

UCL is changing...

Higher education is changing...

Students' expectations are higher than ever

We want to demonstrate excellence in teaching

Our plan is for all future UCL degrees to integrate research and teaching – we are calling it 'research-based education'

UCL Education Strategy 2016-21

By 2021 we want:

- All students to be learning through research and connecting with each other, people, places and subjects beyond their courses and UCL
- To have expanded our extra-curricular offer so that all students can have an internship and feel better prepared for the workplace
- Students and staff to be working together as partners to improve UCL
- A significantly enhanced campus including a new building containing all student services
- To have addressed and resolved problems with assessment and feedback
- To be providing much more support to all students, particularly for academic writing and integrating into student life
