MA in English Linguistics – Phonetics and Phonology

Reading list

Please note that many of these books are in the UCL Language & Speech Science Library at Chandler House, a few minutes’ walk from our Department – you have full access to the library there.

Core textbooks:

Other recommended reading – starred items are particularly user-friendly; texts marked with [e] are available as e-books through the library

- this is essentially a collection of transcription exercises

Longman (not a textbook, but includes highly informative entries on phonetic topics).

Don’t forget to look at the list of links on Moodle for further resources, exercises, and other useful information!