Hazlitt and his Circle

The 2018 Annual Hazlitt Lecture and the 17th Hazlitt Day School, organized by Gregory Dart, Uttara Natarajan, Philipp Hunnekuhl and James Whitehead, will this year be dedicated to Hazlitt and his circle, and will take place at University College London on Saturday 22nd September 2018.
The Annual Lecture, entitled ‘Hazlitt and Lamb: Spirits of the Age’ will be given by Dr. Felicity James of the University of Leicester from 4pm UCL, venue to be announced. Attendance is free of charge. The Day School precedes the Annual Lecture from 9.30am and provides an opportunity for readers and scholars of Hazlitt to explore a whole range of topics relating to Hazlitt and his circle, as well as to meet each other and exchange ideas.

A small fee applies for the admission to the Day-school (£20/£15), which includes morning coffee, lunch and afternoon tea. The organizers hope to welcome back a large number of regular attendees, as well as new participants.

The pace of the event is comparatively relaxed, yet a good deal is included in the morning and early afternoon: David Woodhouse will give the opening lecture, and shorter papers will be delivered by Mario Aquilani, Hannah Tran and Michael Steier. After the Annual Lecture, the day will conclude at the Marlborough Arms, Torrington Place, in close proximity to University College, from 5.30pm.
