

LONDON FESTIVAL OF GREEK DRAMA

March 1988

A co-ordinated programme of performances, lectures, discussions and exhibitions on the drama of ancient Greece.

1 - 5 March: Euripides MEDEA, in English translation.

Presented by the Classical Society, University College London, at the Bloomsbury Theatre.

Further information from: Peter Meineck, Departments of Greek and Latin, University College London, Gower Street, London WC1E 6BT.

16 - 19 March: Aristophanes FROGS, in the original Greek.

Presented by the Department of Classics, King's College London, at the New Theatre, King's College.

Further information from: The Business Manager, Department of Classics, King's College London, Strand, London WC2R 2LS.

At the British Museum:

Lectures, workshops, gallery talks, films on the Greek theatre and its production, ancient and modern.

Further information from: Education Service, British Museum, Great Russell Street, London WC1B 3DG. Telephone: 01.636.1555 ex. 511.

At the Institute of Classical Studies, 31-34 Gordon Square, London WC1H 0PY:

An exhibition on the ancient theatre from the Drama Archive.

Dates and times of opening will be included in all Festival publicity.

* * * * *

If you wish your name to be included on the Festival mailing list, please write to any of the addresses given above.