

UCL Summer School Online 2021

Philosophy

Monday 26, July – Friday, 30 July 2021

This Summer School will introduce you to a range of timeless philosophical problems, which are also major areas of research in contemporary academic Philosophy. We will cover various topics based on active research at UCL. Some of which could include Ethics, Political Philosophy, Language, Mind and more.

By the end of the week, you should be familiar with the intellectual style and character of academic Philosophy, and you'll gain a good basis for studying Philosophy at university undergraduate level.

Required A level/ Advanced Higher subjects: no specific subjects.

For further information and other qualifications, please visit our website:

<https://www.ucl.ac.uk/philosophy/prospective-students/undergraduate/philosophy-ba>