The primary criteria for the panel's decision will be:

- evidence of outstanding academic potential
- evidence of likely difference-making for the programme
- potential for contributing to the intellectual and cultural life of the department

1. Provide information to help the panel identify these qualities in your case.

You might consider the following questions: (1) why you want to study this degree at graduate level, (2) why you want to study this subject at UCL, (3) how your academic or professional background meets the demands of a challenging academic environment, and (4) what plans/hopes do you have for your professional future?
