

Raleigh Expeditions are back!

You can submit your application here.

Joining a Raleigh Expedition is a truly unique and varied experience allowing you to take part in up to three different projects – equip yourself with new skills, create lasting change with the communities you will work with and take urgent action on environmental issues.

Expedition provides an experiential and immersive learning environment where volunteers develop skills in teamwork, leadership, intercultural learning, and active citizenship; skills that can boost job prospects and inspire future volunteering in young people.

COSTA RICA – WHAT'S INVOLVED?

Environmental: Help conserve Costa Rica's biodiversity and improve access to national parks by working alongside rangers in national parks on the environmental project.

Community: Join forces with local indigenous communities to improve access to education for some of Costa Rica's most marginalised/disadvantaged young people by improving educational infrastructure.

Adventure Leadership Trek: Build your skills on the adventure leadership trek. Challenge yourself and help lead your team through rainforest and up volcanoes on a variety of stunning routes that tourists don't get access to.
