Personal details

11. Why are you interested in this specific degree program / supervisor / research project, and how will your knowledge and skills help you in doctoral research in this area? *

Please explain what has attracted you to apply to this degree program / supervisor / project (as appropriate) out of the many opportunities available worldwide; and how your previous experiences, from academic study and work or volunteering, have provided you with the background and skills that will allow you to success in a doctoral project in the Mathematical Sciences. (Maximum 200 words)

12. Describe an example of when you used your skills to address a research question *

Please describe a research or academic project you have done to date. This may have been part of a current or previous degree course, an internship, volunteering, or employment. Explain what interested or motivated you as well as what you achieved. DO NOT mention names of people or institutions / organisations as applications need to be reviewed anonymously. (Maximum 200 words)

13. Additional Information (OPTIONAL)

Please provide information about any personal circumstances you would like to be taken into consideration when your application is reviewed. Examples include (but are not limited to) career breaks, caring responsibilities, disability, health issues. IMPORTANT: This section will be seen by reviewers (which may include people you will work with in future if your application is successful) so be brief and do not include sensitive personal details that you don't want them to see. (Maximum 200 words)
