

UPCOMING HALF-DAY SYMPOSIUM

FOOD AND MEDICAL TRADITIONS FROM THE PLANT WORLD: EXPLORING HERBAL USES

12 October 2016
1330 – 1730 pm

Join us for a half-day symposium at University College London (UCL) to explore the changing role of herbal traditions within our food and health systems.

Invited speakers include Prof. Monique Simmonds OBE, Deputy Director of Science at the Royal Botanic Gardens Kew, and Prof. Sabine Anagnostou of Philipps-Universität Marburg and President of the German Society for the History of Pharmacy. The afternoon will be chaired by Prof. Michael Heinrich of the UCL School of Pharmacy.

CALL FOR POSTERS: research poster abstracts are being accepted. Send us your abstract (<350 words) with a list of authors to UCLSpicesandMedicine@gmail.com by 12 SEPT.

This is a free event. Register online at:

uclspices2016.eventbrite.co.uk

See you there!