of electronic calculators is not permitted and will be treated as examination misconduct. Random checks will be made during examinations to ensure that these regulations are complied with.
14. UCL has approved a standard calculator for use in examinations. Students will be committing examination misconduct if they are found using the wrong model. Further details are available in the Examination Guide for Candidates published each year on the Examinations and Awards website.
15. Exceptionally, a Department may approve the use of non-standard calculators for one or more of its examinations. In such circumstances, the Department will inform all students taking the examinations concerned what type of calculators will be permitted in the examination hall. If students are in any doubt, they should consult their tutor. Students may still need a UCL-approved calculator if they are taking examinations for modules taught by other Departments.
16. Students must indicate the make and model of calculator used on the front of their examination envelope.
17. Students must ensure that their calculator is in good working order and provide themselves with an alternative means of calculating should the calculator fail during an examination. Spare calculators will not be available at the hall on the day.
18. Where credit may be given for using the correct method when a final answer is wrong, the student must provide the examiner with sufficient information about the process of derivation. Further details are available in the Examination Guide for Candidates published each year on the Students website.
19. The use of material stored in the pre-programmable memory of a calculator will normally constitute examination misconduct.

Reference Materials

20. For some examinations reference materials may be provided by the examiner. There may also be occasions when students are instructed, in advance of the examination, to bring specific documents with them to the hall. Such documents must be unmarked unless the examiner has indicated otherwise.

Dictionaries

21. The use of paper or electronic dictionaries is not permitted for the purpose of helping students overcome any deficiency in their command of the English language. Dictionaries will only be permitted for other purposes where the examiner has notified UCL Examinations in writing before the examination.
22. At all other examinations, the unauthorised use of dictionaries is banned and will be treated as examination misconduct. Random checks will be made during examinations to ensure that these regulations are complied with.

4.8 At the Start of the Exam

1. UCL morning and afternoon examinations start at 10.00am and 2.30pm respectively unless otherwise indicated on the timetable; students must note any exceptions that apply to them.
2. Students should arrive at the hall between 10 and 20 minutes before the start of the examination.
3. Students must observe any instructions given on the day by invigilation staff, examiners or other staff responsible for the conduct of examinations.
4. Students must sit in their allocated seat. Seat numbers will be used to verify attendance and to ensure that marks are awarded to the correct candidate.
5. Students must not speak to other candidates once they have entered the hall.

4.9 Candidate Numbers

1. All UCL written examinations must be examined anonymously by candidate number instead of name.
2. Students must display both their candidate number card and their identification (see 4.6 above) on the desk at each examination.
3. Candidate number cards must not be marked or annotated.
4. Students must enter their candidate number in the space provided on all examination envelopes (with the exception of Multiple Choice Question [MCQ] papers, where the student number should be used) unless instructed otherwise on the day.

4.10 Question Papers

1. Students must not begin reading the question paper before the start of the examination. However, students should check that the examination code and title on the front cover of the question paper are correct. Students must alert a member of invigilation staff immediately if they have been given the wrong paper.

4.11 Answer Books and Examination Envelopes

1. Prior to the start of the examination students may enter the following information on the front cover of the examination envelope:
 - a) Candidate number
 - b) Student number (MCQ cards only)
 - c) Seat number
 - d) The examination title and code

- e) The date and venue
 - f) The make and model of the student's calculator (if applicable)
2. Students must not write anything else on their examination envelope, answer book or question paper, or any other materials present on their desk, before the start of the examination unless told to do so by the supervisor (for computer users, this includes typing).
 3. Students must write only in blue or black ink (or in the case of MCQ examinations, pencil).
 4. Pencils may be used for drawing diagrams, charts, graphs or other illustrations.
 5. Students should only request a supplementary answer book when their main answer book is full.
 6. Students must not write their name on any examination envelopes, answer books or materials submitted for marking, to ensure their anonymity is maintained.
 7. Students must enter the following information on the examination envelope in the boxes provided:
 - a) The number of answer books used
 - b) The question numbers answered in the order attempted
 8. Students must enter the following information on all used answer books:
 - a) Candidate number
 - b) Seat number
 9. Students must ensure that all answer books, supplementary books and any other materials to be submitted for marking (except MCQ cards) are secured in their examination envelope. MCQ cards should be handed in separately.
 10. When the time permitted for the examination has passed, students will be given one extra minute to prepare their examination envelopes and answer books for collection. When the end of the one minute allowance is announced students must stop writing immediately. It is examination misconduct to continue writing after the one minute allowance has passed.
 11. When time is called, students must not speak to other candidates and must remain silent in their seat until all examination envelopes have been collected.
 12. With the exception of those papers clearly marked not to be removed from the hall, students may take away their copy of the question paper. However students must not take out of the hall any used or unused examination envelopes, answer books, restricted question papers, or other items of examination stationery.
 13. If a student removes a completed examination envelope or answer book from the examination hall this will constitute examination misconduct and the work will not be marked.

4.12 Exam Answers

1. Students must write clearly in English, or the language specified for the examination.
2. Examiners may refuse to mark any answers which are deemed to be illegible. Where a script is illegible, the student will be required to re-write or type out an exact copy of their answers under examination conditions in the Department.
3. Students must read the examination instructions carefully, including any rubrics or instructions on how many questions to answer.
4. Students must cross through any work which they do not wish to be marked.
5. All rough work must be done in the answer book and crossed through; scrap paper must not be used.

4.13 Students Arriving Late for an Exam

1. Students arriving less than 45 minutes late will be allowed into the hall to sit the examination but will forfeit any time already elapsed. The student must report to an invigilator so that the time of arrival can be recorded and any instructions provided.
2. Students arriving more than 45 minutes late will not be allowed into the examination hall.
 - a) If the late arrival is due to illness or other valid Extenuating Circumstances (ECs) the student should submit an Extenuating Circumstances Form as soon as possible and no more than 7 calendar days after the exam. If the student is granted a Deferral it will take place at the next normal occasion (normally the Late summer Assessment Period). See Section 6: Extenuating Circumstances for more details.

- b) If there are no Extenuating Circumstances (ECs) the student will receive a mark of 0.00%/ Grade F and will be considered to have made an attempt (see Section 3.11: No Attempt or Minimal Attempt at Assessment). The student will be required to Resit at the next normal occasion (normally the Late Summer Assessment Period) or, if they fail in more than 60 credits the student will be required to Repeat the failed modules in the following academic session. See Section 11: Consequences of Failure for further details.

4.14 Leaving the Hall during an Exam

1. Students must not leave the hall during the first 45 minutes or the last 15 minutes of the examination. Toilet visits are not normally permitted during these times.
2. At all other times, students must not leave their seat without first seeking permission, except in cases of illness or emergency. Students must notify the invigilators by raising their hand if they have a query, feel unwell, need more stationery or the toilet, or want to leave the hall permanently after the first 45 minutes or before the last 15 minutes of the examination.
3. In case of illness or emergency, students must only leave their seat if accompanied by a member of invigilation staff.
4. All candidates must be accompanied on toilet visits and each visit will be recorded on the attendance sheet.
5. If a student wishes to leave the hall permanently after the first 45 minutes but before the designated finish time, they must raise their hand and remain in their seat until their examination envelope has been collected.

4.15 At the end of the Examination

1. Each examination will include 15 and 5 minute warning announcements.
2. Once the final 15 minute warning has been announced, students must remain in their seat until the examination envelopes for all candidates have been collected and students are told they may leave.
3. Students should leave the hall quickly and quietly when told to do so by the supervisor as there may be longer examinations taking place in the same hall.
4. Students must collect their valuables from the plastic wallet under their desk and place the empty wallet on their desk before leaving the hall.

4.16 Emergency Evacuation Procedure

1. In the event of an emergency, the hall supervisor will tell students to leave all materials on their desks and direct them to the nearest exit. Examination conditions will still apply and students must not speak to any other candidates on any topic.

4.17 Examination Misconduct

1. UCL takes matters of academic misconduct very seriously. Examples of actions that constitute examination misconduct include but are not limited to:
 - a) Cheating, attempting to cheat or assisting someone else to cheat
 - b) Having unauthorised items on or under the desk or about one's person
 - c) Writing before the start of the examination or after the one minute allowance has passed
 - d) Writing notes on hands, arms or other parts of the body
 - e) Leaving the hall unaccompanied or without permission
 - f) Tampering with examination envelopes, answer books, question papers or other examination stationery
 - g) Committing plagiarism or self-plagiarism

- h) Causing a disturbance or disrupting the examination process
- 2. Full details of what constitutes examination misconduct are located in Chapter 6, Section 9: Student Academic Misconduct Procedure.
- 3. Anyone suspected of academic misconduct will be reported to the UCL authorities and may be called to appear before a Student Academic Misconduct Panel. Penalties for academic misconduct include, but are not limited to, a mark of zero for the component or module concerned, and, for the most serious offences, exclusion from UCL.

5 Reasonable Adjustments

The Reasonable Adjustments regulations define how UCL supports students with a disability or long-term medical or mental health condition throughout their learning, teaching and assessment experience. They cover students at all levels of study, including taught and research students.

5.1 Overarching Principles

Principle 21: UCL must make reasonable adjustments to learning, teaching and assessment to support students with a disability or other ongoing medical or mental health condition.

Principle 22: Students should notify UCL of any such condition at the time of enrolment or as soon as possible thereafter so that UCL can put in place the support that the student needs.

5.2 Student Guide to Applying for Reasonable Adjustments

1. Declare a disability at application stage or during pre-enrolment and receive an invitation to complete an Applicant Support Questionnaire providing more information to the Disability, Mental Health and Wellbeing team in Student Support and Wellbeing (SSW) about your condition and support needs or
2. Contact the Disability, Mental Health and Wellbeing team directly at any stage during your studies to request a confidential 1:1 appointment.
3. Continue to liaise with the Disability, Mental Health and Wellbeing team via email or phone, or attend an appointment. A member of the Disability, Mental Health and Wellbeing team will discuss your support needs in more detail and agree appropriate follow-on actions, which may include:
 - Production of a Summary of Reasonable Adjustments (SORA)
 - Email liaison with your academic Department, Information Services (ISD) and/ or Library
 - Completion of an application for Examination Adjustments
 - Onward referral for non-medical help (e.g. specialist tuition, mental health mentoring, note-taking support)
4. Remain in contact with the Disability, Mental Health and Wellbeing team throughout your studies and request a review of support as and when you feel it is necessary.

5.3 Scope & Definitions

1. The Reasonable Adjustments regulations apply to all UCL Taught and Research students.
2. Under the Equality Act 2010, UCL is required to make Reasonable Adjustments to learning, teaching and assessment to ensure that disabled students are not put at a substantial disadvantage. UCL can also provide Reasonable Adjustments for students who might not consider themselves to have a 'disability' but who nevertheless would benefit from additional support with their studies due to an ongoing medical or mental health condition.
3. Under the Act, a disability is defined as a physical or mental impairment that has a substantial and long-term negative effect on a person's ability to do normal daily activities. 'Substantial' is more than minor or trivial, e.g. it takes much longer than it usually would to complete a daily task like getting dressed. 'Long-term' generally means the condition has lasted, or is likely to last, 12 months or more, although UCL also provides support for students with shorter-term conditions.
4. A disability can arise from a wide range of impairments which can include, but are not limited to:

- a) Specific learning difficulties (e.g. dyslexia, dyspraxia)
- b) Mental health difficulties (e.g. depression, anxiety, schizophrenia)
- c) Mobility difficulties (e.g. wheelchair users, back pain, hypermobility)
- d) Blindness or visual impairment
- e) Deafness or hearing impairment
- f) Autistic spectrum conditions (e.g. Asperger syndrome)
- g) Long-term health issues (e.g. diabetes, arthritis, cancer, HIV, autoimmune conditions)
- h) Progressive conditions (e.g. motor neurone disease, muscular dystrophy, forms of dementia)
- i) Fluctuating or recurring conditions (e.g. bipolar disorder, epilepsy, rheumatoid arthritis, myalgic encephalitis (ME), chronic fatigue syndrome (CFS))

5.4 Academic & Competency Standards

1. The aim of Reasonable Adjustments is to ensure that all students are able to demonstrate the full extent of their academic abilities, irrespective of a disability or long-term condition. All UCL programmes require students to reach specific academic standards in order to be awarded a UCL qualification and some also have particular Competency Standards associated with professional accreditation. UCL will not reduce or change those standards, but it is committed to ensuring that the methods of assessing those standards do not put disabled students at a disadvantage.

5.5 Support Available to Students

1. Reasonable Adjustments can take a wide range of forms and the Disability, Mental Health and Wellbeing team will work with the student to agree the best support for them. The Disability, Mental Health and Wellbeing team website provides detailed information about the types of support available for different conditions such as:
 - a) Additional tuition and library access for students with specific learning difficulties
 - b) Support mechanisms and workload planning for students with mental health difficulties
 - c) Ensuring there is physical access for students with mobility difficulties
 - d) Providing materials in an alternative format for students who are blind or have a visual impairment
 - e) Providing materials in an alternative format for students who are deaf or have a hearing impairment
 - f) Support mechanisms and workload planning for students with autistic spectrum conditions
 - g) Support mechanisms and workload planning for students with long-term health issues, progressive conditions, fluctuating conditions or recurring conditions
2. There are a number of other ways in which UCL can support students in addition to Reasonable Adjustments, including:

Examination Adjustments

3. Students may also apply for adjustments to central or departmental written examinations as a form of Reasonable Adjustment - see Section 4.3: Examination Adjustments.

Interruption of Study

4. Where a student is affected by adverse circumstances for an extended period of time they may decide to apply for an Interruption of Study - see Chapter 3, Section 5: Interruption of Study.

Support to Study Policy and Fitness to Study Procedure

5. Where a student's physical or mental health gives rise to concerns about their fitness to study, their capacity to engage with their studies and/ or their behaviour in relation to the UCL community as a whole, the Support to Study Policy and Fitness to Study Procedure may apply - see Chapter 6, Section 2: Support to Study and Chapter 6, Section 3: Fitness to Study Procedure.

Extenuating Circumstances

6. Students with Reasonable Adjustments may also need to use the Extenuating Circumstances (EC) regulations if they experience something sudden, unexpected, significantly disruptive and beyond their control and which affects their performance at assessment, such as a serious illness or the death of a close relative. Section 6: Extenuating Circumstances includes further details.

5.6 Longer-term Conditions

1. Ongoing medical or mental health conditions are not usually considered to fall within the definition of ECs because UCL supports the student through Reasonable Adjustments. However there may be times when a student with a disability or ongoing medical or mental health condition needs to use the Extenuating Circumstances procedures if they feel they need a one-off coursework extension, a Deferral of assessment or some other form of shorter-term help. Examples include, but are not limited to:
 - a) An acute episode or crisis
 - b) A serious worsening of their condition
 - c) A mental health problem which may fluctuate unpredictably
 - d) An acute flare-up of a mental health or medical condition due to increased exam stress
 - e) A new condition
 - f) Circumstances where there may be insufficient time to put Reasonable Adjustments in place
 - g) A severe long-term illness which can only be addressed by an extension, Deferral or other form of one-off mitigation.
2. Longer-term medical or mental health conditions can fall between the definition of a 'disability' and an 'Extenuating Circumstance'. In such cases it may be appropriate to support the student through a combination of both Reasonable Adjustments and Extenuating Circumstances. The options in Section 5.5 - such as Interruption of Study, Examination Adjustments and Fitness to Study - should also be considered. The principal aim should be to draw up a support package which provides the best level of care for the student concerned but which also ensures that arrangements uphold the academic standards of UCL and do not unfairly advantage or disadvantage any student over another.
3. If a student has questions about a longer-term condition or is unsure of which procedure to use, they should contact their Personal Tutor, Programme Leader, departmental administrator, the Disability, Mental Health and Wellbeing team or Student Psychological and Counselling Services who can help the student to assess the options open to them and provide assistance in completing the relevant forms.

5.7 Postgraduate Research Students

1. These Reasonable Adjustments regulations also apply to UCL Postgraduate Research students, including MPhil/ PhD, Professional Doctorate and MRes students. A student may need Reasonable Adjustments for some or all of the following:
 - a) Supervision meetings, seminars, tutorials and symposia
 - b) Field trips and study leave

- c) The upgrade meeting
 - d) Completion of the thesis and any other documentation or artefacts
 - e) The assessment of any taught components on the degree
 - f) The oral/viva examination
2. Where a student requires support they should follow the procedures outlined in this chapter, noting in particular the need to declare their condition (see Section 5.8) and to work with the Disability, Mental Health and Wellbeing team, their Supervisor and their Department to draw up a Summary of Reasonable Adjustments (SORA) (see Section 5.10).
 3. At the point of upgrade and final examination in particular, Supervisors and Examiners must ensure that the candidate's needs are taken into consideration. If staff or students have any questions about putting Reasonable Adjustments in place they should contact the Disability, Mental Health and Wellbeing team for advice.

5.8 Declaring a Condition

1. Students are responsible for declaring a disability or other long-term medical or mental health condition so that UCL can support them throughout their studies:
 - a) Students are strongly encouraged to declare their condition at the application stage or during pre-enrolment.
 - b) Students may also contact the Disability, Mental Health and Wellbeing team directly at any stage during their studies to request a confidential one-to-one appointment.

Confidentiality

2. Any information relating to a student's disability or Reasonable Adjustments is treated confidentially. Where information needs to be shared with members of the UCL community in order to facilitate support for the student, this will be done only with the student's consent and on a 'need-to-know' basis.

Full and Partial Declaration

3. Students are encouraged to fully declare their condition so that UCL can ensure that learning, teaching and assessment processes are adjusted to their needs. A full declaration means that all UCL staff directly involved in the student's education have access to information about the adjustments which need to be made.
4. Students do have the option of only partially declaring their condition. This means that the student chooses which members of staff have access to information about their adjustments or chooses what details are disclosed. However, if a student only partially declares a condition UCL may not be able to offer the student all the support that they need.

Non-disclosure

5. Where a student does not declare a condition, UCL will not be able to offer any support.

5.9 Accessing Support

1. Where a student declares a condition at application or pre-enrolment, they will be invited to complete an Applicant Support Questionnaire giving UCL more information about their condition and support needs. Alternatively, any student may request a confidential one-to-one appointment with a member of the Disability, Mental Health and Wellbeing team at any time during their studies to discuss their needs.

Medical Evidence

2. Students will be asked for medical evidence so that UCL can assess their needs and arrange Reasonable Adjustments. Student Support and Wellbeing's Medical Evidence Guidance provides further information and advice.

Follow-on Actions

3. On receipt of the Applicant Support Questionnaire, or following initial contact from the student, the Disability, Mental Health and Wellbeing team will liaise with the student, via email, phone or one-to-one appointments, to discuss their support needs in more detail and agree appropriate follow-on actions, such as:
 - a) Production of a Summary of Reasonable Adjustments (SORA) (Section 5.10)
 - b) Email liaison with the student's Department, Information Services (ISD) or Library
 - c) Completion of an application for Examination Adjustments (Section 4.3)
 - d) Onward referral for non-medical help (e.g. specialist tuition, mental health mentoring, note-taking support).

5.10 Summary of Reasonable Adjustments (SORA)

1. All students with a disability or long-term condition should work with the Disability, Mental Health and Wellbeing team and their Departmental Disability Officer to draw up a Summary of Reasonable Adjustments (SORA). There are a number of different SORA templates for different purposes; the Disability, Mental Health and Wellbeing team will decide which template is most appropriate.
2. The SORA should take into account both the student's needs and the curriculum on their specific programme of study, helping to ensure that adjustments are appropriate to the activities which a student will be undertaking, such as lab work, field trips, coursework, examinations etc.
3. The student may decide:
 - a) Whether or not to involve the Departmental Disability Officer in this process.
 - b) Whether or not to involve their tutor, module organiser, supervisor, programme leader or other academic or professional staff in this process.
 - c) How much information they want to disclose about their condition or adjustments.
4. Students must note that, if they choose not to disclose information, UCL may not be able to offer the student all the support that they need.
5. Once the SORA has been agreed with the student, it will be shared with the appropriate Department(s) or service(s), taking account of the student's preferences for the disclosure of information.
6. If a Department or service has any queries about the recommendations they should contact the Disability, Mental Health and Wellbeing team for advice.

Assessments taking place before the SORA is agreed

7. The start of the academic year is always a busy time for the Disability, Mental Health and Wellbeing team and it may not be possible to give students an appointment as quickly as we would like. Where a student provides evidence that they have made an appointment with the Disability, Mental Health and Wellbeing team but is yet to be seen, the Faculty Extenuating Circumstances Panel may use its discretion to allow students with a disability or other long-term condition additional time or other Reasonable Adjustments - see Section 6: Extenuating Circumstances for details of how to apply.

5.11 Changes in a Student's Condition

1. Where a student's condition is relatively stable, adjustments can be agreed for the whole of their time with UCL. However, a student's condition can fluctuate or worsen over time and they might need different levels of support at different times. The Disability, Mental Health and Wellbeing team will try to take these fluctuations into account in the SORA, but there may be a need to review the student's adjustments at regular points during their programme.
2. Students are responsible for considering their needs regularly and must contact the Disability, Mental Health and Wellbeing team if they think that any changes need to be made to their SORA.

5.12 Extensions as a Form of Reasonable Adjustment

1. Reasonable Adjustments include a wide range of options to support students which can be much more effective than regular extensions. Extensions can mean that a student falls behind fellow students and they often clash with other deadlines and teaching activities. However there may be times when the Disability, Mental Health and Wellbeing team recommends that a student needs regular extensions to support their condition. If this is considered to be an appropriate adjustment for the student, this should be explicitly stated in the SORA.
2. Such students do not need to complete a separate EC Form. Departments and Module Organisers should assume that the student is using the extended deadline on all eligible assessments unless the student informs them otherwise.
3. If a Department or Module Organiser has concerns about granting an extension – for example if it is likely to impact on the student’s ability to attend teaching activities or complete other assessments – the Department should liaise with the student and with the Disability, Mental Health and Wellbeing team to agree the deadline for submission.
4. If extensions are not explicitly included in a student’s SORA then the same regulations around extensions apply to that student as to all other students i.e. they must submit an EC Form under the regulations in Section 6: Extenuating Circumstances.

5.13 Attendance Requirements

Covid-19 2020/21:

UCL has agreed that the 70% attendance requirement will be suspended for the 2020-21 academic session due to the Covid-19 pandemic. Therefore, students will not be barred from module assessments on the basis of attendance.

1. Any student on a Student Visa who is absent from UCL must obtain authorisation under the procedures set out in Chapter 3, Section 3.2: Authorised Absence for Students on a Student Visa.

5.14 Study Abroad

1. The Disability, Mental Health and Wellbeing team can provide advice on Reasonable Adjustments for students on a Study Abroad Year, and will work with the receiving institution, subject to the student’s consent, to ensure that details of support requirements are communicated.

5.15 Placements & Occupational Health

1. Where a programme includes a professional placement, such as teacher training or a health care placement, students are required to declare any condition which might impact on their ability to undertake the placement at the application stage or during pre-enrolment.
2. If any health-related issues arise during a student’s programme, the student can contact Occupational Health and Wellbeing (OHW) directly for a confidential one-to-one appointment at any time. The student’s tutor or Programme Leader may also refer the student to OHW using the Student Referral Form.
3. Where a student declares a condition, OHW will invite the student to an appointment to discuss their support needs. OHW will draw up a report giving suggestions on the support and adjustments that the placement provider may wish to consider. The placement provider, tutor and/ or programme leader are responsible for determining whether the adjustments are justified, reasonable and feasible in that environment.

4. Faculties or Departments may publish local Fitness to Practise policies covering students on professional placements on their programmes. Policies should be published on the Faculty/ Departmental website and communicated to students.

5.16 Student Parents and Carers

1. UCL can provide a range of Reasonable Adjustments for students who are pregnant, going on maternity, paternity, adoption or parental leave, or who have other caring responsibilities.
2. Support is not provided via a Statement of Reasonable Adjustments. Students and Departments should instead refer to UCL's Support for Pregnant Students policy in the first instance. Advice and guidance is also available from Student Support & Wellbeing.
3. The standard adjustment for maternity, paternity, adoption and parental leave is for the student to take a year out via an Interruption of Study following to the procedures in Chapter 3, Section 5: Interruption of Study.
4. Students are expected to consider their needs and discuss adjustments with their Department as far in advance as possible. Pregnancy, maternity, paternity, adoption, parental leave and day-to-day caring responsibilities are not normally considered to meet the definition of Extenuating Circumstances because, typically, they are known about in advance. However sudden, unexpected difficulties in pregnancy or childbirth, or unexpected caring responsibilities can be considered. See Section 6: Extenuating Circumstances for further details.

5.17 Religious Observance

1. UCL can provide a range of Reasonable Adjustments to help students observe their religious beliefs.
2. Support is not provided via a Statement of Reasonable Adjustments. Students and Departments should instead refer to UCL's Religion and Belief Equality Policy in the first instance. Advice and guidance is also available from the Chaplain and Interfaith Advisor to UCL.

5.18 Accommodation & other Non-academic Services

1. These Reasonable Adjustments regulations cover UCL's provisions for learning, teaching and assessment. However students with a disability or long-term condition may also need Reasonable Adjustments to access accommodation or other UCL services. Students can discuss their needs with the Disability, Mental Health and Wellbeing team or Student Support & Wellbeing as part of their application for academic Reasonable Adjustments, or they can contact the Disability, Mental Health and Wellbeing team or SSW directly for a confidential one-to-one appointment at any time during their studies.

6 Extenuating Circumstances

The Extenuating Circumstances regulations define how UCL can support students who experience sudden, unexpected difficulties which affect their performance at assessment.

6.1 Overarching Principles

Principle 23: Students must notify UCL of any circumstances which are sudden, unexpected, significantly disruptive and beyond the student's control and which may affect their performance at assessment, such as a serious illness or the death of a close relative.

Principle 24: UCL should ensure that alternative arrangements are put in place for such students, such as an extension or Deferral of assessment to a later date.

6.2 Student Guide to Applying for Extenuating Circumstances

1. Check whether your circumstances are covered by these procedures – we may be able to support you better through Reasonable Adjustments, Examination Adjustments or an Interruption of Study.
2. Complete an Extenuating Circumstances Form and obtain supporting evidence from a doctor or other appropriate authority.

Deadline for submitting a claim

3. Submit your form and evidence within one week of the circumstance taking place.
4. Forms and evidence should be submitted to your home Department/ Faculty office which will forward your application, confidentially, to the appropriate person.
5. Requests for extensions of up to one week can be approved by your Programme Leader, Departmental Tutor or Exam Board Chair who will try to respond to your request as soon as possible.
6. Your Faculty or Departmental EC Panel will consider all other types of mitigation, including:
 - Coursework extensions of more than one week
 - Suspending the late submission penalties
 - Deferral (postponement) of assessment, either with or without tuition
7. If the above options are not possible, other mitigation options may also be considered by the EC Panel – please refer to the full EC regulations for more details.
8. Your request will be considered at the next meeting of the EC Panel, or by Chair's Action if your deadline is imminent. The panel will contact you with the outcome of your request within one week of the meeting.

6.3 Scope & Definitions

1. The Extenuating Circumstances (EC) regulations apply to the summative assessment of all UCL taught students and to postgraduate research students undertaking taught components/ modules.
2. Extenuating Circumstances are defined as circumstances which are sudden, unexpected, significantly disruptive and beyond the student's control and which may affect their performance at assessment, such as a serious illness or the death of a close relative. Further guidance about the types of circumstances which are generally considered to be extenuating can be found in Annex 4.1.1: Grounds for Extenuating Circumstances.
3. UCL does not operate a 'Fit to Sit' Policy. Students are strongly advised not to sit an examination if they feel unwell but, if they decide to do so, UCL will still consider EC

Requests if the student feels that their performance in the assessment has been seriously impaired. Mitigation should, however, be limited to a deferral of the assessment to the next normal occasion without penalty. Marks must not be changed in any circumstances.

Information for Students

4. Departments must ensure that information about procedures, forms, evidence and deadlines for submission are published in the Student Handbook or equivalent from the start of the academic year and in the information provided for students about their assessment (see Section 2: Assessment Information).

Authorised Absence for Students on a Student Visa

5. These regulations seek to ensure that a student's performance is not adversely impacted by an EC at assessment. In addition, any student who is studying at UCL on a Student Visa and who is absent from UCL must obtain authorisation under the procedures set out in Chapter 3, Section 3.2: Authorised Absence for Students on a Student Visa.

Intercollegiate and Affiliate Students

6. Incoming intercollegiate and affiliate students may use these UCL procedures for a coursework extension. For any other form of mitigation, such students are normally subject to the procedures at their home institution.
7. UCL students studying modules at other colleges are subject to these UCL procedures, although the receiving institution may provide some forms of mitigation, such as an extension, in consultation with the relevant UCL EC Panel. Students should ensure that their request makes clear that mitigation is being sought for an intercollegiate module and appropriate mitigation should be agreed with the receiving institution.

ECs 'Banked' from Previous Years

8. Students with ECs 'banked' under the previous UCL EC regulations (i.e. students who submitted an EC in 2014-15 or earlier) should still have these circumstances taken into consideration by the Board of Examiners. Any new requests made by such students will only be considered under the regulations herein i.e. no further ECs can be 'banked'.

Multiple Requests for the Same Condition

9. Where a student submits repeat requests for the same condition, the Faculty/ Departmental EC Panel may use its discretion to continue to accept the requests or to reject a request and instead require the student to apply for Reasonable Adjustments – see Section 5. Where the EC Panel feels that this is necessary, the normal course of action is to accept the EC request in hand but warn the student that further requests for the same condition are unlikely to be permitted.

Group Work

10. Where a student is affected by ECs and is working in a group, the EC Panel or Programme Team should use their discretion to consider the impact on other students in the group, for example if the EC prevents the group from meeting a deadline or from completing the required work.

6.4 Support Available to Students

1. There are a number of other ways in which UCL can support students in addition to the EC procedures, including:

Interruption of Study

2. Where a student is affected by adverse circumstances for an extended period of time they may decide to apply for an Interruption of Study - see Chapter 3, Section 5: Interruption of Study.
3. If a module, component or assessment has already been affected by Extenuating Circumstances in the period leading up to the interruption, students must also submit a separate EC claim if they wish to access a Deferral with or without Tuition to cover the affected period. Students should ensure that they complete the Interruption of Study section of the EC Form.

Support to Study Policy and Fitness to Study Procedure

4. Where a student's physical or mental health gives rise to concerns about their fitness to study, their capacity to engage with their studies and/ or their behaviour in relation to the UCL community as a whole, the Support to Study Policy and Fitness to Study Procedure may apply - see Chapter 6, Section 2: Support to Study and Chapter 6, Section 3: Fitness to Study Procedure.

Reasonable Adjustments

5. Students with a disability or ongoing medical or mental health condition should ensure that they apply for Reasonable Adjustments as this allows UCL to support them throughout their learning and assessment - see Section 5: Reasonable Adjustments.

Examination Adjustments

6. Students may also apply for adjustments to central or departmental written examinations as a form of Reasonable Adjustment - see Section 4.3: Examination Adjustments.

6.5 Longer-term Conditions

1. Ongoing medical or mental health conditions are not usually considered to fall within the definition of ECs because UCL supports the student through Reasonable Adjustments (see Section 5). However there may be times when a student with a disability or ongoing medical or mental health condition needs to use the Extenuating Circumstances procedures if they feel they need a one-off coursework extension, a Deferral of assessment or some other form of shorter-term help. Examples include, but are not limited to:
 - a) An acute episode or crisis
 - b) A serious worsening of their condition
 - c) A mental health problem which may fluctuate unpredictably
 - d) An acute flare-up of a mental health or medical condition due to increased exam stress
 - e) A new condition
 - f) Circumstances where there may be insufficient time to put Reasonable Adjustments in place
 - g) A severe long-term illness which can only be addressed by an extension, Deferral or other form of one-off mitigation.
2. Longer-term medical or mental health conditions can fall between the definition of a 'disability' and an 'Extenuating Circumstance'. In such cases it may be appropriate to support the student through a combination of both Reasonable Adjustments and Extenuating Circumstances. The options in Section 6.4 above - such as Interruption of Study, Examination Adjustments and Fitness to Study - should also be considered. The principal aim should be to draw up a support package which provides the best level of care for the student concerned but which also ensures that arrangements uphold the academic standards of UCL and do not unfairly advantage or disadvantage any student over another.
3. If a student has questions about a longer-term condition or is unsure of which procedure to use, they should contact their Personal Tutor, Programme Leader, departmental administrator, the Disability, Mental Health and Wellbeing team in Student Support and Wellbeing (SSW) or Student Psychological and Counselling Services who can help the student to assess the options open to them and provide assistance in completing the relevant forms.

Extensions

4. There may be times when the Disability, Mental Health and Wellbeing team recommends that a student with a disability or long-term condition needs regular extensions to coursework deadlines. If this is considered to be an appropriate adjustment for the student, this should be explicitly stated in the Summary of Reasonable Adjustments (SORA). Such students do not need to submit a separate EC Form for each assessment - see Section 5.12: Extensions as a Form of Reasonable Adjustment for further details.
5. If extensions are not explicitly included in a student's SORA then the same regulations around extensions apply to that student as to all other students i.e. they are subject to these Extenuating Circumstances regulations.

6.6 Confidentiality and Data Security

1. Departments and Faculties must take steps to assure the security of sensitive student information, using encryption, password protection and/ or secure platforms to share data in accordance with UCL's GDPR Data Protection Policy.
2. Any information relating to a student's EC must be treated confidentially. This means that sensitive information must only be accessible to the relevant Programme Leader/ Departmental Tutor/ Chair of Board of Examiners and the members and secretary of the home Faculty or Departmental EC Panel.
3. Communications to any other parties must only describe the form of mitigation which has been agreed and must not disclose any details of the circumstance itself. To facilitate this, the EC Form is divided into five sections:
 - Part 1: Student Details
 - Part 2: Assessments Affected
 - Part 3: Details of the EC, including details of any associated application to Interrupt Studies
 - Part 4: Supporting Evidence
 - Part 5: Decision
4. The person or body responsible for approving the request must ensure that only Parts 1, 2 and 5 are included in communications to the teaching Department/College, examboards@ucl.ac.uk (where applicable) or any other body which needs to know about the mitigation required.
5. Once approved, the full EC Form (Parts 1 to 5 inclusive) should be sent to the secretary of the home Faculty or Departmental Extenuating Circumstances Panel for secure and confidential record-keeping.
6. If a student is concerned about disclosing particularly sensitive circumstances to a Departmental EC Panel or their Programme Leader/ Departmental Tutor/ Chair of Board of Examiners, they may ask that their request is considered by the Faculty Extenuating Circumstances Panel.

6.7 Evidence

UCL has approved an enhanced Extenuating Circumstances (EC) Procedure for 2020-21. Students will be allowed to self-certify within defined parameters. Please refer to the Enhanced Extenuating Circumstances procedure for 2020-21 for full details.

1. All EC requests must be supported by written evidence from an appropriate, independent and verifiable authority such as:
 - a) A registered medical practitioner (i.e. listed in the GMC's List of Registered Medical Practitioners or an equivalent overseas body)
 - b) UCL Student Psychological and Counselling Services (SPCS)
 - c) A solicitor
 - d) An undertaker or coroner
 - e) A registrar of births, marriages and deaths
 - f) A police or fire officer
 - g) A court or tribunal officer
2. Evidence must cover the full period for which the student is requesting mitigation.
3. Evidence must be provided in English or accompanied by a translation formally notarised by a solicitor.
4. UCL recognises that it can be very difficult to be asked for 'evidence' in the case of very sensitive circumstances such as the death of a close relative or sexual assault, or in the case of sudden short term severe illnesses such as food poisoning. In such cases, the Faculty EC Panel may exercise its discretion to suspend the need for formal evidence (this cannot be delegated to a Departmental EC Panel or Programme Leader/ Departmental Tutor/ BoE Chair). However the Faculty EC Panel retains the right to require the student to submit formal evidence to support their request.

Students with a Disability or Long-term Medical or Mental Health Condition

5. Where a student is already in touch with the Disability, Mental Health and Wellbeing team or Student Psychological and Counselling Services, their Summary of Reasonable Adjustments (SORA) may be used as supporting evidence.
6. UCL Student Psychological and Counselling Services (SPCS) may be able to provide evidence for students who have had an appointment with the service. SPCS can only provide evidence covering the period for which the student is seeking mitigation and cannot provide evidence retrospectively.
7. If a student has not had an appointment with SPCS they will need to obtain evidence from a registered medical practitioner.

Late Evidence

8. If a student is unable to obtain the necessary evidence within the deadlines stated herein they must still submit their form on time and indicate that their evidence is to follow. However, a decision cannot be made until evidence is received.

6.8 Applying for an Extension of Up to One Week

1. A Programme Leader (or equivalent), Departmental Tutor or Exam Board Chair may approve a coursework extension of up to one week.
2. Other members of staff are not able to approve an extension.
3. Where a student with a disability or long-term condition needs regular extensions to coursework deadlines this should be explicitly stated in the Summary of Reasonable Adjustments (SORA). Such students do not need to submit a separate EC Form for each assessment. If extensions are not explicitly included in a student's SORA the student will need to complete an EC Form according to these procedures.

How to Apply

4. Students should submit an EC Form, together with appropriate supporting evidence as described in Section 6.7 above, as soon as possible and no more than one week after the Extenuating Circumstance has taken place, to their home Department/ Faculty office. Student handbooks/ Moodle should include clear details of where to submit forms.
5. Where a student is unable to submit a request within these deadlines because the EC is still ongoing, they should refer to Section 6.11: Late EC Requests.
6. Students are responsible for submitting a request. If they are unable to make an application for themselves, their next of kin may submit a request on their behalf. A member of staff is not permitted to submit a request on a student's behalf. However where a student is severely affected by their condition, or having difficulties with the process, a tutor or other member of staff may assist the student in completing their form, or may refer the student to Student Support & Wellbeing, the Disability, Mental Health and Wellbeing team or Student Psychological and Counselling Services for assistance.
7. Where the request relates to a module taken outside of the student's home Faculty or Department, they must include the name of the teaching Department and clear information about the assessment concerned on their EC Form.

Approval

8. The receiving office should forward the request to the relevant member of staff as soon as possible.
9. The member of staff should consider the request and the evidence presented with reference to Annex 4.1.1: Grounds for Extenuating Circumstances and make a decision as to whether an extension can be granted.
10. Where an extension is agreed, the new deadline must be communicated to the student in writing as soon as possible.
11. Where a Programme Leader, Departmental Tutor or Chair of the Board of Examiners approves a request, the new deadline should also be communicated to the teaching Department/ College.
12. Where an extension is not granted, the decision must be communicated to the student in writing as soon as possible. Such students retain the right to submit a request for other forms of mitigation for consideration by the Faculty/ Departmental EC Panel.
13. Communications must include only the form of mitigation which has been agreed (i.e. Parts 1 and 5 of the EC Form) and should not include details of the EC itself.

Record-keeping

14. Once a decision has been made, all completed request forms should be forwarded to the secretary of the relevant Faculty/ Departmental EC Panel for confidential and secure record-keeping.

6.9 Applying for all other Types of Mitigation

6.9.1 How to Apply

1. All other forms of mitigation beyond a one week extension must be considered by the Faculty or Departmental Extenuating Circumstances Panel.
2. Students should submit an EC Form, together with appropriate supporting evidence as described in Section 6.7 above, as soon as possible and no more than one week after the Extenuating Circumstance has taken place, to their home Department/ Faculty office - student handbooks/ Moodle should include clear details of where to submit forms.

3. Where a student is unable to submit a request within these deadlines because the EC is still ongoing, they should refer to Section 6.11: Late EC Requests.
4. The EC Form asks students to indicate which type of mitigation they are seeking. This information will be used to determine how the request is processed but in no way determines the outcome of the request. The type of mitigation offered is entirely at the discretion of UCL.
5. Students are responsible for submitting a request. If they are unable to make an application for themselves, their next of kin may submit a request on their behalf. A member of staff is not permitted to submit a request on a student's behalf. However where a student is severely affected by their condition, or having difficulties with the process, a tutor or other member of staff may assist the student in completing their form, or may refer the student to Student Support & Wellbeing, the Disability, Mental Health and Wellbeing team or Student Psychological and Counselling Services for assistance.
6. Where the request relates to a module taken outside of the student's home Faculty or Department, they must include the name of the teaching Department and clear information about the assessment concerned on their EC Form.
7. The receiving office should forward the EC Form to the secretary of the relevant Faculty or Departmental EC Panel (see Annex 4.1.2: EC Panel Contact Details).

6.9.2 Types of Mitigation

1. The EC Panel will consider the request and the evidence presented with reference to Annex 4.1.1: Grounds for Extenuating Circumstances.
2. For interdepartmental or intercollegiate modules, the type of mitigation must also be discussed with the teaching Department/ College to ensure that the mitigation is possible within, and appropriate to, the curriculum. The details of the EC itself should not be disclosed.
3. The EC Panel should determine whether one of the following types of mitigation can be provided:
 - a) To offer the student a specified extended deadline.
 - b) To suspend the late submission penalties.
 - c) To offer the student a Deferral either with or without Tuition i.e. the opportunity to sit/ submit the assessment as if for the first time and without penalty, including where the student has already made an assessment attempt – see Section 6.10: Deferred Assessment for further details.
4. If the EC Panel agrees that the options in paragraphs 3a) to 3c) will not provide sufficient mitigation for a student, the Panel may determine that one of the following types of mitigation can be provided:
 - a) Subject to consultation with the Programme Leader and approval by the External Examiner, to offer the student an alternative method of assessment which allows the student to demonstrate achievement of the same learning outcomes.
 - b) To exclude the affected component from the Requirements to Pass a Module and/ or the module mark calculation, up to a maximum of 50% of a module, where Professional, Statutory and Regulatory Bodies permit.
 - c) To permit the student to spread their assessments between two examination periods without penalty.
5. In exceptional circumstances, if the EC Panel agrees that the options in paragraphs 4a) to 4c) will not provide sufficient mitigation for a student, the Panel may determine that one or more of the following types of mitigation can be provided:
 - a) To exclude the affected module from the Progression or Award Requirements up to a maximum of 30 credits, provided that any Professional, Statutory and Regulatory Bodies permit such an exclusion.
 - b) Exceptionally, where more than 30 credits is affected and no other form of mitigation is viable, the EC Panel Chair may refer the case to UCL Academic Services who may permit a higher number of excluded credits on behalf of the Vice-Provost (Education & Student Affairs).

- c) To exclude the affected module from the Classification calculation, up to a maximum of 30 credits across the whole programme.
 - d) For students still undertaking Deferrals or Reassessments for modules first attempted in or before the 2017-18 academic session, the EC Panel may also consider excluding the affected component or module from the Undergraduate Completion Requirements.
6. The EC Panel may also consider Extenuating Circumstances in relation to an Interruption of Study under the procedures in Chapter 3, Section 5 and approve one of the following:
 - a) A Deferral without Tuition to cover any assessments immediately prior to the period of interruption which have been affected by Extenuating Circumstances (e.g. the assessment was missed, or performance in the assessment was affected).
 - b) A Deferral with Tuition to cover any lectures, seminars, tutorials, supervision or other teaching events immediately prior to the period of interruption which have been affected by Extenuating Circumstances.
 7. The EC Panel should determine the student's eligibility for a Deferral; the person approving the interruption should then determine the formal Date of Interruption and Date of Return for the Interruption of Study Application (see Chapter 3, Section 5: Interruption of Study).
 8. If the EC Panel agrees that more evidence is required, the student should be asked to provide the additional evidence within a further two weeks. Where no further evidence is received, the EC Panel should reject the request and notify the student in writing.

6.9.3 Communication of Outcomes

1. Students should be informed of the mitigation decision in writing within one week of the EC Panel meeting.
2. Within one week of the Panel meeting, the FECP/ DECP secretary should also communicate the mitigation decision for each affected module to:
 - e) The relevant Board of Examiners
 - f) In the case of interdepartmental or intercollegiate modules, the relevant teaching Department or College
 - g) If the student is granted a Deferral, examboards@ucl.ac.uk
 - h) If an alternative method of assessment is recommended, UCL Examinations and the teaching Department
 - i) If a component or module exclusion is recommended, examboards@ucl.ac.uk.
3. Communications must only include the form of mitigation which has been agreed (i.e. Parts 1 and 5 of the EC Form) and should not include details of the EC itself.

6.9.4 Board of Examiners

1. The Board of Examiners (BoE) is responsible for applying the FECP/ DECP's decision, recalculating any results, confirming module marks and determining whether the student may progress or graduate.
2. The BoE should receive only the mitigation decision (Parts 1 and 5 of the EC Form). Only the Chair and Secretary of the BoE should have access to the full EC Form (Parts 1 to 5 inclusive) in order to verify information.
3. In order to respect the sensitive nature of students' circumstances and to ensure that the academic standards of UCL are upheld, the BoE must ensure that:
 - a) Only ECs validated by the Faculty/ Departmental EC Panel are received
 - b) New cases are not raised at the meeting of the Board
 - c) The nature or severity of the EC is not discussed
 - d) Marks are not adjusted in any circumstances
 - e) Students are not raised from a fail to a pass
4. Students should refer to Section 14: Award of Degrees for information about when they can expect to receive their formal results following the BoE meeting.

6.10 Deferred Assessment

6.10.1 Scope & Definitions

1. A Deferral is the opportunity to sit an assessment as if for the first time and without penalty as a form of mitigation for students with Extenuating Circumstances.
2. A Deferral should be undertaken without tuition.
3. A Deferral may be taken with tuition where a student:
 - a) Has missed a large amount of teaching, and/or
 - b) Has failed or failed to complete a large number of credits due to ECs, and/or
 - c) Has ECs on a second attempt.
4. Where a student passes a Deferral of a first attempt the student must receive the full mark for all components and modules (marks must not be capped).
5. Where a student passes a Deferral of a second attempt (i.e. a Deferral of a Resit or Repeat), the module mark(s) must be capped at the Pass Mark (Section 3.7). Students should refer to Section 11: Consequences of Failure for full details of the regulations around Resits and Repeats.
6. Deferrals must be available to students at all levels of study, including finalists.
7. A Deferral may be offered to a student who has already made an assessment attempt. The mark from the original attempt will be disregarded and the student will be offered the opportunity to sit the assessment as if for the first time. The Progression and Award Requirements, including any rules around Condonement, must not be applied until the student has undertaken the Deferral.
8. Deferrals may not be possible for students who are unable to complete an Extra-Mural Study Abroad or Placement Year. Where such a Deferral is not possible, students must transfer to an equivalent programme without a Study Abroad or Placement requirement.
9. A Deferral must be completed within two years of initial registration on the module or, where a module is substituted, within two years of initial registration on the substituted module.
10. The Faculty/ Departmental EC Panel must communicate the decision to offer a Deferral, with or without tuition, to the Board of Examiners.
11. The Board of Examiners must implement the decision, confirm the date of the next assessment, and ensure that the student's Portico registration is amended.
12. Decisions relating to Deferred Assessments must be honoured regardless of any volume of credit failed and dealt with under the Consequences of Failure provisions. The number of deferred credits must not be added to failed credits when considering whether students should Resit or Repeat.

6.10.2 Deferral without Tuition

Timing of the Deferral

1. A Deferral without Tuition should be scheduled as per the regulations in Section 11.4: Resitting a Module.
2. Up to a maximum of 30 credits, a student with ECs extending beyond the Late Summer Assessment Period, may be permitted to Provisionally Progress onto the next year of study and to undertake a Deferral without Tuition in tandem. Such students must successfully pass the Deferral and meet the Progression requirements before they will be permitted to progress to any subsequent years of study or be considered for an Award. See Section 9.4: Provisional Progression for further details.
3. Where a Deferral without Tuition is needed as part of a student's Interruption of Study, the Deferred Assessment may take place at a later date, after the student has returned to UCL.

Requirements and Entitlements

4. Students should be assessed in the module component(s) affected by the EC.
5. Students should not attend any additional lectures, seminars or other teaching activities. They may be offered, but are not automatically entitled to, additional tutorials or supervision.
6. Students must not be charged an additional fee for deferring the assessment.

7. Students should have access to UCL's facilities such as the library and other learning resources, although there may be limited availability of some resources during UCL vacation periods.
8. Students must be entitled to the Reasonable Adjustments provisions for students with disabilities and other long-term medical or mental health conditions.
9. Students should undertake the Deferral before they commence any Study Abroad Year or Placement Year.

Format of the Deferral

10. Students must be assessed under the syllabus in place for the original assessment.
11. Students should be assessed by the same Method used for the original assessment (e.g. essay, exam, practical etc.). Where assessment by the same Method is difficult or impossible, a Board of Examiners may set a different Method of assessment. The alternative Method must:
 - a) Allow students to demonstrate achievement of the learning outcomes to the same extent as the original assessment, and
 - b) Be approved by the External Examiner, preferably at the point of Programme and/ or Module Approval.
12. The Board of Examiners must determine whether Deferral students will be assessed in the same Task (e.g. the same essay topic) or whether a new Task will be set (e.g. a new essay question or new exam paper). Any new assessment Task must:
 - a) Allow students to demonstrate achievement of the learning outcomes to the same extent as the original task, and
 - b) Be approved by the External Examiner, preferably at the same time as the original task/ paper.
13. Students cannot substitute a module with an alternative module because the Deferral includes no tuition.

6.10.3 Deferral with Tuition

Timing of the Deferral

1. A Deferral with Tuition should take place in the following academic session.
2. Up to a maximum of 30 credits, a student may be permitted to Provisionally Progress and to undertake a Deferral with Tuition in tandem with the next year of study. Such students must successfully complete the Deferral and meet the Progression requirements before enrolling on any subsequent years of study or being considered for an Award. See Section 9.4: Provisional Progression for further details. A student who is offered a Deferral with Tuition in more than 30 credits must not commence the next year of study until the Deferrals are complete.
3. Where a Deferral with Tuition is needed as part of a student's Interruption of Study, the Deferral may take place in a subsequent academic session, after the student has returned to UCL.

Requirements and Entitlements

4. Students should be assessed in all the components of the affected module(s).
5. Students must re-enrol on the affected module(s) in the following academic session, attend all teaching activities and are entitled to the standard tuition and supervision provisions on the module(s).
6. Students must not be charged an additional fee for deferring the assessment except for any fees to be incurred in respect of additional tuition which must be charged pro-rata to the credit value of the modules.
7. Students must have full access to UCL's facilities such as the library and other learning resources.

8. Students must be entitled to the Reasonable Adjustments provisions for students with disabilities and other long-term medical or mental health conditions.
9. Students should undertake the Deferral before they commence any Study Abroad Year or Placement Year.

Format of the Deferral

10. The components and/ or syllabus of the affected module(s) may be different if the programme or module has changed between years of study. Students must be assessed in the components and syllabus of the new year.

Substitution of Modules

11. Subject to approval by the Departmental Tutor, a student may apply to substitute up to 30 credits of modules with one or more alternative modules in any one academic session, up to a maximum of 60 credits across the whole programme.
12. If a programme has changed between years of study, or a module will not be running, the Departmental Tutor may permit a student to substitute more than 30 credits per year, or more than 60 credits across the programme, with one or more alternative modules.
13. The substitute module(s) must satisfy the programme requirements in terms of credit-weighting and academic level. Students must not take modules from a subsequent year of study in advance.
14. The substitute module(s) must be treated as a Deferral attempt:
 - a) Where a student passes a Deferral of a first attempt the student must receive the full mark for all components and modules (marks must not be capped).
 - b) Where a student passes a Deferral of a second attempt (i.e. a Deferral of a Resit or Repeat), the module mark(s) must be capped at the Pass Mark (Section 3.7). Students should refer to Section 11: Consequences of Failure for full details of the regulations around Resits and Repeats.
15. All approved applications for substitutions must be submitted to examboards@ucl.ac.uk who will confirm that the substitutions are possible and amend the student's record.

6.10.4 Extenuating Circumstances on a Deferral Attempt

1. If a student experiences further Extenuating Circumstances on their Deferral attempt, they must submit a new EC Form.
2. Students should, however, be aware that multiple requests for the same Extenuating Circumstances may not be accepted if they do not meet the criteria of being sudden, unexpected and beyond the student's control. Where a student has a longer-term difficulty, they must contact the Disability, Mental Health and Wellbeing team or Student Psychological and Counselling Services as early as possible so that UCL can support them effectively throughout their studies via the provisions in Section 5: Reasonable Adjustments.

6.11 Late EC Requests

1. If a student is unable to obtain the necessary evidence within the deadlines stated they should still submit their EC Form on time and indicate that their evidence is to follow. However, a decision cannot be made until evidence is received.
2. Where a student is physically or psychologically unable to submit their EC Form within the specified deadline because the EC is still ongoing, and the Board of Examiners has not yet made a decision, the person or body responsible for considering the request may use their discretion to consider the late request following the standard procedures outlined above.
3. Where a student is physically or psychologically unable to submit their form within the specified deadline because the EC is still ongoing, and the Board of Examiners has already made a decision, the student may be able to request a review of the Board's decision:
 - a) Students should submit a request for review no more than two weeks after receiving their formal results. The student handbook/ Moodle page for each UCL programme must specify where student requests are to be submitted; requests for review should be submitted to the same location.
 - b) The receiving office should forward the request to the FECP Chair who will review the case. This function must not be delegated to a Departmental EC Panel.
 - c) Where the FECP Chair agrees that there are valid grounds for late submission of the request (i.e. it was physically or psychologically impossible for the student to submit it on time and/ or before the Board of Examiners) the FECP Chair should make a recommendation to UCL Academic Services on behalf of the Vice-Provost (Education & Student Affairs).

- d) Where UCL Academic Services accepts the request for review, it will overturn the original Board of Examiners' decision and put a new one in its place. The FECP and Board of Examiners should be notified as soon as possible. UCL Student Records should amend the student's record and issue the student with a new results notification.
- e) Where the FECP Chair or UCL Academic Services rejects the request for review, they should notify the FECP as soon as possible. The FECP secretary should notify the student that their request has been rejected within one week of the decision being made.

6.12 Appealing an EC Decision

1. Students cannot contest the outcome of an EC request on the grounds of academic judgement. However if the student feels that there has been a procedural error in the handling of their request, or that the type of mitigation offered is unsuitable, the student may request that the FECP Chair reviews the decision. This function must not be delegated to a Departmental EC Panel.
2. Requests for review must be submitted within two weeks of the extension or mitigation decision.
3. Student handbooks/ Moodle should include clear details of where to submit ECs; requests for review should be submitted to the same office.
4. The FECP Chair should consider the request and make one of the following decisions:
 - a) To uphold the original decision, or
 - b) To retain the original decision but amend specific details such as length of extension, Deferral deadline etc., or
 - c) To make a new decision on the type of mitigation.
5. The FECP Chair should communicate their decision to the student in writing within one week of receiving the request. The FECP secretary should ensure that any new decision is communicated to the relevant parties as described in Section 6.9 above.
6. If, after the review, a student is still unhappy, they may be able to appeal the decision under the regulations set out in Chapter 6, Section 10: UCL Student Complaints Procedure.

6.13 Extenuating Circumstances Panels

6.13.1 Terms of Reference

1. Each Faculty must have a Faculty Extenuating Circumstances Panel (FECP).
2. The FECP has the following responsibilities:
 - a) To make objective, impartial decisions about the validity of ECs submitted by students in the Faculty.
 - b) To determine the most appropriate course of action for the circumstances in hand and make recommendations to the relevant Board of Examiners.
 - c) To ensure that all ECs are supported by appropriate evidence.
 - d) To ensure that mitigation is only applied to the affected module(s).
 - e) To ensure that mitigation is only applied once for each assessment.
 - f) To ensure that ECs are processed within the timeframes stated above.
 - g) To ensure that ECs remain confidential to the EC Panel and to the Chair and Secretary of the relevant Board of Examiners.
 - h) To ensure that all data relating to ECs are stored securely.
 - i) To meet at the start of each academic year to discuss and agree the arrangements for the delegation of decision-making to any Departmental EC Panels.
 - j) To report annually to the Academic Regulations and Quality Assurance Sub-committee on the efficacy of the EC regulations and on the profile of cases received.

Delegation of Authority to Departmental EC Panels

3. The FECP may delegate authority to consider ECs to a Departmental EC Panel (DECP). It is assumed that 'Department' also covers local variations like division, school, institute, short courses provider etc.
4. The FECP must determine the authority of any DECP under its responsibility. This should include:
 - a) Determining which forms of mitigation and/ or which grounds for ECs may or may not be considered by a DECP
 - b) Determining where cases must be referred up to the FECP
 - c) Determining where DECP Chair's Action may be used
 - d) Providing guidance on common forms of mitigation
 - e) Providing guidance on the local processes for communication and record-keeping
 - f) Publishing the panel arrangements in place within the Faculty, and ensuring that the contact details of the relevant FECP/ DECP secretaries are readily available to staff in other Faculties.
5. FECPs should not delegate decision-making to any person or body other than a DECP.
6. Annex 4.1.2: EC Panel Contact Details indicates the appropriate contact for each FECP and DECP.

Jurisdiction

7. Each student's 'home' Faculty is responsible for processing any ECs submitted by that student.
8. Where the student is registered on a combined honours or joint degree, one of the Faculties will be specified as the home Faculty, which will be responsible for processing the EC.
9. Where a student is registered on an interdepartmental module, the home FECP is responsible for processing the request, in consultation with the teaching Department.

Frequency

10. Each Faculty should determine how frequently the FECP/ DECP meets.

Chair's Action

11. The Chair of the FECP is entitled to act on behalf of the Panel in respect of any matter delegated to them by the Panel, the Faculty Board of Examiners or UCL Education Committee. The FECP is responsible for determining where DECP Chair's Action may be used.

Virtual Meetings

12. To facilitate decision-making, FECPs and DECPs may meet 'virtually', where decisions are approved electronically and formally recorded by the EC Panel Secretary.

Confidentiality

13. All FECP and DECP members are responsible for preserving confidentiality in respect of the proceedings of the Panel.

Conflicts of Interest

14. FECP and DECP members who have a personal or professional conflict of interest with any student being considered at a particular meeting must withdraw from the meeting for discussions on that student.

6.13.2 Constitution and Membership

Faculty EC Panel

1. The FECP should be chaired by the Faculty Tutor.
2. A Deputy Chair may be nominated to stand in for the Chair where necessary.
3. In addition to the Chair and Deputy Chair, the FECP must include at least two members of senior Faculty staff such as Faculty Graduate Tutors, Programme Leaders, Departmental Tutors etc.
4. The FECP secretary should be a named member of staff from the Faculty administration team.

Departmental EC Panel

5. The DECP should be chaired by the Head of Department or the Departmental Tutor.
6. A Deputy Chair may be nominated to stand in for the Chair where necessary.
7. In addition to the Chair and Deputy Chair, the DECP must include at least two members of senior Departmental staff such as Programme Leaders, Departmental Tutors etc.
8. The DECP secretary should be a named member of staff from the Departmental administration team.

Quoracy

9. The minimum number of members permissible at a meeting of the FECP or DECP is three, including either the Chair or Deputy Chair.

External Examiners

10. External Examiners should not be invited to attend FECP/ DECP meetings.

Rotation of Membership

11. Where possible, the members of academic staff should change on an annual basis to ensure maximum sharing and awareness of the EC process across UCL.

7 Marking & Moderation

The Marking and Moderation regulations define the procedures for the internal marking and moderation of assessed student work. All programmes must apply these threshold standards as a minimum.

7.1 Overarching Principles

- Principle 25: Assessment policies and regulations must respect the academic judgement of the internal examiners in relation to a student's performance against the published marking criteria.
- Principle 26: All assessment processes, including marking, second-marking and moderation, should be conducted anonymously unless the nature of the assessment makes this impossible.
- Principle 27: Marking must be criterion-referenced and students must be made aware of those criteria in advance.
- Principle 28: Marking scales must be transparent and clearly communicated to students in advance of the assessment.
- Principle 29: All programmes must include rigorous second-marking and internal moderation processes which promote consistency and fairness.
- Principle 30: The assessment process for a programme of study must be scrutinised by an External Examiner.

1. Markers are responsible for assessing student work against the published marking criteria, assigning each student a mark according to the relevant marking scale and providing students with feedback on their work.
2. Programme Leaders are responsible for the planning and implementation of appropriate marking, second-marking and internal moderation processes on a programme or group of modules.
3. The Faculty Board of Examiners is responsible for ensuring that appropriate marking, second-marking and moderation systems are in place on all programmes and modules within their remit (see Section 13.4: Faculty Boards of Examiners for further details).

7.3 Markers

Eligibility

1. A UCL marker may be an Internal Examiner or an Assistant Internal Examiner.
2. Markers must be formally appointed as Internal Examiners or Assistant Internal Examiners by the Board of Examiners – see Section 13: Boards of Examiners for further details on the appointment process, duties and responsibilities.

Peer Assessment

3. Students may also be asked to assess each other's work as a valuable tool in enhancing their assessment literacy. Where Peer Assessment is used in summative assessment, the Internal Examiner(s) responsible for the module/ assessment must ensure that there are clear marking criteria, which are discussed with the students in advance, and that all marks awarded by students are subject to some form of second-marking by an Internal Examiner.

7.4 Anonymity

1. All summative assessments should be carried out anonymously unless the nature of assessment makes this impossible.
2. Where anonymity is not used, programmes must ensure, to the satisfaction of the External Examiner and the Board of Examiners, that there are robust processes in place for second-marking and internal moderation (see below).
3. There is no requirement for anonymity for formative assessments.

Examinations and Tests

4. Examinations and tests must be assessed against Candidate Number only.

Coursework

5. For coursework submissions, wherever possible, first and second markers should assign marks and provide written feedback based on Candidate Number or Student Record Number only.
6. Where coursework assessments include formative submissions, tutorials and/ or in-class feedback, it is recognised that full anonymity will not always be possible or desirable. Where this is the case, and the first marker knows the student, second-marking and moderation must be carried out anonymously.

Dissertations and Research Projects

7. Where dissertations and research projects involve close working between the supervisor and the student it is recognised that full anonymity will not always be possible or desirable. Where the supervisor acts as a marker for the dissertation or report, the assessment must be subject to full, independent and anonymous second-marking.

Giving Feedback

8. Feedback and an indicative mark based on the first marker's comments, but prior to second marking, can be given to facilitate prompt feedback. However, students should be aware that the mark is indicative and subject to second-marking, internal moderation and ratification by the Board of Examiners and the External Examiner.

7.5 Marking Criteria

1. For both summative and formative assessment the marking criteria should be designed to help students understand what they are expected to achieve and the knowledge and skills that will be taken into account in awarding marks.
2. For every summative assessment (i.e. assessments whose results count towards Progression, Classification and/ or the Award of a degree), at least one of the following must be made available to students in advance of the assessment:
 - a) Grade Descriptors explaining the criteria and providing a detailed description of the qualities representative of different mark classes/grades. Where appropriate, grade descriptors can be agreed at departmental/divisional or programme level.
 - b) A Marking Scheme explaining how the assessment is scored, i.e. how points are associated with answers to the question set and attributed to parts of the assessment.
3. Where appropriate, the following should also be made available to all markers and second-markers:
 - a) Indicative Answers by the question setter that outline the essential material expected to be considered by relevant answers.
 - b) Model Answers that show the correct answer to the question as documented by the question setter.

4. Summative assessment must be criterion-referenced i.e. the assessment evaluates the 'absolute' quality of a candidate's work against the marking criteria; the same work will always receive the same mark, irrespective of the performance of other students in the cohort.
5. Further guidance for best practice in designing marking criteria, including the identification of the key skills and knowledge being tested, is available from UCL Arena.

7.6 Second Marking

7.6.1 Minimum Requirements

1. All modules must be subject to a form of second marking.
2. All dissertations/ research projects must be subject to Full, Independent, second marking.
3. Faculties or Departments may determine and publish policies on the appropriate use of different forms of second marking within the disciplinary context over and above UCL's minimum threshold requirements.
4. The options for second marking are:
 - a) Second marking may be Full or Sampled:
 - i. Full second-marking: Second markers mark or check all assessments.
 - ii. Sampled second-marking: Second markers mark or check a sample, based on defined criteria, of the full set of assessments.
 - b) Second marking may be Independent or done by Check Marking:
 - i. Independent marking (also known as double marking): Each marker assigns a mark. The two marks are subsequently reconciled to agree the mark for the assessment.
 - ii. Check marking: The second marker determines whether the mark awarded by the first marker is appropriate, but does not give a separate mark. The second marker confirms the mark if appropriate, and brings it to the attention of the first marker if not. Check marking will usually only be appropriate for quantitative or multiple-choice assessments in which answers can be scored objectively rather than requiring qualitative judgement on the part of the markers.
 - c) Second marking may be Blind or Open:
 - i. Blind second-marking: The second marker is not informed of the first marker's marks and/ or comments.
 - ii. Open second-marking: The second marker is informed of the first marker's marks and comments before commencing and can take these into account.
 - d) Second marking may be Live:
 - i. Live marking: Where an assessment is conducted 'live' (e.g. oral examinations, presentations, exhibitions, laboratory work, marking clinical work with patients, portfolios of work, group work etc.) the assessment should include provisions for second-marking, internal moderation and External Examiner scrutiny of either the full set of assessments or an appropriate sample. This may take the form of having two or more markers present, inviting the External Examiner to observe the event, recording the event or asking students to submit notes, slides and/ or visual material for these purposes.

7.6.2 Parity Meetings

1. Where an assessment includes multiple pairs of markers it is good practice to hold a parity meeting at the start of the marking process where markers can discuss and develop a shared understanding of the marking criteria. This can include comparing marks for a small sample of student work.
2. Parity meetings are particularly important where there is a large number of markers and where there are new markers in a team.

7.6.3 Sampling

1. Sampling may be used where a large number of students undertakes an assessment. If the second markers agree with the marks for the sampled students, it can be assumed that marking is accurate for the population. However if the second markers disagree with one or more marks, the sample must be extended to check the accuracy of marks for all students in the assessment. Individual student marks must not be changed unless all marks have been checked.
2. Where sampling is used in second-marking, the sample must include the following as a minimum:
 - a) All Fails
 - b) Mid-class examples for each class (mid-forties, mid-fifties, mid-sixties, Firsts/Distinctions)
 - c) Examples of all upper borderlines (39, 49, 59, 69)
 - d) The higher of either: at least 10% of assessments, or at least five assessments.
3. The above is based on the standard UCL marking scale; programmes operating an alternate marking scale should adjust as appropriate.
4. Thresholds for the use of sampling versus full second-marking over and above UCL's threshold standards may be set at Faculty or Departmental/Divisional level.

Extending the Sample

5. Where there is disagreement over a single mark or a group of marks within the sample, markers must not change individual student marks. Instead, the sample must be extended to check and, where necessary, review the marks of all students in the assessment concerned, with particular attention being paid to students with similar marks to those being contested, and to those marks falling close to a Classification boundary.
6. Extension of the sample must demonstrate to the External Examiner and the Board of Examiners that marking across the assessment concerned is sound and fair and that no student is advantaged or disadvantaged by being included in the sample (i.e. markers must not only change the marks of students in the sample; all marks must be reviewed).

7.6.4 Reconciliation of Marks

1. All marks must be agreed by the markers. Where there is disagreement, the markers must adopt one of the following:
 - a) For mark differences of 10% or more, or which bracket a class boundary, the marks must be reconciled through discussion of the marking criteria. Mathematical averaging should not be used.
 - b) For mark differences of less than 10%, the mark may be reconciled by discussion of the marking criteria or by mathematical averaging.

7.6.5 Third Markers

1. A third marker may be brought in where a first and second marker are unable to agree on a final mark. The third marker's role is not to over-ride the two previous markers, but to contribute to resolving the discussion with reference to the marking criteria.
2. Third marking to reconcile disagreements between first and second markers must not be carried out by the External Examiner (see Chapter 9, Section 4: External Examining). However, subsequently bringing third-marked work to the attention of the External Examiner is good practice.

7.6.6 Documentation of Marking

1. Marks and how marks are arrived at must be transparent for Programme and Faculty Boards of Examiners, External Examiners, students, and, if necessary, complaint panels.
2. The first mark, second mark (where applicable) and the agreed mark must be recorded separately.

3. Justification for marks awarded must be documented in one of the following forms:
 - a) Examiner's comments from both the first and, where applicable, second marker. These comments may be identical to the feedback provided to the student.
 - b) Model answers and evidence of the scoring of the assessment by the first and, where applicable, second marker.

7.7 Internal Moderation

1. All programmes must have internal moderation systems in place to assure the consistency of marking and the proper application of the marking criteria across markers, students and modules.
2. Internal moderation may include, but is not limited to:
 - a) Checks to ensure that marking is comparable across marking pairs or teams
 - b) Checks to ensure that marking is comparable across different options and electives
3. Where the internal moderation process identifies substantial discrepancies, third-marking of a set of assessments may be required.

8 Assessment Feedback

The Assessment Feedback regulations define the minimum requirements for the provision of feedback to students on their assessed work. All programmes must apply these threshold standards as a minimum.

8.1 Overarching Principles

Principle 31: Formative and summative assessment feedback is an integral part of the assessment process. Feedback should:

- Help students to evaluate their work
- Enable students to set and achieve short- and long-term goals
- Give students opportunities to apply previous feedback
- Include peer-to-peer and teacher-student dialogue
- Be motivational for all students
- Develop students' assessment literacy
- Be timely, so that feedback can inform future learning

8.2 Summative Feedback

Service Standards for the Provision of Feedback to Students

1. All programmes must adopt the following service standards to ensure that students receive appropriate and timely feedback on their work in order to enhance their learning experience and maximise their academic performance.
2. Students should expect to receive some form of feedback on all summative assessments.
3. Feedback may take the form of:
 - a) A written feedback sheet indicating the student's performance against the marking criteria, strengths, weaknesses and opportunities for improvement.
 - b) An individual discussion with the student about their performance against the marking criteria, strengths, weaknesses and opportunities for improvement.
 - c) Group discussions where thematic areas, strengths and weaknesses within the group as a whole are discussed.
 - d) Annotated examination scripts.
 - e) Marker's answers, model answers or other solutions.
4. Students should expect to receive feedback within one calendar month of the deadline for submission of each piece of assessed work (including weekends and vacations). Departments are encouraged to provide this in a shorter timeframe if possible.
5. If, for whatever reason, a Department or Module Organiser cannot ensure that the one calendar month deadline is met then they must indicate, by direct contact with the students on the module through email/Moodle, when the feedback will be provided. It is expected that the extra time needed should not exceed one week.
6. Where feedback is not provided within the timescale, students should bring the matter to the attention of the Departmental Tutor or Head of Department who should take action as necessary. If students remain dissatisfied then the matter should be referred to the Faculty Tutor.

Dissertations, Research Projects and Long Essays

7. Supervisors must provide feedback to students on a draft on at least one occasion.

Anonymity

8. Wherever possible, summative assessments must be marked anonymously (see Section 7.4: Anonymity). The requirement for anonymity may be lifted once the first and/ or second marker has assigned a mark, to facilitate the provision of personalised feedback to the student.

Further Guidance

9. Examples of feedback proforma and marking criteria are available from UCL Arena.

8.3 Formative Feedback

1. Students should receive feedback on formative assessments to help them evaluate their own work and understand how to improve their performance.
2. Formative feedback should be:
 - a) Received by students in good time
 - b) Focused on helping students to develop the skills, knowledge and understanding required
 - c) Helpful in identifying areas for improvement
 - d) Appropriate for the type of assessment
3. A formative assessment may include an indicative mark, but these marks do not contribute to the award of credit and are not included in the calculation of the Classification.
4. There is no requirement for anonymity in formative assessment.

9 Progression & Award

The Progression and Award Requirements define what a student must do to progress from one year of study to the next and to be awarded a UCL qualification. Students should read this section in conjunction with their Programme Summary.

9.1 Overarching Principles

- Principle 17: Qualifications must only be awarded for the successful achievement of defined learning outcomes.
- Principle 18: The criteria for Progression and the Award of a degree must be transparent, clearly defined and fair to all students, and aligned with the requirements of the UCL Qualifications and Credit Framework.
- Principle 19: Programmes must include regular review points to support and evaluate a student's progress throughout their programme.
- Principle 20: A student may be permitted to progress from one year to the next and/ or be awarded a degree where they are carrying a small amount of failure, as long as their overall performance is of a good standard and the requirements of any relevant Professional, Statutory or Regulatory Bodies are met.

9.2 Scope & Definitions

1. A student must meet or exceed UCL's threshold standards in order to Progress through their programme and be Awarded a qualification.
2. Graduate and Taught Postgraduate programmes must not include Progression Requirements. Subject to approval by UCL Education Committee or its nominee, a Graduate or Taught Postgraduate programme running over more than one year (e.g. a two-year Extended Masters or five-year Flexible Masters) may set Continuation Requirements between years of study. Failure to meet these standards after all permitted attempts may lead to failure of the programme.
3. The specific arrangements on each programme of study must be documented in the Programme Summary.
4. Details of the structures of UCL taught programmes, including information about credit, academic levels and modules, can be found in Chapter 2: Qualifications and Credit Framework.

Professionally-accredited Programmes

5. Subject to approval by UCL Education Committee or its nominee, a programme may include additional requirements for the achievement of professional accreditation. Additional requirements must be:
 - a) Supported by specific, written evidence from the relevant Professional, Statutory or Regulatory Body, and
 - b) Reviewed annually to ensure accuracy and currency, and
 - c) Communicated clearly to students, and
 - d) Documented in the Programme Summary.

Non-Modular Programmes

6. Subject to approval by UCL Education Committee or its nominee, a programme may operate on a non-modular basis where there is a clear pedagogic rationale. The Progression and Award Requirements for such programmes are defined in Section 9.13: Non-modular Programmes.

Failure to meet the Progression & Award Requirements

7. A student who is unable to meet the Progression and Award Requirements due to illness or other Extenuating Circumstances may be eligible for a Deferral or other form of mitigation under the regulations in Section 6: Extenuating Circumstances.
8. A student who does not meet all of the Progression and Award Requirements, and has no Extenuating Circumstances material to that failure, must be subject to the regulations in Section 11: Consequences of Failure.

9.3 Condonement

9.3.1 Definition

1. Condonement allows a student to progress from one year to the next and/ or to be awarded a qualification where they are carrying a small amount of failure, as long as their overall performance is of a good standard and the requirements of any relevant Professional, Statutory or Regulatory Bodies are met. Students who meet the Condonement Criteria will not be reassessed.
2. A student's eligibility for Condonement in any given module is determined by the Programme on which the student is enrolled.
3. The Condonement Criteria are defined under the Progression and Award Requirements for each qualification in Sections 9.5 to 9.12 below.

9.3.2 Condonable Range

1. For each qualification, Condonement applies only to module marks falling within the following Condonable Ranges:

Undergraduate Programmes

	Modules at Levels 4, 5 and 6	Modules at Level 7 (where applicable)
Certificate of Higher Education	1.00-39.99%	-
Diploma of Higher Education	1.00-39.99%	-
Foundation Degree	1.00-39.99%	-
Ordinary Degree (Interim Qualification)	1.00-39.99%	1.00-49.99%
Bachelors Degree	1.00-39.99%	1.00-49.99%
Integrated Masters Degree	1.00-39.99%	1.00-49.99%

Graduate Programmes

	Modules at Level 6		Modules at Level 7 (where applicable)
	Numeric Marks	Letter Grades	Numeric Marks	Letter Grades
Graduate Certificate	30.00-39.99%	E	40.00-49.99%	D
Graduate Diploma	30.00-39.99%	E	40.00-49.99%	D

Taught Postgraduate Programmes

	Modules at Level 7		Modules at Level 6 (where applicable)
	Numeric Marks	Letter Grades	Numeric Marks	Letter Grades
Postgraduate Certificate	40.00-49.99%	D	30.00-39.99%	E
Postgraduate Diploma	40.00-49.99%	D	30.00-39.99%	E
Masters	40.00-49.99%	D	30.00-39.99%	E

9.3.3 Progression Mean

1. On Undergraduate programmes, the 'Progression Year Mean' is the credit-weighted average of all module marks in a single year of study. It is distinct from the 'Classification Year Mean' (see Section 10.2.2) which is the mean of only those module marks which count towards the classification. Pre-Honours and Honours Degree students must achieve a Progression Year Mean of 40.00% (50.00% in the Masters year, if applicable) in order to be eligible for Condonement.
2. On Graduate and Taught Postgraduate programmes, averages are not calculated for individual years of study; the mean used in Condonement is a 'Credit-Weighted Mean' of all module marks:
 - a) Graduate students must achieve a credit-weighted mean of 40.00% across all module marks in order to be eligible for Condonement.
 - b) Taught Postgraduate students, including MRes students, must achieve a credit-weighted mean of 50.00% across all module marks in order to be eligible for Condonement.
3. Where marks are capped due to reassessment or other cause, the capped mark must be used in the calculation of the mean.

9.3.4 Condonable & Non-condonable Modules

1. All modules on a programme should be Condonable.
2. Subject to approval by UCL Education Committee or its nominee, a Programme may designate one or more modules as Non-condonable (must be passed). In order for a module to be designated as Non-condonable it must be:
 - e) A Compulsory module, and/or
 - f) A module essential to professional accreditation.
3. All Undergraduate Dissertations and Masters Dissertations/ Substantive Projects must be Non-condonable.

4. Where a Programme designates a module as Non-condonable, the Programme may also determine that one or more components within that module are Non-condonable (must be passed). See Section 3.11: Requirements to Pass a Module for further details.
5. Non-condonable modules must be documented in the Programme Summary.

9.3.5 Applying Condonement

1. The Condonement regulations apply at both the first and second attempt.
2. Where a student has valid Extenuating Circumstances, the regulations in Section 6.10: Deferred Assessment should be applied before Condonement is considered.
3. If a student meets all the Condonement Criteria, and there are no Extenuating Circumstances to be considered, the module must be Condoned.
4. A student who meets the Condonement Criteria must not be reassessed. The student will be awarded the credit, and the condoned mark must stand (i.e. the mark must not be raised to the Pass Mark) and must be included in the student's Classification.
5. A student who does not meet all the Condonement Criteria at the first attempt must be reassessed in all the failed modules, including those modules with marks falling in the Condonable Range (see Section 11: Consequences of Failure).
6. A student who does not meet all the Condonement Criteria at the second attempt must not be permitted any further attempts at assessment.
7. Condonement and Reassessment cannot be applied simultaneously; a student who fails in more than the permitted number of credits must be reassessed in all the failed modules.
8. On Extended or Flexible taught postgraduate programmes, the formal decision on whether the student meets the Condonement Criteria can only be made at the end of the taught modules.
 - a) A student who does not pass a module in an earlier year should be entered automatically for a Resit or Repeat as appropriate under the regulations in Section 11: Consequences of Failure.
 - b) A student may choose not to be reassessed in that module and instead retain the fail mark on the basis that the student may meet the Condonement Criteria at the end of the taught modules. Students should notify UCL Student Records via askUCL of their intention not to be reassessed at least four weeks before the date of, or deadline for, reassessment. The student's decision not to be reassessed will not be considered as grounds for appeal at a later date.

9.4 Provisional Progression

1. A student may be permitted to Provisionally Progress to a subsequent year of study in the following circumstances:
 - a) On programmes with a Study Abroad Year or Module, the Faculty Tutor may permit a student to Provisionally Progress if the marks from an external provider are not yet available (see Section 9.6: Honours Degree Progression & Award Requirements).
 - b) The Extenuating Circumstances Panel may permit a student to Provisionally Progress and to undertake a Deferral with or without Tuition in a maximum of 30 credits in tandem with the next year's modules (see Section 6.10: Deferred Assessment).
 - c) Exceptionally, the Faculty Tutor may permit a student to Provisionally Progress and to undertake a Resit or Repeat in a maximum of 30 credits in tandem with the next year's modules (see Section 11: Consequences of Failure).
2. Provisionally Progressed students are permitted to re-enrol, attend teaching events and access UCL facilities. However, the student must not formally Progress to the subsequent year of study until the outstanding credits are passed or formally condoned by the Board of Examiners.
3. If, after all permitted attempts at the affected modules, the student then fails to meet the previous year's Progression Requirements, they must not continue on the programme. Some students may be eligible for an Interim Qualification, or for transfer to another programme.

4. Registration on additional modules must not be considered as grounds for Extenuating Circumstances or appeal at a later date.
5. Students should be offered the opportunity to discuss the consequences of Provisional Progression with their Personal Tutor or Programme Leader. If a student would prefer to wait until they have formally progressed before they enrol on any subsequent years of the programme, they must contact their Departmental Office as soon as possible to discuss their options and, if appropriate, request that the Faculty Tutor overturns the decision.

9.5 Pre-Honours Progression & Award Requirements

1. In order to progress from one year to the next, or to be awarded a Certificate of Higher Education or a Foundation Degree, a student should Pass 120 credits in each year of study.
2. A student who does not Pass 120 credits in a year of study must nonetheless be considered to have met the Progression and Award Requirements if they meet all of the following Condonement Criteria in that year of study:
 - a) Pass all Non-Condonable Modules, and
 - b) Pass at least 90 credits, and
 - c) Attain marks in the Condonable Range in no more than 30 credits, and
 - d) Have no module marks below 1.00%, and
 - e) Achieve a credit-weighted mean of at least 40.00% across 120 credits.
3. On Part-time Modes of Study, the Progression and Award Requirements and the number of condonable credits must be adjusted pro-rata for each year of study.
4. Section 9.3: Condonement provides further information about the Condonable Range, Non-Condonable Modules and Components, and how Condonement is applied.

9.6 Honours Degree Progression & Award Requirements

1. In order to progress from one year to the next, or to be awarded a Bachelors with Honours or an Integrated Masters with Honours, a student should Pass 120 credits in each year of study.
2. A student who does not Pass 120 credits in a year of study must nonetheless be considered to have met the Progression and Award Requirements if they meet all of the following Condonement Criteria in that year of study:
 - a) Pass all Non-Condonable Modules, and
 - b) Pass at least 90 credits, and
 - c) Attain marks in the Condonable Range in no more than 30 credits, and
 - d) Have attained marks in the Condonable Range in no more than 60 credits up to and including the current year of study, and
 - e) Have no module marks below 1.00%, and
 - f) Achieve a credit-weighted mean of at least 40.00% (50.00% in the Masters year) across 120 credits.
3. On Part-time Modes of Study, the Progression and Award Requirements and the number of condonable credits must be adjusted pro-rata for each year of study.
4. Section 9.3: Condonement provides further information about the Condonable Range, Non-Condonable Modules and Components, and how Condonement is applied.

Modern Foreign Language Requirement

5. In order to be awarded a qualification, a student must also meet UCL's Modern Foreign Language Requirements (see Section 9.7: Honours Degree Modern Foreign Language Requirements).

Integrated Masters Programmes

6. Subject to approval by UCL Education Committee or its nominee, an Integrated Masters programme may set a higher progression threshold than the UCL minimum to permit progression from Year 2 to Year 3, and/or from Year 3 to Year 4. Higher thresholds must be documented in the Programme Summary.

Study Abroad Year or Placement Year

7. A student must meet the Progression Requirements before commencing a Study Abroad or Placement Year.
8. Upon returning from a Study Abroad or Placement Year, a student should meet the Progression Requirements before commencing the next year of study.
 - a) In exceptional circumstances, such as when marks from a placement provider or host institution are not yet available, the Board of Examiners may permit a student to Provisionally Progress to the next year of study until such a time as the marks become available and formal Progression can be determined. See Section 9.4: Provisional Progression.

9.7 Honours Degree Modern Foreign Language Requirements

The Modern Foreign Language Requirement has been suspended with effect from 23 February 2021

1. UCL is committed to Modern Foreign Language education. All UK Honours Degree students, with the exception of those on one-year Top-Up or iBSc degrees, must enter UCL with, or have developed by graduation, a basic level of competence in a Modern Foreign Language (MFL).
2. In order to satisfy UCL's Modern Foreign Language (MFL) requirements, a student must undertake one of the following:
 - a) Hold a C grade or higher in a GCSE, or equivalent, in a Modern Foreign Language, or
 - b) Where available, attend a Modern Foreign Language Summer School arranged by UCL prior to enrolment, or
 - c) Enrol on a 15-credit module in a Modern Foreign Language as a module choice within the student's standard programme diet. The student must be subject to the standard programme requirements for Progression, Award, Classification and Reassessment, or
 - d) Enrol on an additional 15-credit module in a Modern Foreign Language, over and above the 120 credits required in each year of study. The student must meet the minimum attendance requirements and take part in the assessment, but does not have to pass the module and the mark will not be included in the student's Classification calculation. If a student does not meet the attendance requirements, they will be Barred from the assessment and must Repeat the module in the following academic session with attendance and fees and marks capped at the Pass Mark. As it is an additional module, and is not a requirement of Progression in any given year, the Repeat may be taken in tandem with enrolment on a subsequent year of study, or
 - e) Exceptionally, and by agreement with the UCL Centre for Language and International Education, enrol on an evening class in a Modern Foreign Language.
3. In exceptional circumstances UCL Academic Services on behalf of the Vice-Provost (Education & Student Affairs) may suspend the MFL requirements if they are deemed to place an unreasonable burden on a student. Applications must be made to UCL Academic Services via the Faculty Tutor.
4. A student who fails to satisfy the requirement by the end of their programme will not be eligible for the award of an Honours Degree.

British Sign Language

5. Enrolment on a 15-credit module in British Sign Language will satisfy the MFL requirement.
6. Subject to approval by the Faculty Tutor, an appropriate, formal qualification in British Sign Language or another Sign Language may be considered as an equivalent to a GCSE.
7. Subject to approval by UCL Academic Services on behalf of the Vice-Provost (Education & Student Affairs), experiential learning in British Sign Language or another Sign Language may be considered, where accreditation is not available. Applications must be made via the Faculty Tutor.

Ancient Languages

8. GCSE passes in, or enrolment on a 15-credit module in, Ancient Greek, Hebrew or Latin will not satisfy the MFL requirement.

Heritage and Community Languages

9. Subject to approval by the Faculty Tutor, an appropriate, formal qualification in a heritage or community language may be considered as an equivalent to a GCSE.
10. Subject to approval by UCL Academic Services on behalf of the Vice-Provost (Education & Student Affairs), experiential learning in a heritage or community language may be considered, where accreditation is not available. Applications must be made via the Faculty Tutor.

10 Classification

Students who have completed the requirements for a qualification should, on the recommendation of the relevant Board of Examiners, be awarded a Classification.

The following regulations apply to:

- Undergraduate students who first enrolled on their programme at UCL in 2018-19, 2019-20, or 2020-21
- All Graduate and Taught Postgraduate students who are fully enrolled on the 2018-19, 2019-20 or 2020-21 academic session, with the exception of Masters of Laws (LLM students) who first enrolled on their programme in 2017-18 or earlier, where the former derogation is being phased out. Further details are in the LLM Programme Summary.

Undergraduate students who first enrolled on their programme at UCL in 2017-18 or earlier should refer to Section 15: Classification for Undergraduate Students first enrolling in 2017-18 or earlier.

10.1 Overarching Principles

10.2 Calculating Classifications

10.2.1 Averages and Rounding

1. On programmes operating the Numeric Marking Scale:
 - a) The Final Weighted Mark must be calculated from a credit-weighted mean of all counting marks, as specified in each individual Classification Scheme.
 - b) Where a Classification Scheme includes multiple years of study, the credit-weighted Year Mean must be calculated first. Each Year Mean must then be weighted according to the Classification Scheme, and the Final Weighted Mark must then be calculated from the mean of weighted Year Means.
 - c) The Final Weighted Mark must be rounded to 2 decimal places.
2. On programmes operating the Letter Grade Marking Scale, the Classification must be determined from the number of module credits falling in each Classification Band.

10.2.2 Classification Year Mean (UG programmes only)

1. On Undergraduate programmes, the 'Classification Year Mean' is the credit-weighted average of only those module marks which count towards the classification in a single year of study. It is distinct from the 'Progression Year Mean' (see Section 9.3.3) which is a mean of all module marks in a year of study.
2. The Classification Year Mean is calculated as follows:
 - a) The 'counting' marks are identified (e.g. students might drop their worst 30 credits in Year 1, so only 90 credits 'count').
 - b) Each counting mark is given a weighting according to its credit value.
 - c) The credit-weighted counting marks are averaged to create the 'Year Mean' for each year of study.
 - d) Each Year Mean is given a weighting (e.g. Year 1: 1, Year 2: 3, Year 3: 5).
 - e) The weighted Year Means are averaged to give the 'Final Weighted Mark'.
 - f) The Final Weighted Mark determines the Classification awarded.

10.2.3 Weighting of Reassessment and Deferral Marks

1. Where marks are capped due to reassessment or other cause, the capped mark must be used in the calculation of the classification.
2. Marks achieved for reassessed modules must be weighted according to the year in which the module was first attempted.
3. Marks achieved for substitute modules must be weighted according to the year in which the substituted module was first attempted.
4. Marks achieved for modules deferred due to Extenuating Circumstances must be weighted according to the year in which the student was first registered on the module.

10.2.4 Credit Awarded via the Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL)

1. Credits awarded via the Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL) from any institution other than UCL must be counted as part of the qualification requirements but must be excluded from the calculation of the Classification.
2. Credits accrued at UCL and awarded via the Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL) must be counted as part of the qualification requirements and included in the calculation of the Classification.
3. At the time of admission with RPL, the student should be advised of the number of credits which they are required to pass in order to be eligible for an Award, and the algorithm which will be used to calculate their Classification.
4. The application procedures for the Recognition of Prior Learning are defined in Chapter 1, Section 2.8: Recognition of Prior Learning for Entry to UCL.

10.2.5 Pass/ Fail Degrees

1. Subject to approval by UCL Education Committee, or its nominee, a qualification may be awarded on a Pass/Fail basis i.e. without a Classification. This must be clearly defined in the Programme Summary.

10.2.6 Study Abroad and Placements

1. Where a programme includes an Integrated Study Abroad or Placement Year or Module, the Classification must be calculated using the standard Classification Schemes below.
2. Where a programme includes an Additional/ Extra-mural Study Abroad or Placement Year or Module, the following rules must be applied when determining the Classification:
 - a) Additional/ Extra-mural Study Abroad or Placement Years must be weighted at 0 in the Classification.
 - b) Additional/ Extra-mural Study Abroad or Placement Modules must be weighted at 0 in the Classification.
 - c) Where a programme includes a Study Abroad or Placement Project Module, the Study Abroad or Placement Year and the Project Module must be weighted at 0 in the Classification.
 - d) Where an Undergraduate Additional/ Extra-mural Study Abroad or Placement Year is in the Final Year, the Penultimate Year must be treated as the 'Final Year' in the determination of the classification.

10.2.7 Academic Partnerships

1. Subject to approval by UCL Education Committee or its nominee, a UCL programme delivered under an academic partnership agreement may operate an adjusted classification scheme to take account of the learning undertaken at the partner institution. Further details can be found in Chapter 8: Academic Partnerships Framework. Adjusted classification schemes must be included in the Programme Summary and clearly explained in the Student Handbook or equivalent.

10.3 Pre-Honours Classification Scheme

1. A student who meets the Award Requirements for a programme of study leading to a Certificate of Higher Education or a Foundation Degree should be awarded a Pass, Merit or Distinction Classification.

12.2.1 Eligibility

1. A student who is unable to complete their programme may be eligible for an Interim Qualification.
2. An Interim Qualification may be awarded:

 - c) As a result of failing to meet the requirements of the programme on which the student originally registered, whether due to Extenuating Circumstances or under-performance.
3. A student who is unable to finish their programme of study may ask to be considered for an Interim Qualification.

Advertised Outcomes

4. An Interim Qualification is defined as an 'Advertised Outcome' where there are discretely-defined, programme-specific Interim Qualification Learning Outcomes which are published in the Programme Summary.  - b) A Board of Examiners may make a recommendation for an alternate field of study for an individual student on a case-by-case basis. Applications should be made to UCL Academic Services via the Faculty Tutor. Where the alternate field of study has not already been approved, approval must be sought from the Vice-Provost (Education & Student Affairs) or their nominee.
3. A student should not be permitted to request a particular field of study, although an appropriate field of study may be discussed provisionally with the student prior to the Board of Examiners meeting.

15.2 General Classification Principles

15.2.1 Calculation of Classification

1. Averages should be calculated from a mean of all counting marks, weighted according to the year of study and the credit-rating of each module.
2. Subject to approval by UCL Education Committee, or its nominee, a Department/Division may use an alternative averaging method, such as the Median. Alternate averaging schemes must be clearly explained in the Student Handbook or equivalent.

15.2.2 Rounding

1. Rounding must be applied to the final weighted average mark (e.g. a mark of 59.4% must be rounded to 59%, and a mark of 59.5% must be rounded to 60%).

15.2.3 Borderline Marks

1. Where a student's weighted average mark falls within 1% of the next Classification they are in the Borderline Zone. The criteria for raising a student to the next class are defined under each Classification scheme.

15.2.4 Weighting of Reassessment and Deferral Marks

1. Marks achieved for reassessed modules must be weighted according to the year in which the module was first attempted.
2. Marks achieved for substitute modules must be weighted according to the year in which the substituted module was first attempted.
3. Marks achieved for modules deferred due to Extenuating Circumstances should be weighted according to the year in which the student was first registered on the module.

15.2.5 Credit Awarded via the Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL)

1. Credits awarded via the Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL) from any institution other than UCL should be counted as part of the qualification requirements but should be excluded from the calculation of the Classification.
2. Credits accrued at UCL and awarded via the Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL) should be counted as part of the qualification requirements and included in the calculation of the Classification.
3. At the time of admission with RPL, the student must be advised of the number of credits which they are required to pass in order to be eligible for an Award, and the algorithm which will be used to calculate their Classification.

4. The application procedures for the Recognition of Prior Learning are defined in Chapter 1, Section 2.8: Recognition of Prior Learning for Entry to UCL.

15.2.6 Pass/ Fail Degrees

1. Subject to approval by UCL Education Committee, or its nominee, a qualification may be awarded on a pass/fail basis i.e. without a Classification. This must be clearly explained in the Programme Summary.

15.3 Honours Degree Classification Scheme

 - b) Whether there is evidence of “exit velocity” in the candidate’s performance.
 - c) Whether high value modules, or those with a significant research element such as the dissertation, fall in the higher class.
 - d) Attention to those marks which have a particular significance for the overall Classification.
