

MAPS EDI Funding Call: Take bold action for inclusion 2022-2023

The MAPS EDI Strategic Plan from 2019-2022 aims to improve our study, research, teaching, and overall work environments, such that every student and staff member in the faculty can develop a sense of belonging and feel encouraged and supported to develop their full potential.

In alignment with our MAPS EDI Strategic plan, we are opening the first ever MAPS EDI Funding Call “Take bold action for inclusion.” The aim is to provide support to EDI initiatives that focus on developing or strengthening inclusive environments for staff or students in the Faculty. Depending on availability of funding, we are planning to fund 7 projects for up to £3,000 each.

The projects should address inclusivity regarding, but not limited to, disability, the LGBTQ+ community, gender, race and ethnicity, religion or belief, or socio-economic background.

Who can apply?

The lead applicant must be member of staff or PhD student, but the project may be done in collaboration with undergraduate, postgraduate taught and/or research graduate students.

We would like to encourage applications from departmental EDI-related networks, departmental EDI committees, and any individual member of staff passionate about taking bold action for inclusion.

Assessment

A Faculty panel will assess the proposals. All applications should clearly show that the proposed project:

- has a clearly defined target audience, and

We also welcome projects that foster collaboration between departments or institutes in the Faculty.
