

What do UCL Graduates do?

You might be considering UCL as a prospective student, be part way through your degree or you may have already graduated. Whatever your situation, you will find interest in discovering what UCL alumni have gone on to do following their degree.

Search by course and department

This dashboard from UCL Careers details what graduates were doing 15 months after graduating, where they work and what they earn, so you can understand possible career paths.

Use the filters to show data that is of interest to you.

Filter by study level
Undergraduate

Filter by department
Economics

Filter by course
All

Filter by fee status
All

Number of responses is 374

Of all those available for work or study, 92.8% were either in professional work or postgraduate study or had just completed a course of postgraduate study

Mean salary £40,427

Median salary £35,000

	Graduates (%)	Graduates
work	73.8%	276
study	16.3%	61
unemployed & due to start work or study	0.8%	3
other	5.3%	20
unemployed	3.7%	14
Grand Total	100.0%	374

Where do graduates work?

Graduates have found employment in 19 countries

- UK
- Overseas
- EU

© 2022 Mapbox © OpenStreetMap

Hover over the map for more detail

Industry sector
All

Select the industry filter to see employers and job titles by sector.

Industry sectors

Employers

EY	12
Deloitte LLP	11
PwC	10
HSBC Bank plc	8
JP Morgan Chase and Co	8
KPMG LLP	8
Deutsche Bank	7
FTI Consulting	5
Central Bank of Malaysia	4
Morgan Stanley	4
Barclays Bank plc	3
Citigroup	3
Mckinsey and Company	3

Job titles

Finance and investment analysts and advisers	90
Management consultants and business analysts	31
Chartered and certified accountants	27
Actuaries, economists and statisticians	26
Business and related research professionals	10
Brokers	9
Marketing associate professionals	8
Data analysts	7
Business associate professionals n.e.c.	6
Information technology professionals n.e.c.	-

About this data

The data in this section has been collected through the annual Graduate Outcomes survey, aggregated over the three most recent surveys (2017-18, 2018-19 and 2019-20). Salary is calculated for those whose main activity was working full-time. Not all graduates who respond provide details of their location, salary and employer. Employers and job titles lists are sorted by most common, then alphabetically.