Find your h-index in Web of Science

1. Go to the Web of Science (wok.mimas.ac.uk) and click to gain access:

2. Select Author Search from the drop-down menu above the search box.

3. Type your name into the search boxes. Click on Add Author Name Variant beneath the search box to add all the ways that your name might appear in your publications.

4. Click on Finish Search, then click on Article Groups.
The results are now grouped into sets of publications that are likely to have been written by the same person.

5. Tick the checkboxes next to any sets that include your publications and then click on View Records at the top of the list.

6. To generate your h-index, click on Create Citation Report at the top right of the results list.
