watching the heavens in the early middle ages

Saturday June 30th to Sunday July 1st

UCL Institute of Archaeology

Registration now open – deadline Wednesday June 27th

Following the successes of the 2010 and 2011 conferences on 'Trees, Woodland and Timber' and 'Beasts', this interdisciplinary conference seeks to explore the ways in which the heavens were used for information and inspiration in the medieval world.

The line-up consists of speakers from diverse backgrounds such as art history, palaeography, literature and physics discussing various aspects of the stars and the sky across several cultures throughout the middle ages.

Speakers include: Professor Michelle Brown, Professor Susan Irvine, Professor Richard North, Dr Nick Champion, Dr Jenny Neville, Dr Phillip Shaw and more.

There is a registration rate of £15 pounds (£10 for students and unwaged). This covers lunch on both days, tea and coffee during the breaks and the wine reception on the Saturday evening.
