UCL SUMMER SCHOOL

English Language Skills for Academic Purposes

Key Information

Module code: ISSU0003
Taught during: Session One: Monday 29 June - Friday 17 July 2020
Module workload: 45 teaching hours plus approximately 100 study hours
Module leader: James Sinclair-Knopp
Department: Centre for Languages and International Education
Credit: 15 UCL credits, 7.5 ECTS, 4 US
Level: Level 1, first year undergraduate
Pre-requisites: Standard entry requirements
Assessment: Researched essay (60%), Presentation and Q&A (40%)

Module Overview
The course will cover linguistic structures (a variety of styles and registers from a range of academic authentic material). Various transferable skills will also be developed.

Week One
Reading and Writing
- Identifying text organization: paragraphs, introductions, conclusions
- Selecting sources for research essay writing
- Academic vocabulary
- Grammar for academic writing (as appropriate)

Speaking and Listening
- Self introductions
- Seminar discussions

Week Two
Reading and Writing
- Academic conventions; referencing styles
- Plagiarism (how to avoid it)
- Synthesizing sources
- Summary writing

Please note that this module description is indicative and may be subject to change.
Module Aims
This module aims to familiarise students from other learning cultures with the conventions of academic English and to give practice in their use. Skills in academic reading, writing, speaking and listening will be developed through exposure to a variety of academic texts and lectures, active participation in seminars and presentations, and a series of writing tasks.

For both writing and speaking, attention will be given to linguistic structures of relevance to academic study, as exemplified in model texts. At the same time, a focus on register and style will encourage students to differentiate successfully between the expectations of formal writing and speaking contexts, leading to the independent production of a fully referenced academic essay and individual presentation. In the course of the module, transferable skills in research, synthesis, communication and critical thinking will also be developed.

Teaching Methods
Students are taught in interactive groups. A variety of teaching and learning methods are applied to develop competence in academic English. Students can expect a balance of receptive (reading, listening) and productive (speaking, writing) skills. Suitable authentic academic written and spoken material will be exploited in class, with the opportunity for self-study support.

Learning Outcomes
Upon successful completion of this module, students will:
- Be better able to understand and use theories and conventions of written academic literacy
- Be better able to use rhetorical and logical strategies to express ideas effectively in writing
- Develop their own voice and position themselves in texts
- Employ relevant strategies for distinct tasks, ranging from giving presentations to preparing coursework for undergraduate study

Assessment Methods
- 2,000-word researched essay (60%)
- 10-minute presentation & 5-minute Q&A (40%)
Key Texts

Module Leader
James Sinclair-Knopp is a senior EAP programme coordinator and the Assessment Co-ordinator at the Centre for Languages and International Education (CLIE). He has taught English for Academic Purposes for over 20 years, both in the UK and overseas.
Assessment Methods
- 2,000-word researched essay (60%)
- 10-minute presentation & 5-minute Q&A (40%)

Key Texts

Please note that this module description is indicative and may be subject to change.