Health impacts of deprivation

- Poor physical and mental health
- Child development
- School readiness
- Educational attainment
- High risk behaviours
- Youth crime

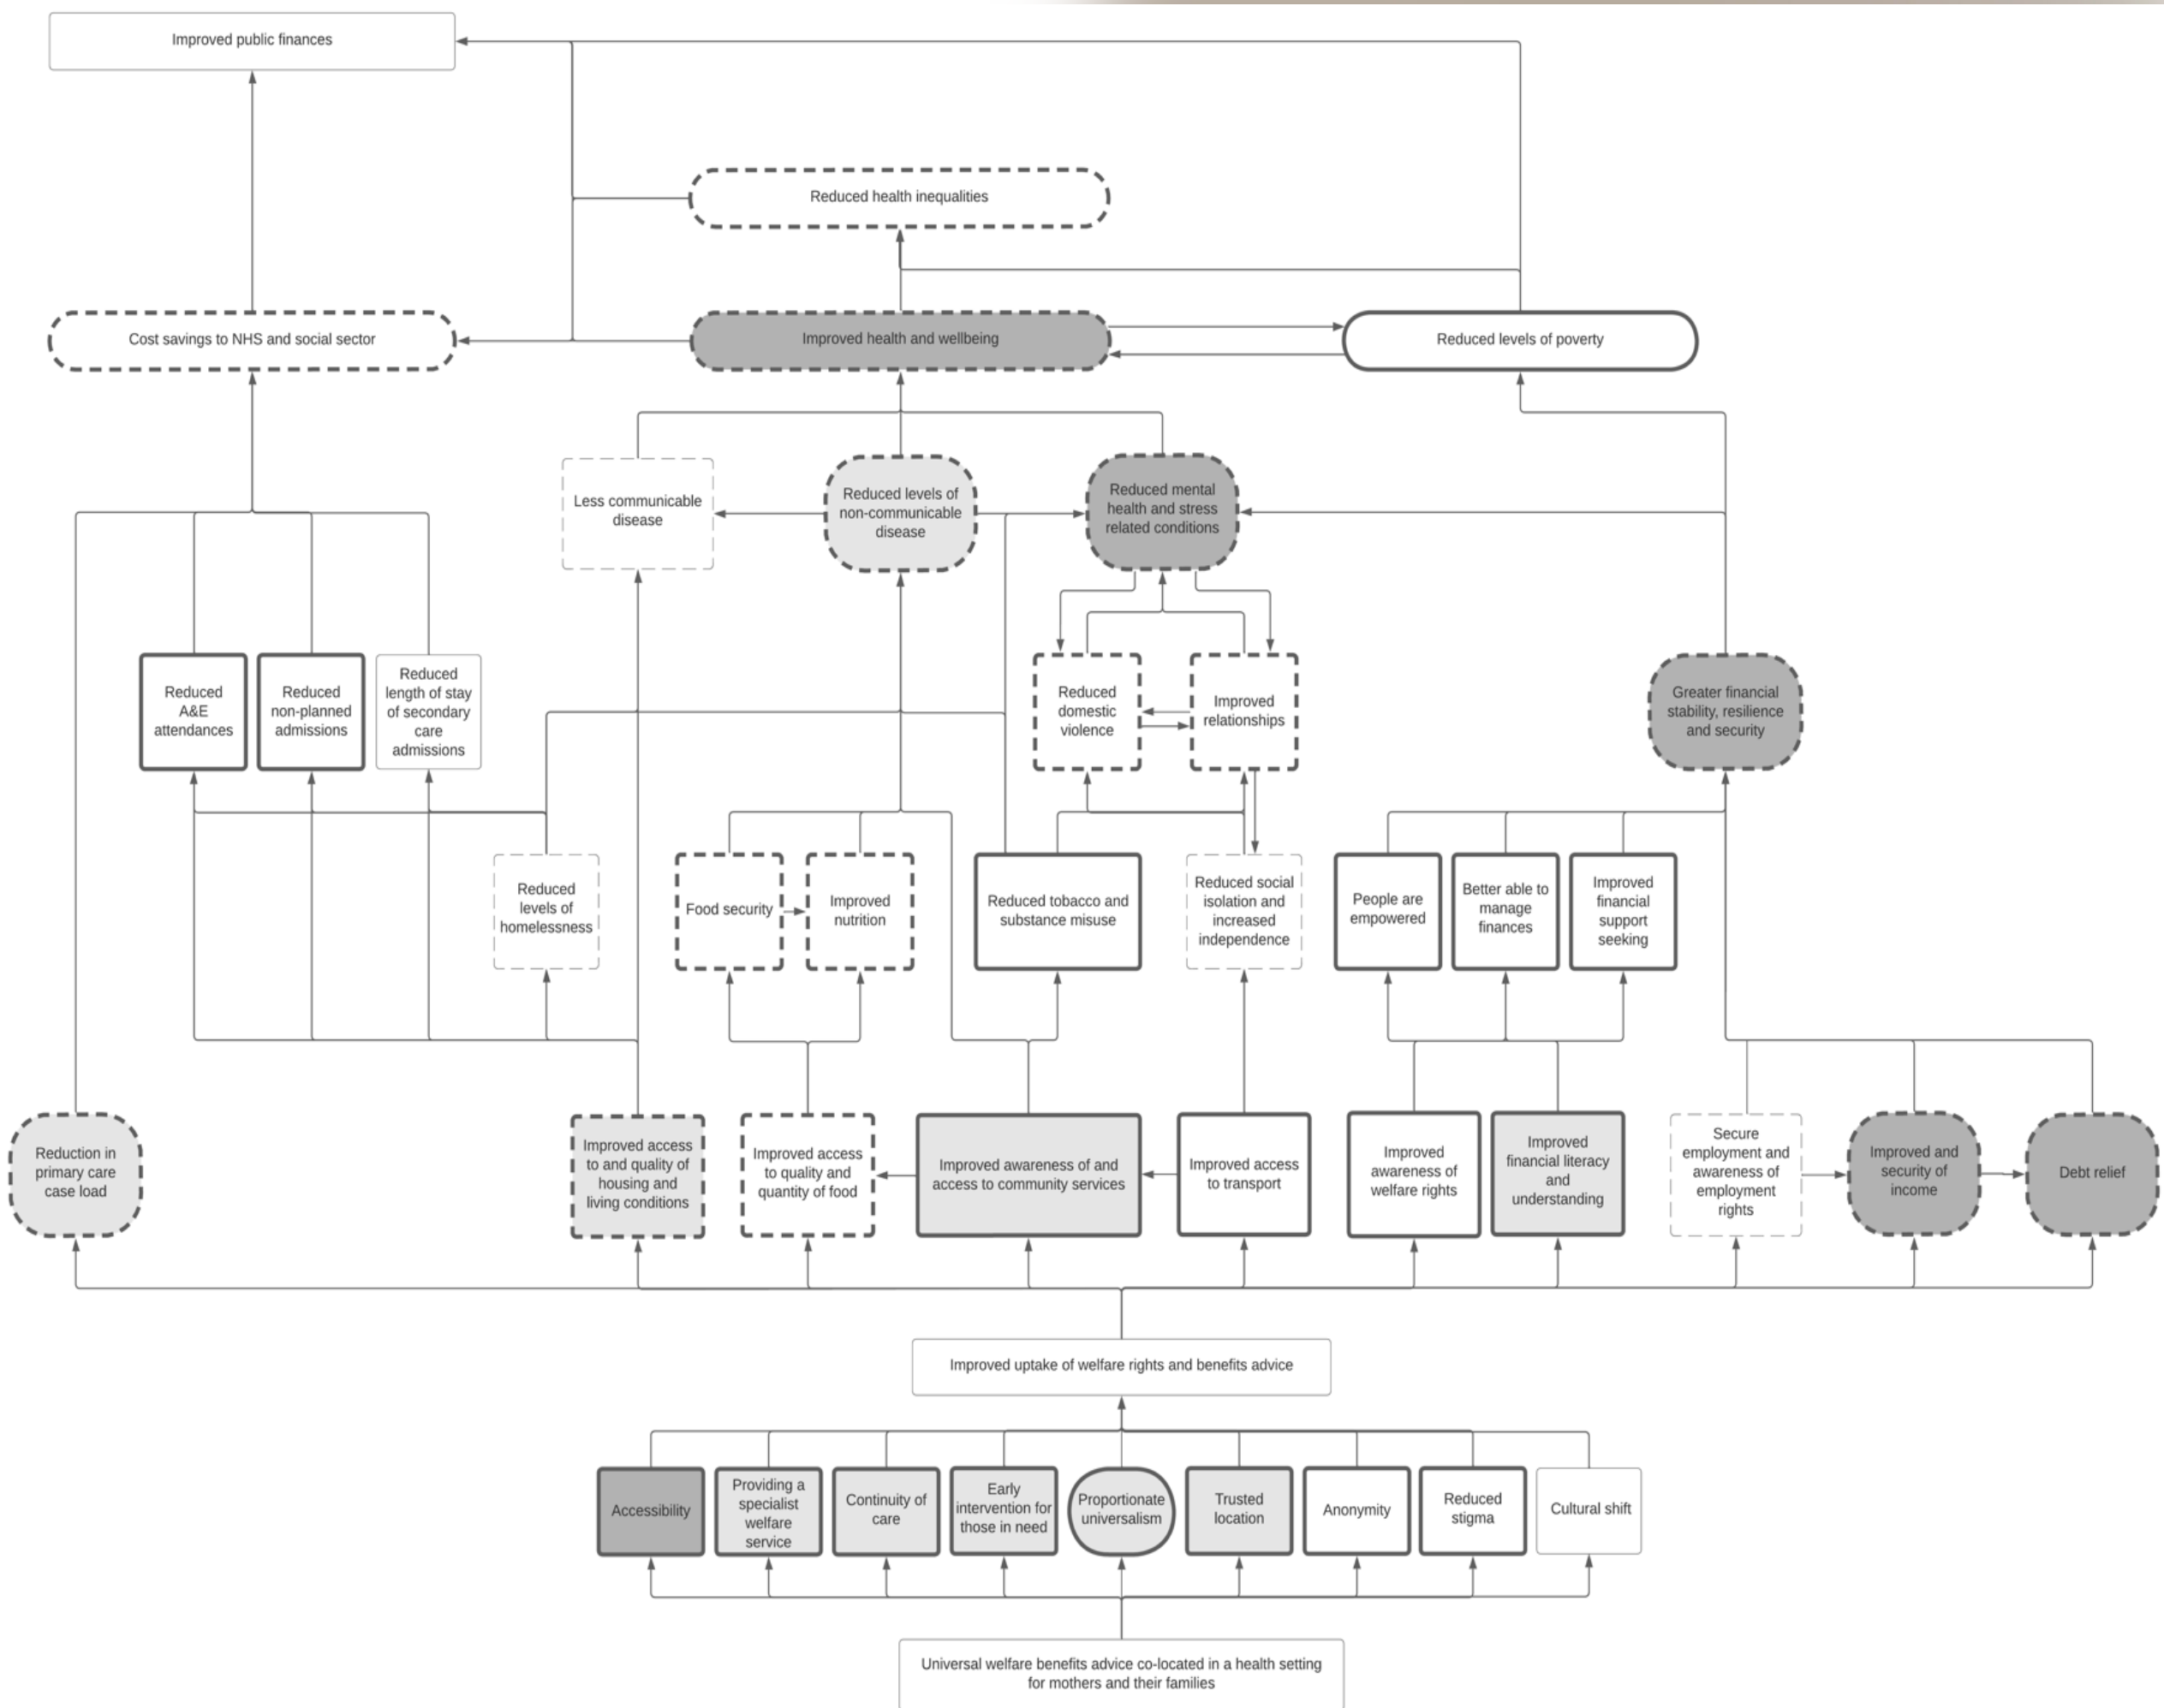

Health impacts of deprivation

Source: adapted from Dahlgren and Whitehead, 1991

Health justice partnerships

- Welfare advice service delivered with a physical or functional link with health settings
 - Demonstrable improved financial security and health and wellbeing for patients
 - Improved job satisfaction and reduced perceived workload for healthcare professionals
 - Proportionate universalism

Health justice partnerships in health settings for mothers and their families

- Antenatal and postnatal periods as unique teachable moments
- Universal provision of care

Challenges

- How to design services to reach those most in need?
- How to improve recruitment?
- How to effectively evaluate the implementation and effectiveness of interventions?
