News stories

If you are wanting to link to a news story available via Lexis/Nexis, find the story in the Nexis database (rather than Lexis) as the former will provide a stable link that can be used with ReadingLists@UCL. Please be aware that Lexis News does not provide a stable link but Lexis Case Law does. The example below shows how to use the permanent link (looks like an interlinked chain) from a news story on Nexis.

Farage targets UKIP general election swoop on Aylesbury as MP Lidington admi

LENGTH: 659 words

UKIP is preparing for an assault on Aylesbury at next year's general election after coming first among Vale voters in the Europ…

Leader Nigel Farage has included the constituency in a list of a dozen towns he thinks the party has a chance of winning – de… huge majority.

He said: "Aylesbury is one of our target seats – we've had successes at district council and county council and (UKIP candidate) Chris Adams is very well known locally.We are also vehemently opposed to HS2, it's totally the wrong set of priorities and this the wrong thing for the area."

Local UKIP councillors echoed Mr Farage's views and believe anger over HS2 will also gain the party votes.

Mr Adams, who will again stand as the party's candidate in 2015 having been beaten soundly five years ago, said: "The political landscape since the last general election has totally changed.People don't trust politicians any more and are fed up with the political classes not representing local people.

"People in Aylesbury don't like HS2 and we have issues like the failed Aylesbury Vale Plan and building on greenbelt land. I think people generally don't feel that they are in control, or that they can have their say about what they want."

He added: "I am looking to fight a very clean campaign."

Phil Gomm, the newly elected UKIP chairman for Aylesbury and Buckingham, said: "I'm sick to the teeth of those people that say we are a bunch of clowns. We are actually a bunch of very hard working people.I think people will vote for UKIP because we actually have a chance of being able to give people what they want.

"All of our councillors are local to the area, and even though we do not control the council we work extremely hard for our constituents.

"The Conservatives do not have their finger on the pulse anymore."

3-Fields will need to be manually added to provide full citation i.e. title, date, publication etc.
Use the drop down menu.

2-Delete the URL in the web address field and replace with the stable URL.
See last section of document for how to add a proxy url to allow off campus access.

4- You can click on the link on the right hand-pane, where it says - "click here to open Nexis document in a new window" to retrieve the bibliographic details.
If you are short of time, do send the list for review and TLSS will amend for you.

Bookmarking from Lexis

You can use this database for bookmarking case law or alternatively you can use WestLaw (see separate instructions).

Click "share link" to create a permanent link and follow the instructions as in the Nexis example above to bookmark the item to your reading list.

Off campus access

To ensure bookmarks work off campus it is necessary to add some information to the link within the bookmark. Staff in the Library can do this on your behalf, or if you would like to complete this step yourself, please follow the example below.

To ensure links from Lexis/Nexis work off campus, an additional piece of information will need to be added to the Web Address field. This will direct the link via our proxy server and avoid the need to log in via institutional log in for off campus access.
libproxy.ucl.ac.uk will need to be added to the start of the URL immediately after lexisnexis.com. So the URL will then read:

http://www.lexisnexis.com.libproxy.ucl.ac.uk/uk/legal/results/docview/docview.do?docLinkInd=true &...

Library staff will, of course, add this piece of information during the 'Review' process if you do not have time to complete this step yourself.
