What is Enable@UCL?
Enable@UCL is a network open to any UCL staff with impairments and those with an interest in Disability Equality at UCL. It enables Disabled staff to get to know each other, make professional alliances, offer peer support, share information and join in social events.

What does the network do?
This network hopes to raise awareness of barriers to maximise Disabled staff potential through regular meetings and seminars.

There is also an email group for members to communicate virtually and share information about disability-related events, publications and news stories. The email group and the list of members is maintained by the Equalities and Diversity Team in UCL HR.

How do I become a member?
To become a member send an email from your UCL email address to enable@ucl.ac.uk and you will be added to the mailing list. You can receive the group emails on your personal email address if you prefer.
