1 OVERVIEW

Short description
This half-module will introduce students to the main features of the Iron Age in Europe. It begins with the Late Bronze Age background, and develops through the Hallstatt period of central Europe, the La Tène period, and the Roman Iron Age north of the Roman frontier. Specialist topics covered in detail are drawn from current research foci, and include the spread of iron technology, the nature of specialist knowledge and cosmology, the Mediterranean impact on the north, the roles of votive deposition and funerary practices, and the development of architecture and urbanism.

Week-by-week summary

AUTUMN TERM:

I. INTRODUCTION.

Basic texts
Collis, J.R. 1997. The European Iron Age. London: Routledge. This is the second edition of the only book entirely devoted to this subject, and it is essential reading for this half-module.

Students preparing to take this half-module should also read the relevant chapters of the following books:

Online reading list

http://readinglists.ucl.ac.uk/lists/E0F7C0ED-99CF-E9AE-7E93-1ACB8A8C3EB1.html

Methods of assessment

This module is assessed by means of:

two pieces of coursework, each of 2,375-2,625 words, which each contribute 50% to the final grade for the module.

Teaching methods

The module is taught through lectures and a small number of seminars. Seminars have been incorporated into the scheduled sessions for the module. In addition, an additional gallery visit will be arranged to give students greater familiarity with the material covered in the module.

Workload

There will be 16 hours of lectures and 4 hours of seminar sessions for this module. Students will be expected to undertake around 80 hours of reading for the module, plus 50 hours preparing for and producing the assessed work. This adds up to a total workload of some 150 hours for the module.

Prerequisites

There are no formal prerequisites for this module.

2 AIMS, OBJECTIVES AND ASSESSMENT

Aims

To provide the student with:

1. detailed knowledge of the archaeological evidence for societies in Europe 1000 BC-AD 500;
2. a geographical and chronological understanding of the main artefact, site and organisational categories for the European Late Bronze and Iron Ages;
3. an ability to assess primary data, based on a broad understanding of the formation of the later prehistoric record and its limitations;
4. a good knowledge and understanding of the changes in society in this period;
5. an ability to analyse and reflect critically upon a range of interpretations, particularly in areas of current controversy in Iron Age studies.
Objectives
On successful completion of this module a student should:

Knowledge and Understanding:
1) Have a familiarity with major sources of relevant evidence
2) Have a familiarity with the current theoretical and methodological debate in the field

Skills:
1) Be able to produce logical and structured arguments supported by relevant evidence
2) Have developed a critical perusal of literature

Teaching, Learning and Assessment:
1) Have conducted directed reading of specialist literature,
2) Have written essays prepared to a defined timetable to assess communication, analytical, and presentation skills

Learning Outcomes
On successful completion of the module, students should be able to demonstrate/have developed:

1) An understanding of the European Iron Age and its prelude.
2) Critical awareness of context and multiple sources of evidence in the archaeological record for Iron Age Europe.
3) Expansion of written and oral skills to allow for the communication of complex ideas and data derived from a range of academic disciplines.
4) Awareness of current issues, theoretical frameworks and debates in Iron Age archaeology.

Coursework

Assessment tasks
The half-module will be assessed by two 2,375-2,625-word essays, written at different points within the term.

If students are unclear about the nature of an assignment, they should discuss this with the Module Co-ordinator.

Students are not permitted to re-write and re-submit essays in order to try to improve their marks. However, students may be permitted, in advance of the deadline for a given assignment, to submit for comment a brief outline of the assignment.

The nature of the assignment and possible approaches to it will be discussed in class, in advance of the submission deadline.

Essay 1:
What was the basis of social inequality among the communities northwest of the Alps in the Hallstatt D period?

Subsection date: 12 November 2018

Essay 2:

How strong is the evidence for chiefdoms and social ranking in the Early and Middle Iron Age in Britain?

Reading:

Hill, J.D. 2011. How did Middle and Late Iron Age societies in Britain work (if they did?) In T. Moore and X.-L. Armada (eds) Atlantic Europe in the First Millennium BC: crossing the divide. Oxford, p 242-263. INST ARCH DA 100 MOO & Online

Submission date: 14 December 2018

Word counts
The following should not be included in the word-count: title page, contents pages, lists of figure and tables, abstract, preface, acknowledgements, bibliography, lists of references, captions and contents of tables and figures, appendices.

Penalties will only be imposed if you exceed the upper figure in the range. There is no penalty for using fewer words than the lower figure in the range: the lower figure is simply for your guidance to indicate the sort of length that is expected.

Submission procedures
Students are required to submit hard copy of all coursework to the module co-ordinator's pigeon hole via the Red Essay Box at Reception by the appropriate deadline. The coursework must be stapled to a completed coversheet (available from the web, from outside Room 411A or from the library).

Please note that new, stringent penalties for late submission were introduced UCL-wide from 2010-11. Late submission will be penalized in accordance with these regulations unless permission has been granted and an Extension Request Form (ERF) completed.

Date-stamping will be via ‘Turnitin’ (see below), so in addition to submitting hard copy, students must also submit their work to Turnitin by the midnight on the day of the deadline.

Students who encounter technical problems submitting their work to Turnitin should email the nature of the problem to ioa-turnitin@ucl.ac.uk in advance of the deadline in order that the Turnitin Advisers can notify the Module Co-ordinator that it may be appropriate to waive the late submission penalty.

If there is any other unexpected crisis on the submission day, students should telephone or (preferably) e-mail the Module Co-ordinator, and follow this up with a completed ERF.

Please see the Coursework Guidelines on the IoA website (or your Degree Handbook) for further details of penalties.

http://www.ucl.ac.uk/archaeology/administration/students/handbook/submission Hard copy will no longer be date-stamped.

The Turnitin ‘Class ID’ is 3884538 and the ‘Class Enrolment Password’ is IoA1819. Further information is given on the IoA website.

http://www.ucl.ac.uk/archaeology/administration/students/handbook/turnitin

Turnitin advisers will be available to help you via email: ioa-turnitin@ucl.ac.uk if needed.

UCL-WIDE PENALTIES FOR LATE SUBMISSION OF COURSEWORK
· The full allocated mark should be reduced by 5 percentage points for the first working day after the deadline for the submission of the coursework or dissertation.
· The mark will be reduced by a further 10 percentage points if the coursework or dissertation is submitted during the following six calendar days.
· Providing the coursework is submitted before the end of the first week of term 3 for undergraduate modules or by a date during term 3 defined in advance by the relevant Master’s
Board of Examiners for postgraduate taught programmes, but had not been submitted within seven days of the deadline for the submission of the coursework, it will be recorded as zero but the assessment would be considered to be complete.
· Where there are extenuating circumstances that have been recognised by the Board of Examiners or its representative, these penalties will not apply until the agreed extension period has been exceeded.

Timescale for return of marked coursework to students.
You can expect to receive your marked work within four calendar weeks of the official submission deadline. If you do not receive your work within this period, or a written explanation from the marker, you should notify the IoA’s Academic Administrator, Judy Medrington.

Keeping copies
Please note that it is an Institute requirement that you retain a copy (this can be electronic) of all coursework submitted. When your marked essay is returned to you, you should return it to the marker within two weeks.

Citing of sources
Coursework should be expressed in a student’s own words giving the exact source of any ideas, information, diagrams etc. that are taken from the work of others. Any direct quotations from the work of others must be indicated as such by being placed between inverted commas. Plagiarism is regarded as a very serious irregularity which can carry very heavy penalties. It is your responsibility to read and abide by the requirements for presentation, referencing and avoidance of plagiarism to be found in the IoA ‘Coursework Guidelines’ on the IoA website http://www.ucl.ac.uk/archaeology/administration/students/handbook

3 SCHEDULE AND SYLLABUS

Teaching schedule
Lectures will be held 2.00-4:00 on Tuesdays, in Room 410. One visit will be scheduled to the British Museum. It is anticipated that this will be held in the fourth week of the Autumn term, subject to finalization of the arrangements and discussion with the class. Further details will be announced closer to the date.
Lecturer: Mike Parker Pearson.

Syllabus
The following is an outline for the module as a whole, and identifies essential and supplementary readings relevant to each session. Information is provided as to where in the UCL library system individual readings are available; their location and Teaching Collection (TC) number, and status (whether out on loan) can also be accessed on the eUCLid computer catalogue system. Readings marked with an * are considered essential to keep up with the topics covered in the module. Copies of individual articles and chapters identified as essential reading are in the Teaching Collection in the Institute Library (where permitted by copyright) or are available online.

I. INTRODUCTION.
1. (MPP): The adoption of iron and its spread across Europe. This lecture explores the early uses of iron before the beginning of the 1st millennium BC and its gradual adoption from the eastern Mediterranean to northwest Europe and Britain. It examines the Late Bronze Age social and economic background to the bronze-iron transition, as well as the changing value of iron through time.

Reading:

2. CHRONOLOGY.

2. (MPP): The Late Hallstatt period: salt miners and paramount chiefs. This lecture outlines the chronology of the early part of the European Iron Age and explores the significance of the trade in raw materials for Mediterranean finished goods. It will focus on the centralization of power in the hands of groups north of the Alps, as demonstrated by the lavishly equipped burials from Vix, Hochdorf and the Hohmichele barrow.

Reading:

3. (MPP): The La Tène period: from barbarians to townspeople
Europe’s later Iron Age is named after the site of La Tène in Switzerland where a mass of artefacts were deposited in water. The lecture outlines the principal forms of archaeological evidence, such as burials and watery deposits, and investigates the settlement record and the transition to urban centres, the use of coinage and the development of state institutions north of the Mediterranean world.

Reading:

4. (MPP): The Iron Age in Britain: from brochs to banjos.
This lecture introduces the diversity and regionalism of Iron Age Britain in the seven centuries before the Roman invasion. From the hillforts and banjo enclosures of southern England to the brochs and wheelhouses of northern Scotland, it examines the different types of settlements and societies across Britain as well as changing forms of material culture and burial practices.

Reading:

The identity of the European barbarians was a matter of some interest to Classical commentators but their accounts are problematic. Modern-day notions about Celts in Iron Age Europe are also riven with disagreement. This lecture explores the difficult issue of Iron Age ethnicity and its relationship with language and material culture.

Reading:

6. (MPP): Celtic art: what did it mean and what was it for?
One of the most remarkable developments in the La Tène period was the development of a distinctive art style that has enjoyed a major revival in recent years. This seminar will explore the different interpretations of this ancient art style, and will investigate new approaches and recent re-dating schemes to unravel the context, use and meaning of Celtic art for Iron Age societies.

Reading:

7. (MPP): The Iron Age north of the Roman Empire: bog bodies and booty.
In northern Germany and southern Scandinavia, archaeologists have recognized a very different Iron Age to the La Tène societies further south, formed of longhouses organized in small villages and dispersed settlements. Bog bodies, the remains of people who met mysterious deaths, have been found in their hundreds. Lakes and bogs were also used for depositing booty from battles, becoming particularly common in the Roman period when arms were exported across the frontier.

Reading:

8. (MPP): Druids and divination: magic and religion in the Iron Age. Classical authors such as Julius Caesar and Pliny the Elder have left vivid impressions of the druids as religious and judicial specialists of the European Iron Age. The archaeological record also gives us indications of Iron Age religion, for example, from sanctuaries and votive deposits. This lecture investigates the evidence from both written and archaeological sources for ritual specialization in the Iron Age.

Reading:

Domestic architecture varied across Europe, with longhouses in Germany and Scandinavia, rectangular houses to the south, and roundhouses in Britain and Ireland. Good preservation from a number of sites in Europe and Britain has allowed archaeologists to recover evidence for how people lived in their houses. These examples range from preserved house floors to burnt-down houses with people and animals inside.

Reading:
10. (MPP). Roundhouses and longhouses: society or environment? To what extent is domestic architecture conditioned by social as opposed to environmental considerations? This seminar will explore the arguments for different approaches to understanding Iron Age roundhouse architecture.

4 ONLINE RESOURCES

The full UCL Institute of Archaeology coursework guidelines are given here: http://www.ucl.ac.uk/archaeology/administration/students/handbook

The full text of this handbook is available here (includes clickable links to Moodle and online reading lists if applicable)
http://www.ucl.ac.uk/archaeology/administration/staff/handbook
Moodle
All modules use Moodle. Please include the access code in your handbook (normally in the format ARCL0076 – using the module code) Please contact Charlotte Frearson in room G4 (c.fearson@ucl.ac.uk) for advice.

5 ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

Libraries and other resources
The Library of the Institute of Archaeology contains holdings of particular relevance to this degree.

Attendance
A register will be taken at each class. If you are unable to attend a class, please notify the lecturer by email. Departments are required to report each student’s attendance to UCL Registry at frequent intervals throughout each term.

Information for intercollegiate and interdepartmental students
Students enrolled in Departments outside the Institute should collect hard copy of the Institute’s coursework guidelines from Judy Medrington’s office.

Dyslexia
If you have dyslexia or any other disability, please make your lecturers aware of this. Please discuss with your lecturers whether there is any way in which they can help you. Students with dyslexia are reminded to indicate this on each piece of coursework.

Feedback
In trying to make this module as effective as possible, we welcome feedback from students during the module of the year. All students are asked to give their views on the module in an anonymous questionnaire which will be circulated at one of the last sessions of the module. These questionnaires are taken seriously and help the Module Co-ordinator to develop the module. The summarised responses are considered by the Institute’s Staff-Student Consultative Committee, Teaching Committee, and by the Faculty Teaching Committee.

If students are concerned about any aspect of this module we hope they will feel able to talk to the Module Co-ordinator, but if they feel this is not appropriate, they should consult their Personal Tutor, the Academic Administrator (Judy Medrington), or the Chair of Teaching Committee (Dr. Mark Lake).

Health and safety
The Institute has a Health and Safety policy and code of practice which provides guidance on laboratory work, etc. This is revised annually and the new edition will be issued in due course. All work undertaken in the Institute is governed by these guidelines and students have a duty to be aware of them and to adhere to them at all times.
HOW TO UPLOAD YOUR WORK TO TURNITIN

Note that Turnitin uses the term ‘class’ for what we normally call a ‘module’.

1. Ensure that your essay or other item of coursework has been saved properly, and that you have the Class ID for the module, available from the module handbook or here:
   http://www.ucl.ac.uk/archaeology/studying/undergraduate/courses
   http://www.ucl.ac.uk/archaeology/studying/masters/courses and enrolment password (this is IoA1819 for all modules this session - note that this is capital letter I, lower case letter o, upper case A, number 1, number 4, number 1, number 5)
2. Click on http://www.submit.ac.uk/static_jisc/ac_uk_index.html (NB Not www.turnitin.com, which is the US site) or copy this URL into your favourite web browser
3. Click on ‘New user’
4. Click on ‘Enrol as a student’
5. Create an account using your UCL or other email address. Note that you will be asked to specify a new password for your account - do not use your UCL password or the enrolment password, but invent one of your own (Turnitin will permanently associate this with your account, so you will not have to change it every 3 months unlike your UCL password). Once you have created an account you can just log in at http://www.submit.ac.uk and enrol for your other classes without going through the new user process again.
6. You will then be prompted for the Class ID and enrolment password
7. Click on the module to which you wish to submit your work.
8. Click on the correct assignment.
9. Double-check that you are in the correct module and assignment and then click ‘Submit’
10. Attach document

If you have problems, please email the Turnitin Advisers on ioa-turnitin@ucl.ac.uk, explaining the nature of the problem and the exact module and assignment involved.

One of the Turnitin Advisers will normally respond within 24 hours, Monday-Friday during term. Please be sure to email the Turnitin Advisers if technical problems prevent you from uploading work in time to meet a submission deadline - even if you do not obtain an immediate response from one of the Advisers they will be able to notify the relevant Module Coordinator that you had attempted to submit the work before the deadline.
APPENDIX

INSTITUTE OF ARCHAEOLOGY COURSEWORK PROCEDURES
General policies and procedures concerning modules and coursework, including submission procedures, assessment criteria, and general resources, are available on the IoA Student Administration section of Moodle: https://moodle.ucl.ac.uk/module/view.php?id=40867.

It is essential that you read and comply with these. Note that some of the policies and procedures will be different depending on your status (e.g. undergraduate, postgraduate taught, affiliate, graduate diploma, intercollegiate, interdepartmental). If in doubt, please consult your module co-ordinator.

GRANTING OF EXTENSIONS: Note that there are strict UCL-wide regulations with regard to the granting of extensions for coursework. Note that Module Coordinators are not permitted to grant extensions. All requests for extensions must be submitted on a the appropriate UCL form, together with supporting documentation, via Judy Medrington's office and will then be referred on for consideration. Please be aware that the grounds that are acceptable are limited. Those with long-term difficulties should contact UCL Student Support and Wellbeing to make special arrangements. Please see the IoA Student Administration section of Moodle for further information. Additional information is given here http://www.ucl.ac.uk/srs/academic-manual/c4/extenuating-circumstances/
