

Friends Slade School of Fine Art

Membership Form

The Slade School of Fine Art, UCL, is one of the foremost art schools in the world with an excellent record of teaching and research. It is staffed by practicing artists as well as scholars of the history and theory of art, for the education of professional artists. Membership fees and donations from Friends of the Slade are vital in allowing us to fund many activities that the School would otherwise be unable to offer.

Annual Membership is just £35 but donations of all sizes are welcomed.

Membership fees and donations are currently used to fund many activities including

Scholarships and Travel Scholarships, Visiting Artists, Life Models, Equipment, Publications, Project Awards, Bursaries and Competitions.

Friends of the Slade receive

An invitation to Slade Exhibitions and private views

Currently the Slade organises three exhibitions: the undergraduate and graduate Degree Shows in the summer and the Interim Show in the autumn featuring the work of continuing graduate students.

An invitation to exhibitions in the UCL Art Museum

The UCL Art Museum has a fascinating and varied collection, including works produced by Slade students over the last 100 years, and great treasures such as a famous Turner watercolour, important 16th-century German drawings, and a superb collection of prints from the 15th century to the present day. The UCL Art Museum holds regular exhibitions each year, including a collaborative exhibition with Slade students.

An invitation to the William Townsend Memorial Lecture This lecture series was founded in 1974 in memory of William Townsend who was a staff member of the Slade from 1949–1973 and Professor of Fine Art from 1968–1973. Lectures are on any aspect of British art in the 20th Century. Recent speakers have included Rachel Whiteread, Bridget Riley, Bruce McLean, Norman Bryson, Michael Craig Martin, Derek Boshier, Phyllida Barlow and William Kentridge.

An invitation to the December Open Studios, Christmas Drinks and special events

This is an opportunity to meet staff and students and see work in progress.
