74 SCHOOL OF LIFE AND MEDICAL SCIENCES: PROPOSED RESTRUCTURE

Received

74.1 APPENDIX C 3/68 (10-11) – a note by the Vice- Provost (Health), setting out proposals for the restructuring of UCL’s School of Life and Medical Sciences.

74.2 An oral report by Professor Sir John Tooke, Vice- Provost (Health) and Head of the School of Life and Medical Sciences.

Noted

74.3 UCL Statute 8(1) provided that:

There shall be within the College such Faculties as the Council on the advice of the Academic Board may from time to time determine.

74.4 At its meeting on 2 March 2011 Academic Board had endorsed the above restructuring proposals. Subject to the outcome of this Council discussion, it was expected that the detailed amendments to the schedule of faculties and academic units of UCL would be submitted to subsequent meetings of Academic Board (on 25 May) and Council (on 6 July) for formal endorsement and approval respectively.

Reported

74.5 The history of biomedicine at UCL was one of iterative growth through the incorporation, over the course of recent decades, of three medical schools and a number of postgraduate institutes. Although the current structure of the School of Life and Medical Sciences had evidently not been a barrier to success in recent years, it was judged essential to the School’s continued success that its structure be adapted in the light of changing funding circumstances and an increasingly competitive international environment.

74.6 The current structure had a number of fundamental weaknesses: the scale of the Faculty of Biomedical Sciences tended to obscure from the outside world a number of its core strengths; and SLMS was seen as under-represented on the Provost’s Senior Management Team. In developing the current proposals, Professor Tooke had considered a number of different models. A tripartite division of the School would not address the unwieldy size of the clinical provision, whereas the creation of more than four faculties would risk incurring unacceptably high administrative costs. The proposed four-faculty model was deemed to strike a suitable balance. The model also proposed to establish ‘research domains’, i.e. cross-faculty structural arrangements designed to facilitate interdisciplinary interaction across the School. These were not line-managed units but groupings brought together for the purpose of developing funding bids and developing technologies. Research studentships and fellowships would also be created to encourage interdisciplinary collaboration.

74.7 The new Faculty of Population Health would embrace life-course studies with an increased commitment to the study of healthy ageing, and would reflect an evolving relationship with the London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine. This would map onto the strategic priorities of the MRC and mirror the strengths of UKCMRI. The new faculty structure would mirror the themes of UCL Partners and although this had not been a primary consideration in developing the proposals, would align well with the structure of units of assessment in REF 2014. The proposals included the creation of a common portal for industry, jointly with UCL Partners.

74.8 The principal threat inherent in the proposals was that of increased management costs; it was envisaged, however, that, due to the proportion of relatively high-level administrative staff accrued through the organic growth of SLMS over the years it should be possible to carry through the restructure process without increasing costs. It was thought advisable to implement the proposed changes in time for the start of the next academic year in order to avoid an extended period of uncertainty.

74.9 The proposals had been fully endorsed by the School’s Senior Executive Group and by the SMT. Council was asked at this stage to endorse the proposals in principle.

Discussion

74.10 Council members enquired after the arrangements for performance monitoring within the School. Professor Tooke noted that a Planning and Performance Committee monitored progress through a series of boards, each chaired by a Faculty Dean. Strategy was informed by a series of visits to academic departments in which these departments were invited to outline their ambitions and the perceived barriers in achieving them.

74.11 The Provost noted that the sector was subject to increasingly close scrutiny by funding and charitable bodies and entering into a regime of fewer, longer, larger grants; the new structure was fundamental to UCL’s ability to present its strategy in a comprehensible way and compete successfully in this environment.

74.12 Although the direction of travel embodied in the proposals had received widespread support from staff within the School, the issue of the name of the neuroscience faculty continued to cause concern, not least within the very distinguished neuroscience community in the Faculty of Life Sciences. Professor Tooke confirmed that, as noted in his paper to Council, the names of all four faculties were subject to further consultation; and that Council endorsement of the plans in principle did not imply approval of the forms of the names used in the current paper. For the time being, Council noted that neuroscience was a key academic strength of UCL and the importance of communicating this effectively in the names of the academic units concerned.

74.13 The paper was relatively brief in order to draw attention to the key strategic features of the proposals. Although it included no representation of the constituent units in terms of FTEs, turnover, staff or student numbers, careful modelling in these areas had been carried out. The results of an independent review of the implications of the proposed restructure for management costs could be made available on request.

74.14 Council approved the strategy underlying the proposals and the future SLMS structure described. The Chair confirmed that Council was not at this stage signing off on any particular faculty names or structures.

RESOLVED

74.15 That, subject to consultation on the names of the Faculties concerned, and further consideration of detailed proposals at its meeting on 6 July 2011, Council endorse the proposals for restructuring of the School of Life and Medical Sciences set out at APPENDIX C 3/68 (10-11).

75 UCL UNION GOVERNANCE

[Council Minute 115, 2009-10]

Noted

75.1 At its meeting on 6 July 2010 Council had received from the student members of Council an update on the progress of plans to reform the governance of UCL Union. It was expected that proposals would be submitted to Council during the course of the academic year 2010-11.

75.2 Dr Barber and Mr Chessum declared an interest in the matter in that they were Trustees of UCL Union. Council noted that Mr Burgess, who joined the meeting at a later stage, was also a Trustee.

Received

75.3 Oral reports by Ms Mandy Smith, Democracy and Engagement Officer, UCL Union.
75a UCLU Governance from 1 August 2011

Received

75a.1 APPENDIX C 3/69 (10-11) – a briefing note to Council on UCLU’s proposed governance arrangements with effect from 1 August 2011.

75a.2 APPENDIX C 3/70 (10-11) – the Memorandum and Articles of Association (and at * Annexe 1 the Bye-laws) associated with the proposed new governance arrangements.

Reported

75a.3 After four years of debate the Union had reached agreement on its future governance arrangements, operational with effect from 1 August 2011. The Union would now become a Limited Liability Company under the terms set out in the Memorandum and Articles of Association that would become the governing document of the new Incorporated UCLU, which maintained the Union’s charitable objects, set out the scope of what the Union could do and clarified the roles of the Trustees. The name would change from UCL Union to UCLU. All issues both known and unknown transferred to the new structure, with the exception of the sports grounds [see Minute 75c below].

Discussion

75a.4 The Chair, on behalf of Council, congratulated Ms Smith and her colleagues on achieving a 92% vote in favour of setting up the incorporated Union, and on reaching a satisfactory resolution of what had been a complex and divisive issue.

RESOLVED

75a.5 That Council approve the Memorandum and Articles of Association that will become the governing document of the new Incorporated UCLU.

75b Constitution of Federated Union

Received

75b.1 APPENDIX C 3/71 (10-11) – a briefing note to Council on the constitution of the federated Union.

75b.2 APPENDIX C 3/72 (10-11) – the proposed updated version of the UCLU Constitution.

Reported

75b.3 Notwithstanding the creation of the new Incorporated Union, it was not possible to dissolve the old Union structure under the terms of the Trust without triggering a compulsory sale of the Shenley Sports
Grounds. It was therefore proposed that UCL act as sole corporate Trustee of the dormant Union until the end of the Trust Period in 2022.

RESOLVED

75b.4 That Council approve the amended constitution of the federated UCL Union.

Shenley Sports Ground Trust Deeds

Received

75c.2 APPENDIX C 3/75 (10-11) – the proposed updated Scheme (replacing the current Trust Deeds at * Annexe 1).

Reported

75c.3 A new deed had been drawn up in respect of the Shenley Trust, differing in detail from the deeds of the old men’s and women’s unions only where those deeds differed from each other. Council was being asked to approve the new deeds in principle although approval would still be needed from the Charity Commission. The requirement was that the draft Scheme be publicised or a case made to the Charity Commission as to why this need not be done.

Discussion

75c.4 Council authorised the Provost to write to the Charity Commission proposing that in the present case it would be appropriate for the requirement to advertise the draft Scheme to be dispensed with. Council also authorised the Provost act as signatory for the proposed Scheme.

RESOLVED

75c.5 That Council approve in principle the updated Trust Deeds for the UCL Sports Grounds (Shenley) for forwarding to the Charity Commission.

75c.6 That Council authorise the Provost (i) to write to the Charity Commission proposing that in the present case it would be appropriate for the requirement to advertise the draft Scheme to be dispensed with and (ii) to act as signatory for the proposed scheme.
FINANCIAL UPDATE 2010-11

Noted
76.1 This matter had been considered by Finance Committee at its meeting on 23 March 2011.

Received
76.2 APPENDIX C 3/76 (10-11) – the Financial Update (March 2011).
76.3 Oral reports by Mrs Alison Woodhams, Director of Finance, and the Treasurer (on behalf of Finance Committee).

Reported
76.4 The forecast operating surplus was currently ahead of budget by £2.7m. Tuition fee income, driven by increases in student numbers, was £11m higher than budget. Forecast research income was £2.5m down on budget; a reduction in overhead contributions was responsible for half of the shortfall. The figures did not include the increase in HEFCE clawback from a budgeted £3.5m to £4.5m.

76.5 Expenditure in CSS divisions was forecast at £700k lower than the budgeted figure. Two CSS Divisions were not at present hitting their budget improvement targets: Information Systems, due to a restructure process falling behind schedule; and the Registry, due to the later than expected implementation of the fees for taught postgraduate applications.

76.6 The current CIF period would end on 31 March 2011 by which time UCL’s allocation would be spent in its entirety under the conditions of the CIF programme. Following the withdrawal of CIF funding, financial updates would in future integrate capital funding within the accounts, and would include a greater amount of detail, including planning.

76.7 Debt as a proportion of turnover was down. There was a notable improvement in the profile of aged student debt. Cash balances had fallen but a healthy cash balance was nevertheless forecast for the end of the year.

76.8 UCL’s overseas operations in South Australia and Astana, Kazakhstan were currently forecast to break even.

Discussion
76.9 It was noted that the year to date figures given in APPENDIX C 3/76 (10-11) represented half of the annual budget. There were no adjustments for phasing in the forecasts as there was very little information on historical actuals on which to base such assumptions.
It would be possible to develop this area in future as the budget was now carried out on a financial accounting basis.

76.10 The Minutes of the Finance Committee meeting of 24 November 2010 referred to a writing off of NHS debt from the three large partner NHS trusts (UCLH, the Royal Free (RFH) and the Royal National Orthopaedic Hospital (RNOH)) in order to clear backlogs of long outstanding debt. It was difficult to get a clear idea of the source of this debt as there was insufficient backup documentation in many cases. Council members highlighted the risk of debt arising as a result of the new NHS structure, for example where the abolition of Strategic Health Authorities closed the budgets to which particular debts had been assigned.

76.11 In response to a question on the integration of overseas activities and the lack of clarity over the locus of liability for failure, Mrs Woodhams noted that Finance Committee had received a paper on minimising the risk to overseas operations. It was agreed that this be considered by Council, as part of a detailed report on the financial performance of the overseas operations which was currently expected to be submitted to the July meeting of Council.

77 HEFCE GRANT ANNOUNCEMENT 2011-12

Noted

77.1 This matter had been considered by Finance Committee at its meeting on 23 March 2011.

77.2 UCL had received details of its HEFCE grant for 2011-12 on 14 March 2011. This was followed by the publication of grant details for all institutions on 17 March 2011.

77.3 The proposed UCL Budget for the financial year 2011-12 would be submitted to the 6 July 2011 meeting of Council for approval.

Received

77.4 APPENDIX C 3/77 (10-11) with Annexe 1 – a report on the HEFCE grant announcement by the Director of Financial Planning and Strategy.

77.5 Oral reports by the Director of Finance, the Treasurer (on behalf of Finance Committee) and the Provost.

Reported

77.6 UCL’s T grant for 2011-12 had been cut by 4.6%, against 5.4% for the sector. Research funding across the sector was cut by 1.07%; UCL had seen a 1.36% increase due to the revised weightings applied to mainstream QR, and the protection for STEM subjects.
Cash distribution of charity QR and business research was unchanged but UCL’s share had fallen due to an increase in eligible activity across the sector. HEFCE had reinstated teaching capital funding, worth £1.1 million to UCL next year. CIF funding in the period 2012-15 would, however, be reduced by 70% from the 2008-11 allocation.

77.7 The overall settlement was broadly as expected. As previously noted by Council, UCL had been significantly protected by the flat cash settlement for the Science Budget announced in October 2010, following the Government’s Comprehensive Spending Review. A further adjustment of quality weighting in mainstream QR was anticipated; this was not expected to be detrimental to UCL.

77.8 The success of Oxford University in increasing its recurrent funding by 1.4% over 2010-11 levels was noted. This was thought to be principally due to a sharp increase in the research grant profile and significant input in charitable donations. Oxford’s strategic focus on the arts and humanities was noted.

78 TUITION FEES 2012-13

Noted

78.1 This matter had been considered by Finance Committee at its meeting on 23 March 2011.

Received

78.2 APPENDIX C 3/78 (10-11) – a note by the Vice-Provost (Operations), setting out a proposal for the Home/EU undergraduate tuition fee for 2012-13.

78.3 Oral reports by Mr Rex Knight, Vice-Provost (Operations), and the Treasurer (on behalf of Finance Committee).

78.4 A briefing note from UUK on the implications of competition law for operating in the new funding environment was tabled at the meeting (and is filed with these Minutes as APPENDIX C 3/85 (10-11)). The Provost confirmed that these matters were taken seriously by the sector as a whole and that UCL had been fully observant of the strictures outlined in the UUK note.

Discussion

78.5 The fee level, once agreed, was binding for one year but could be revised thereafter, including for existing students. It was possible that, if the Government were not happy with the level of fees being charged by universities, it might decide to increase the cap on fees in future years at a rate below the level of inflation.
78.6 The Treasurer reported Finance Committee’s discussion of the proposals in the Vice-Provost (Operations)’s note. In light of factors such as the nature of assumptions in the financial forecasts regarding staff costs, the challenge of continuing to increase research income, the deep concerns regarding the lack of guarantee over that portion of capital funding which did remain, and the lack of clarity over the rules relating to student numbers, Finance Committee had concluded that a fee level of less than £9,000 was not a viable option for UCL. The Provost noted also his concerns over the issues of student visas, the impact of raising overseas and postgraduate fees, and the fundamental viability of the funding structure if it were not to result in a raid by the Treasury on other sources of HE funding. It was also noted that in the current inflationary environment the value of fees set now and not received until October 2012 would decline.

78.7 It would be important for the seriousness of the funding situation to be clearly communicated in any announcement about UCL’s intended fee levels, and for UCL to liaise with UCLU regarding the best way to put this forward in a transparent and helpful way. In light of continuing widespread misconceptions, it was clear that the sector would need to embark on a major and concerted communication exercise regarding the nature of the funding scheme. It was suggested that OFFA or BIS should be doing more to combat the prevailing misconceptions about the scheme. Student organisations were working with students and school careers services in this area but were struggling against media more interested in fees than in bursary arrangements. It was suggested that UCL would be well advised to be as transparent as possible in terms of the breakdown of charges to students, in order to help communicate the volume of bursaries which the rise in fees would support. This would complement initiatives, such as the Key Information Set, designed to clarify to students what they could expect from their university.

78.8 Mr Chessum noted his formal objection to the proposed fee level. He suggested that universities were guilty of pleading the inevitability of a process which was in his view a direct result of the Russell Group’s arguing for a rise in fees in the past, and its rejection of the NUS argument that any such rise would be used to plug a gap in Government funding for higher education. He was not convinced that any access agreement could mitigate the structural bias against lower socio-economic groups which the new fees regime would reinforce; in his view the issue was one of debt aversity, not communication.

Resolved – on the recommendation of Finance Committee

78.9 That the proposal for the Home/EU undergraduate tuition fee for 2012-13 at APPENDIX C 3/78 (10-11) be approved.
79  ACCESS AGREEMENT

Noted

79.1 This matter had been considered by Finance Committee at its meeting on 23 March 2011.

79.2 Higher education institutions wishing to charge fees of more than £6,000 for new full-time Home/EU undergraduate entrants from 2012-13 were required to have a new Access Agreement approved by the Office for Fair Access (OFFA). The Access Agreement would set out how the institution intended to improve access for and retention of students from disadvantaged backgrounds.

Received

79.3 APPENDIX C 3/79 (10-11) – the proposed UCL Access Agreement.

79.4 An oral report by the Vice-Provost (Operations).

Reported

79.5 The draft agreement proposed that UCL spend approximately 30% of its additional fee income on access commitments, including bursaries and outreach activities. There were no proposals to establish fee waiver arrangements.

79.6 UCL was already at the forefront of the sector in terms of outreach activities but it was proposed that these be expanded. The UCL Academy was a key development in this area. It was hoped that a programme of work with school teaching staff could be developed, and consideration was being given to establishing foundation or intensive summer programmes for pupils between years 12 and 13, in order to improve A-level attainment.

Discussion

79.7 It was noted that it was not clear whether CPI or RPI was being referred to in the statement in the Access Agreement that ‘...this fee will rise annually in order to maintain value in real terms. Students will therefore be subject to annual increases in line with the amount set by the regulations’. The Financial Forecasts had assumed that such annual increases would be permitted, although Government confirmation on this point had not been received.

79.8 It was not yet clear whether the suggested foundation programmes would be financially viable, although it was noted that similar courses for international students run by the UCL Language Centre were successful, as were similar arrangements in other institutions. It was suggested that such ideas could be trialled in the UCL Academy.
79.9 Once an access agreement was accepted by OFFA, the institution concerned would be required to submit an annual monitoring statement on the basis of which OFFA would take a view on whether progress had been acceptable. OFFA had powers of financial sanction or, in extremis, to refuse to accept an access agreement.

79.10 Although OFFA required access agreements to address the matter of access to a university's own programmes, the challenge for HEIs was clearly the issue of access to the sector as a whole. Further consideration would be given to the partnership aspect of the access agreement. It was noted, however, that the UCL Academy would not be a feeder school for UCL.

79.11 Council approved the proposed Access Agreement, noting that the Vice-Provost (Operations) would take on board points raised in the Council discussion before the document was finalised and submitted to OFFA by its 19 April 2011 deadline.

RESOLVED – on the recommendation of Finance Committee

79.12 That the UCL Access Agreement at APPENDIX C 3/79 (10-11) be approved.

80 FINANCIAL FORECASTS TO 2013-14

Noted

80.1 This matter had been considered by Finance Committee at its meeting on 23 March 2011.

80.2 At its meeting on 24 November 2010 Council had noted that UCL would be submitting to HEFCE immediately its financial accounts for 2009-10 and forecast for the period to 31 July 2011, but had opted to defer submission of its Financial Forecasts for the years 2011-12, 2012-13 and 2013-14 to April 2011, by which time it was hoped that the future funding position would be clearer.

Received

80.4 Oral reports by the Director of Finance and the Treasurer (on behalf of Finance Committee).

Reported

80.5 The further clarification of funding arrangements by the Government, anticipated when the decision had been made to defer the submission of the Financial Forecasts to April 2011, had to a large extent not transpired. A further forecast would be submitted in November 2011.

Discussion

80.6 It was noted that table 5 of the appendix (supporting data) included reference to the potential in the Student Accommodation Strategy for the release of capital from the estate through leaseback agreements. Council members discussed the advisability of including reference to such arrangements in the forecasts. It was suggested that this was a course of action that could give the impression of an organisation in financial distress; the negative experience of the PFI arrangements surrounding the Cruciform building was noted in this regard. It was suggested, however, that it would be wrong not to refer to this opportunity as it was not until five years hence that the forecasts reached a position of positive cashflow without incorporating some form of refinancing. It was suggested that Council would benefit from having a more informed view of the value of the estate in order to judge the relative scale of any such proposed arrangement.

RESOLVED – on the recommendation of Finance Committee

80.7 That the Financial Forecasts at APPENDIX C 3/80 (10-11) be approved.

81 COUNCIL EFFECTIVENESS REVIEW
[Council Minute 45.3, 2010-11]

Noted

81.1 Following the interim presentation made to the Council Awayday on 25 January 2011, the final report of Ranmore Consulting, following their effectiveness review of Council and UCL’s governance arrangements more generally, was received in the first week of March 2011 and issued for advance information to all Council members.

81.2 Council had set up a sub-group of its members to consider the findings of the Ranmore report and make recommendations to Council on how the recommendations in the report might be taken forward. The Council Review Group was chaired by the Vice-Chair of Council. The Group’s other members were Mr Michael Chessum, Ms Philippa Foster-Back, Ms Katharine Roseveare, Professor Chris Thompson, Baroness Warwick and Professor Maria Wyke. The sub-group had held preliminary meetings with Mr Allan Schofield on behalf of Ranmore and with the Council secretariat, to discuss the findings of the report, on 7 March 2011.

Received

81.4 Oral reports by Dr Tom Kennie, Ranmore Consulting and Ms Vivienne Parry, as Chair of the Council Review Group.

Reported

81.5 Mr Kennie highlighted the following points from the report:

- The report recognised that UCL was a highly successful institution operating within a context of rapid change on a national and international scale.
- The recommendations sought to remove some areas of ambiguity arising from the complexity and scale of the institution.
- The report sought to balance its recommendations in terms of stakeholder interests.
- Guidance was given in the report on what the authors identified as a number of ‘quick wins’ as well as areas in which it was felt that further debate was required.

81.6 Ms Parry reported that the Council Review Group was minded to accept the report and had identified three main areas in which work would need to be done in developing proposals for Council for the implementation of Ranmore’s recommendations. Baroness Warwick and Professor Wyke would be leading on the area of academic governance; Ms Foster-Back and Ms Roseveare on committees; Ms Parry and Professor Thompson on strategy and risk. Other Council colleagues might be co-opted for discussions in certain areas. The Review Group planned to submit its report to the Council meeting on 6 July 2011.

Discussion

81.7 Dr Barber drew attention to the reference in paragraph 4.8 of the report to the possibility of rebalancing the proportions of internal and lay members on Council in favour of the latter and noted his opposition to any such change, although he acknowledged that this was not included in Ranmore’s final recommendations to Council. The view was expressed by Mr Chessum that there should be increased student representation on Council. Council noted that any proposals regarding its future constitution were circumscribed by the CUC requirement that the governing body have a lay majority.

81.8 The Chair invited members of Council to feed any relevant views into the working group for consideration during their discussions. It was proposed that, although the outcome of the working group’s deliberations were awaited, it would be prudent to allow for an increase in the number of annual meetings of Council when dates for meetings in 2011-12 were canvassed. It was therefore agreed that, for planning purposes, proposed dates for six meetings in the coming session (plus the awayday) would be circulated in the near future.

81.9 The Chair noted that the outcomes of the review were likely to result in additional burdens on the Council secretariat. Tim Perry, who had been appointed to head the Registry as well as Academic Services from May 2011, would remain Secretary to Council, with his colleague Nick McGhee taking on an enlarged supporting role. In view of the expected future workload, it would be important to keep under review the resourcing of the secretariat.

81.10 On behalf of Council the Chair thanked Dr Kennie and (in absentia) Mr Schofield for their work in producing a comprehensive and insightful report.

RESOLVED

81.11 That Council receive the report of Ranmore Consulting on the effectiveness of Council at APPENDIX C 3/81 (10-11).

82 RISK MANAGEMENT

Received

82.1 APPENDIX C 3/82 (10-11) – a note by the Vice-Provost (Operations), submitted to the meeting of the Provost’s SMT on 16 March 2011 and introducing, at Annexe 1, a revised Risk Register and Improvement Plans.

82.2 An oral report by the Vice-Provost (Operations).

Reported

82.3 The Register was designed to focus on key risks to the achievement of UCL’s strategic objectives and to increase the involvement of the Senior Management Team in the risk management process. A Risk Management Working Group had been established with the intention of looking at the process of identifying risks and monitoring movement against the improvement plans for the highest risks. A further report would be submitted to the July 2011 meeting of Council for approval. In the longer term, an annual report on risk management would continue to be submitted to Council, via Audit Committee.

Discussion

82.4 It was agreed that a traffic light system could usefully be incorporated into the report.
83 PROVOST'S BUSINESS

83A Role of the Vice-Provosts

Reported

83A.1 In consideration of UCL’s expanding overseas presence, and an ever-increasing need for investment in the educational aspect of UCL’s activity, the Provost had concluded that the portfolio of the Vice-Provost (Academic and International) should be divided between two posts. Professor Michael Worton would continue as Vice-Provost (International), with the role of Vice-Provost (Education) being advertised in the near future.

83B School of Pharmacy

Reported

83B.1 Discussions with the School of Pharmacy regarding potential merger were ongoing. The Provost was still hopeful that agreement could be reached within the calendar year, or even before the start of the academic year 2011-12. The SoP Council would discuss the issue at an away day in March followed by a special meeting on 12 May 2011. The Provost was grateful to the many senior academic colleagues at UCL who had taken the time to discuss the matter with members of the SoP community.

83C Green Paper

Reported

83C.1 Work was progressing on the Provost’s Green Paper, which would be brought to a special meeting of Council for discussion on Thursday 19 May at 4.30pm.

84 ANY OTHER BUSINESS

84a Proposed outsourcing of UCL services

Noted

84a.1 A joint letter of 24 March 2011 to Council members from the UCU, Unison and Unite, regarding a proposal to outsource security, portering and cleaning services at UCL with effect from August 2011, had been forwarded to Council members earlier in the day, at the trade unions’ request.

Reported

84a.2 UCL officers reported that under present arrangements approximately 50% of cleaning-related services and 65% of security services were outsourced. This model was seen to be inherently inefficient and as tending to involve differential service standards. It was proposed that, with the exception of arrangements relating to the Security Control Room and the disposal of hazardous waste, both operational and supervisory in-house staff be transferred to the existing service providers in the areas concerned. A 30-day consultation was now underway, as part of a wider consultation process on the future organisation of the Estates and Facilities Division, as required by UCL’s organisational change procedures. If the proposed changes went ahead, a TUPE consultation would then take place as required by transfer of undertakings legislation. Council was reminded that UCL was committed to implementing the London Living Wage with respect to all outsourced staff.

84a.3 It was agreed that the Director of Human Resources would be asked to respond to the trade unions on behalf of Council, acknowledging receipt of the letter and that Council had noted the situation.

84b Student Occupation

Received

84b.1 Mr Chessum tabled a petition (filed with these Minutes as APPENDIX C 3/86 (10-11)), urging UCL to issue a guarantee that no student would face disciplinary action or expenses in response to the current occupation of the South Wing.

84b.2 Oral reports, invited by the Chair, by the Vice-Provost (Operations) and Mr Chessum.

Reported

84b.3 The Registry corridor on the ground floor of UCL’s South Wing had been occupied by a small group of students on the afternoon of 21 March in support of the UCU strike action taking place on 22 and 24 March, as well as in protest against proposed future student fee levels. The occupation, which was not UCLU policy but which did have the support of the UCU, was non-violent. The Head of Security had written to those concerned asking them to vacate the area. The students had subsequently contacted the Vice-Provost (Operations), on the evening of 22 March; there was some difference of opinion as to whether or not that communication amounted to an offer to terminate the occupation on receipt of a guarantee from UCL management that no action would be taken against the occupying students. The Vice-Provost (Operations) had met with the students on the morning of 23 March and had made clear that UCL, without being able to assess the extent of any damage resulting from the occupation, was not in a position to give any undertaking that the occupation would be free of consequences for the students concerned. The occupation was preventing the Registry from maintaining a range of services to students and was therefore viewed by UCL as considerably more disruptive than the two student occupations that had already taken place during the current academic year. UCL had since made an application to the High Court, an approach seen by Mr Chessum as an unwarranted escalation of the situation which jeopardised the welfare of the students named by UCL in making this application.

Discussion

84b.4 The Chair concluded that the matter was not an issue for Council and that if Mr Chessum or others felt that actions had been taken by UCL officers which were inappropriate there were established complaints procedures in place which could be invoked.

84b.5 Two academic members of Council encouraged UCL management to deal leniently with the students concerned.
